Mr. Rockefeller Passes 92.
Paying for the War.
The Brutality of Men.
After 26 Years.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, 92 years old yesterday, assures friends that his health is good, and he is proud of it, as he well may be.

John D. Rockefeller, on his ninety-second birthday, probably remembered with satisfaction the amount of good that is done in education, science, and wise philanthropy by the hundreds of millions that he has given away.

AND HE HAS in mind, doubtless, the good that his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will do with the gigantic fortune that his father turned over to him long ago, to lighten the burden of old age.

Since human beings do not know how to manage or use their own wealth, it is fortunate that individuals know how to collect it, and use it wisely. There is great usefulness at Niagara Falls, where nature has gathered much water, and little power or usefulness in a million tiny streams. So with a great fortune, well used, as compared with small considerable accumulations.

THIS COLUMN has occasionally remarked during the recent "sky-the-limit" boom:

"Sooner or later the world will begin to pay for the big war, and will not enjoy the process."

The world, including this part of North America, is paying now, and NOT enjoying it.

The moratorium simply recognizes the fact that you can't get blood out of a stone, even a German stone, and that it would not pay to drive into bankruptcy one of the world's great industrial and financial national units.

THOSE THAT expected an instantaneous boom to be born of the moratorium were childish. But one wise step has been taken. It will lead to a new analysis of the Versailles treaty, the power of different nations to pay and the advisability of making them pay, if they are able.

When it is raining, snowing or hailing you know that it will stop eventually, although you don't know when. Similarly, you can find comfort in the fact that this depression will stop, and prosperity come back. "But there are no miracles."

WALL STREET had an unsatisfactory day, steel was lower, cotton very weak, wheat lower.

The price of steel, however, should not frighten investors. That price depends on steel buying. Steel buying depends on new buildings. Men will not invest in new buildings until old buildings are well rented, or until Wall street bargains that pay 10 per cent on the investment shall have been absorbed.

THE BRUTALITY of human beings, revealed in our crime wave, is appalling, inconceivable.

In Long Island, a youth of 19, another of 26, are tottering around, their feet burned with red-hot irons, by "bootleg-torturers." Their heads were also burned, and the eye of one gouged almost out. Police say the two young men were tortured for refusing to say what had become of two truckloads of liquor. A young Filipino applied the torture, under orders.

PERHAPS YOU find comfort, asking:

"What can you expect of bootleggers, hi-jackers, scum of the earth?"

Not much, but what about the Wickersham Commission, attacking "the flogging of boys in United States jails"?

When government sets the example of killing, with electric chair and noose, and the example of torture, with "floggings and shackling in leg-irons," what can you expect from the criminal?

ON JULY 8, 26 years ago yesterday, two little automobiles, named "Old Scout" and "Old Sturdy," with comic curved dashboard, started on a race from New York, on the Atlantic, to Portland, Ore., on the Pacific. The idea of the Oldsmobile Company was to show what automobiles could do and to emphasize the need of better roads.

"Old Scout" won the race in FORTY-FOUR DAYS, driven by Dwight B. Huss.

As you read this, the same old car, with the same driver, is repeating the trip of 26 years ago. It started from New York City Hall yesterday morning. Instead of traveling on railroad ties through deep mud, heavy sand, over big stones, the "Old Scout" on this trip will roll along a continuous ribbon of smooth highway.

MARVELOUS ARE the changes in our highways, many the billions spent on them within a quarter of a century. And the country owes that to manufacturers of automobiles.

In addition to sending "Old Scout" to repeat its trip of 26 years ago, the Oldsmobile Company should send one of its highly developed, up-to-date cars of today, starting a day or two later to see how much it can beat the former 44-day record.

ABOVE SEATTLE yesterday, two Texas airmen, Robbins and Jones, started a "non-stop" flight of more than 5,000 miles to Tokio. They may take fuel from other planes in flight, but must not land. If they succeed, a Japanese paper will pay them $25,000. A mother ship

REFORMER, DAUGHTERS PERILED

McKees Rocks Leader in Demand for Boro Audit Target of Night Blast

The home of Thomas J. Conley, 70-year-old McKees Rocks reform leader, at 311 Catherine street, McKees Rocks, was bombed early today. The bombing was attributed to Conley's activities in the formation of the Citizens' Committee organized to protest against alleged political corruption and an increase in taxes in that borough.

The committee has completed plans for an audit of the borough books, and will hold a meeting on next Tuesday night to complete plans for the public investigation.

Placed inside a screen door in the front of the house, the bomb exploded at 3 a. m., inflicting $2,000 damage to the Conley home and shattering windows in a dozen houses in the neighborhood.

DAUGHTERS PERILED

Conley and his four daughters, Frances, Ann, Lauretta and May, asleep on the second floor, were not injured. Miss Ann Conley, however, was to be taken to a hospital for treatment for a nervous condition.

Conley, a retired wholesale liquor dealer, would make no comment, but J. J. Driscoll and C. E. Flannigan, executive officers of the Citizens' Committee, declared political reprisals were the motive for the bombing. They said:

"There is no other motive for the bombing except political reprisals. Two men who live nearby awakened by the explosion said they saw two automobiles leave the scene immediately after the blast. The ma-

CALL I'M ALONE AMERICAN SHIP

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—The United States in a formal reply to Canada's contentions in the celebrated I'm Alone case, sought today to prove that the rum runner was American owned.

The case is under arbitration between the two governments.

The rum runner I'm Alone was sunk by a Coast Guard vessel in the Gulf of Mexico in March, 1929, after a 200-mile chase.

Canada several months ago submitted its contentions to prove the sinking of the vessel unjustified. The American reply was designed to answer Canada's claims.

Mexico Protests Jailing of Consul

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Ambassador Tellez, of Mexico, on instructions of his government, filed a formal protest at the State Department today against the imprisonment in Chicago of Adolfo Dominguez, acting consul.

Dominguez was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for contempt of court, but was released under habeas corpus proceedings after two hours in jail.

Crooner Swamped by Congratulatory Messages

By FRANK JACOBS
International News Service Special Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 9.—President Hoover's moratorium project seemed forfotten. Likewise, the humidity and the Prince of Wales' new suit.

The national mind, and particularly the feminine portion of it, had turned to a topic closer to its heart, to wit: the secret marriage of Rudy Vallee, the crooning idol, and Miss Fay Webb, movie actress.

News of the event, which took place Monday night in West Orange, N. J., only leaked out last night. But 10,000 telegrams have already poured into the honeymoon apartment on Central Park West, from all over the country. And telegraph companies have put on more operators in anticipation of other tens of thousands to come.

TELEPHONE SWAMPED

The telephone company complains that its service has been handicapped by the event.

Not since Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Lone Eagle, married Senator Dwight W. Morrow's daughter, Anne, has a wedding aroused such interest in the United States.

While his bride, brunette daughter of the chief of police of Santa Monica, Cal., remained in seclusion, Rudy talked briefly to newspaper men. He wore white, from head to foot, and explained it thus:

"You know, white is the marriage color."

His statement read:

"I am terribly, terribly happy. Thousands of telegrams and

Mrs. Wilson Visits New 'Peace Palace'

GENEVA, July 9.—(AP.)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who is visiting Geneva on her return from Poznan, Poland, today inspected the site of the new League of Nations headquarters building where the "Palace of Peace" is under construction. The entrance to this new home of the League will be a huge gateway memorial to Woodrow Wilson.

The President's widow will leave tonight for Paris.

Doctor Kept Alive 12 Days by Inhalator

BLAIRSVILLE, Pa., July 9.—Suffering from the stoppage of an artery, Dr. Paul H. C. Pristian, assistant physician at the State Hospital at Torrance, may recover, as a result of the use of an inhalator for the last 12 days. Members of the Blairsville Volunteer Fire Company have worked in shifts in operating the inhalator.

Ex-Congressman Shoots Himself

HOUSTON, Tex., July 9.—(AP.)—R. L. Henry, former congressman, was found shot in her home this morning and died within a few hours. A pistol with one bullet discharged lay on the floor beside Henry, an attorney.

Dr. M. L. Graves, the family physician, said the shooting was accidental.

Injured Tour Flier Still Unconscious

WHEELING, W. Va., July 9.—(AP.)—Charles F. Sugg, of Detroit, remained unconscious today in a hospital here, with skull fractures suffered yesterday when the plane he was piloting in the national air tour crashed against a hill in a take-off at Yorkville, O. His condition was regarded as critical. He has been unconscious since the accident.

Golf Players Must Accept Injury Risk, Court Rules

If a golf player is injured on a public links it is a risk he must accept.

Thus ruled the Superior Court in an opinion received here today upholding Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, of Common Pleas Court, who set aside an award of $1,000 damages for injuries to Leon H. Benjamin. Benjamin, alleging he had been struck by a ball driven by Maurice A. Nernberg, hand-writing expert, on the Schenley Park links, took an appeal.

Court attaches said the opinion was the first of its kind rendered in the United States and sets a precedent.

In its opinion the Superior Court said:

"It must be admitted that the plaintiff assumed all the ordinary dangers incident to the game. It is well known that not every shot played by a golfer goes to the point where he intends it to go. If such were the case every player would be perfect and the whole pleasure of the sport would be lost. He (Benjamin) must have known that many bad shots carry the ball to the right or left of the intended line of play. This risk all golfers must accept."

DUCE PUTS CONCORDAT IN PERIL

Premier's Barring Fascisti From Joining Catholic Societies May End Pact

ROME, July 9.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini himself today placed a ban on Fascist membership in the Catholic Action organization, thereby raising the question of virtual abrogation of the concordat with the Vatican.

As the "Duce," or chief of the Fascist party, he prohibited any of his followers from belonging to the several societies comprised in Catholic Action, branches of which were dissolved by the government May 30.

PROBLEM FOR VATICAN

The Vatican is now faced with the problem of whether the Fascist party action is equivalent to a government action and, if so, whether the ban on membership constitutes revocation of authority for such bodies to exist, which is an essential part of the concordat.

Further, the Pope has always maintained that the concordat and Lateran treaty must stand or fall together, and if the concordat lapses then the Lateran treaty must lapse.

The government attack on Catholic Action organizations of May 30, when 15,000 clubs were closed, was limited to the youth and university clubs. This was done indirectly by dissolving all youth organizations which were not affiliated with the Fascist party.

ACTION BY PREMIER

Today's action, although technically by the Fascist party, is a direct action by Premier Mussolini, who is head of both the government and the party, and whose attitude toward the church organizations is thus made clear.

The organizations placed under the party ban number about 10,000, and have an adult membership.

Il Messaggero, regarded as Rome's most conservative newspaper, asserted today that the only solution to the difficulties between the Vatican and the Italian government is abrogation of the Lateran concordat.

Actress, Invalid Year, Injured Again

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—(AP.)—Recently released from a year's stay in a plaster cast as the result of an airplane crash, Eleanor Merry, 25, film actress, was seriously injured here yesterday when the automobile she was driving collided with another.

Miss Merry's legs were broken when an airplane piloted by Loren Mendell, endurance flier, crashed near Van Nuys, Cal.

City Still Cleaning Up Debris of Storm

Large forces of workmen of the City Bureau of Highways and Sewers are still engaged in cleaning up the mud washed on the streets by recent storms. It is expected that this work will be completed Monday when a steam shovel will be placed in Chauncey street, between Center avenue and Mohon street, to remove an accumulation of mud estimated at two to five feet deep.

MOSCOW, July 9.—(AP.)—Visas have been granted by the Soviet government to George Bernard Shaw, Nancy Lady Astor, and a party of distinguished Britons who have announced their intention to visit Russia this summer.

COURT STUDIES FALL JAIL PLEA

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court took under advisement today the government's request that Albert B. Fall be immediately ordered to jail.

Justice Bailey also had before him a motion by Frank Hogan, Fall's attorney, that the prison sentence be suspended because of Fall's physical condition.

Atlee Pomerene, special prosecutor in the case, read a memorandum from Assistant Attorney General Youngquist which expressed the opinion that Fall could be committed to some other jail than the one in the District of Columbia. Pomerene suggested that in El Paso, Tex.

Hogan replied that it seemed mandatory that Fall be brought here to serve unless the sentence were suspended.

Unfavorable Weather Balks, Repeated Efforts to Load Plane With Sufficient Gas

BULLETIN.

SOLOMON, Alaska, July 9.—(AP.)—The projected Seattle-Tokio flight of Reg L. Robins and Harold S. Jones, Texas aviators, ended here at 3:50 a. m. (10:50 a. m. Pittsburgh time) when unfavorable weather forced the monoplane Fort Worth down, unable to make a final refueling contact for the long dash.

International News Service.

NOME, Alaska, July 9.—After refueling four times over Alaska, the plane Fort Worth was off for Siberia today on the next-to-the-last lap of its attempted nonstop flight from Seattle to Tokio.

The plane will be refueled once more over Siberia and will then wing straight for its final goal and the prize of $25,000 it hopes to win.

The first refueling was done over Friabanks at 4:43 o'clock (1:43 a. m. Pittsburgh time) last night, Harold S. Jones catching the hose that dropped from the tri-motored Ford refueling ship, while Reg S. Robbins remained at the controls. The second refueling took place between Fairbanks and Golovin.

REFILL TANKS

Jimmie Mattern, piloting the refueling ship, then proceeded to Solomon, landing there at 5:15 a. m. Pacific time (9:15 a. m. Pittsburgh time).

He took off half an hour later, after refilling his tanks, and refueled the Fort Worth over Solomon. The planes proceeded to Nome, where the refueling ship landed at 5 a. m.

After taking on gasoline again, the refueling ship took the air and refueled the Fort Worth again over Nome. The trim white monomonoplane then headed west over open water.

The refueling ship planned to land again at Solomon to take on more fuel before following the flight ship across Bering Straits to Siberia for the final refueling operation.

WEATHER IMPROVES

As the Fort Worth headed westward, there was slight improvement in the weather conditions which had been extremely bad. Clouds lying literally on top of the water cut off all visibility

Escaped Prisoner Free Five Minutes

With two days of a 10-day sentence for vagrancy still to be served, Clifton Scott, 26, of North Carolina, made a dash for liberty from the County Jail Farm at Parkview this morning. He was at liberty five minutes.

He pleaded guilty to attempting to escape and was sentenced to serve an additional 10 days this afternoon.

Hurley Sails Aug. 8 For Philippine Study

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Secretary Hurley announced today he would sail from Seattle, Wash., August 8, for the Philippine Islands.

He will arrive in Manila August 31 and will spend 17 days in the islands discussing all phases of politics and economics with Philippine leaders.

Operation Parting Twins Marvel to Surgeons

BALTIMORE, July 9.—(INS.)—Born as one, twin sisters, two days old, exercised their lungs as individuals in Mercy Hospital's baby ward today following one of the most remarkable operations ever performed in surgical history.

The babies weigh four and one-half pounds and their bassinets were surrounded today by prominent surgeons and hospital officials who wanted to see first hand a major achievement of surgery.

Dr. Kyle W. Golley, who performed the operation, said today it was too early to say whether the operation was successful, but the nurses caring for the infants reported "they were just as bright as ever."

Another operation will have to be made upon the two babies before they will be able to live normal, individual lives.

The hospital staff was thrown into confusion when the maternity operating room frantically notified the surgeon's quarters downstairs that "twins were born connected at the abdomen."

Unlike "Siamese twins," who share one or more major organs which makes their separation impossible, the Baltimore twins each have individual vital organs, Dr. Golley said.

GERMANY SEEKS $200,000,000 LOAN IN FINANCIAL CRISIS

LUTHER FLIES TO LONDON FOR AID

Reichsbank's President Later Goes to Paris With English Bank Governor

International News Service.

LONDON, July 9.—Following a conference with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, at the German embassy today, Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, left for Paris today. Dr. Luther is believed to be attempting to float a huge loan.

The German banker departed only a few hours after his arrival by airplane at Croydon. Norman will accompany Dr. Luther as far as Paris.

BERLIN, July 9.—Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, was in London today on what was understood to be a last desperate attempt to raise a big international loan to tide Germany over her present financial crisis.

News that the Reichsbank president had gone to London surprised Berlin financial circles. He had been expected to leave today, but he very quietly left the capital last night, going via Amsterdam and was well on toward London before any one here knew that he had departed.

$200,000,000 NEEDED

After conferring with financial authorities in London, Dr. Luther probably will proceed to Brussels, Basle, and probably Paris.

Authoritative financial circles here declare that a loan of at least $200,000,000 is urgently required to save German finances from complete ruin and that a long-term loan of $450,000,000 may be sought in New York, London and Paris.

According to well-informed sources, the dramatic offer of 1,000 German bankers and industrialists to guarantee a sum equal to $119,000,000 was made to save one of the country's largest banks from failure.

Four other big banks were reported in trouble due to the failure yesterday of the Bremen Nordwolle (North German wool and textile company), the biggest concern of its kind in Europe. The liabilities of the corporation were placed at about $50,000,000.

Foreign pressure on the Reichsbank was lifted yesterday, only $5,000,000 being withdrawn, but it was said that the institution's reserves urgently needed replenishing.

U. S. "ISOLATION" LOST

PARIS, July 9.—(AP.)—America has reached the end of her policy of political isolation, Henry Berenger, former ambassador to Washington, said today, and henceforth the United States must concern herself with the affairs of the rest of the world.

The most significant feature of the Hoover moratorium, he said, is the illustration it provides of the fact that diplomacy henceforth will be dominated by "intercontinentalism." Commenting on last night's radio speech in Washington by Acting Secretary of State Castle, M. Berenger, said:

"The whole world is in peril the moment one nation is endangered. However repugnant it may be to them, America and Europe no longer can evade the law which commands speed in all its forms.

"For a decade the United States has tried to imprison herself in the citadel of her own continent. In vain has she tried to obey President Washington's warning against foreign entanglements. Each year America is mixing more in the affairs of Europe."

Hoover Picks Gibson For London Parley

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—President Hoover today designated Hugh S. Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, as American representative on the experts committee which will work out details of the inter-governmental debt moratorium. The committee will meet in London July 17.

Holdup Suspect Killed by Police

CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP.)—One man was killed and another was wounded and captured in a gun fight with police yesterday after they and two companions are alleged to have held up a South Side cigar store.

The police pursuit led for 30 blocks until the bandits abandoned the car they had stolen. Orie Leman, 25, was slain. James Clark, 22, wounded in the leg, was arrested later. The other two escaped.

MELLON BARS VISITORS

CAP FERRAT, France, July 9.—(AP.)—On this first day of his European vacation, Secretary Andrew W. Mellon put cares of state out of his mind and went with his family to a small private beach near their villa.

His son and daughter arranged with the local police to discourage visits by outsiders and even by friends for the first few days of his stay, and the route to their home is barred to all unannounced visitors.

The prefect of police offered Mr. Mellon a special telephone and telegraph line to Paris, but he declined, explaining that he intends to do no work while he is here.

The Secretary will sail for home in two weeks, probably from Genoa or Monte Carlo.

Sculptor Suffers Second Collapse

MUNCIE, Ind., July 9.—(AP.)—Lorado Taft, noted Chicago sculptor, who became ill while giving a lecture in Ball State Teachers' College here Tuesday night, collapsed a second time yesterday while in the home of a friend. He was taken to a hospital, where physicians said even though his recovery should be rapid, he must remain here several days.

Mr. Taft is 71 years old. His breakdown is attributed to long hours in the studio and on the lecture program and to the heat.

Portuguese Plans Lisbon-N. Y. Flight

LISBON, July 9.—(AP.)—Fernando Costa Veiga, Portuguese sportsman and amateur aviator, announced last night he would attempt a nonstop flight from Lisbon to New York in August. Karl Bader, professor of the Junkers flying school at Leipsic, probably will accompany him.

World Flight Only Circling of Pole, Voliva Says

ZION, Ill., July 9.—(AP.)—Wilbur Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church and proponent of the theory that the world is flat, has his own ideas about around the world fliers. He said:

"Around the world fliers? They just go in a circle around the North Pole. The trip around the equator will be comparatively easy to make, but the trip around the earth in a straight north-and-south direction will not be accomplished for the reason that it cannot."

Long Pants Ordered For Chicago Police

CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP.)—Acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock has decided that the Chicago police department has grown up. He ordered the officers to put on long pants, starting July 23. Trousers with cut-off legs to go with puttees were outlawed, except for motorcycle and traffic men.

The order left each policeman with about 10 pairs of trousers, but with not a great deal to put in their pockets as it came at a time when the City Council was talking of trimming their income.

POST AND GATTY WINGING WEST

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 9.—(INS.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, 'round-the-world aviators, and their wives paid their respects to Indianapolis today.

The famous fliers circled their plane, the Winnie Mae, several times about the municipal airport here at a height of 100 feet, while their wives, who had landed a short time before, watched them from the ground.

Post and Gatty arrived here at 9:20 a. m. and disappeared in the direction of Oklahoma a few minutes afterwards.

The wives of the airmen landed in the Lockheed plane at 9:10 a. m. and took off for Chickasha, Okla., at 9:30 a. m.

The women did not appear to be nervous following their accident in landing at Columbus, O., in which no one was hurt. Mrs. Post said:

"The accident was over before we had time to be afraid."

3,437 Planes Made In U. S. During 1930

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—The Commerce Department yesterday said 3,437 airplanes, 4,359 aircraft engines and parts and equipment to a total value of $61,211,197 were manufactured in the United States in 1930.

U. S. USES DEBT TRUCE PLAN AS DISARM CLUB

Stimson Telling Europe to Reduce Arms or Forego American Financial Aid

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Swift moving developments on the international stage linked closer than ever today the related questions of European disarmament and the Hoover war debt moratorium.

The League of Nations has formally invited the United States to participate in the Geneva conference next February, and the invitation has promptly been accepted.

Almost simultaneously, Secretary of State Stimson is inaugurating a series of conferences with European statement designed to smooth the road toward real reduction of competitive armament, both land and sea.

WILL VISIT CAPITALS

Today, Stimson is conferring with the Italians. Later on he will go to Paris, Berlin and London on the same mission. His particular job in Rome and Paris is to try to bridge the naval gap between the French and Italians, which developed during the last London conference and resulted in the failure to arrive at a five-power naval agreement.

Inevitably, the war debt moratorium for one year figures in the discussions. While he probably will not put it so bluntly, Stimson will in effect inform Europe that unless there is an appreciable disposition to cut down armament the United States cannot see its way clear to go ahead financing Europe indefinitely.

"Europe, disarm!" is the burden of his message and his mission, although it must be carried out with all the traditional diplomatic finesse and fencing that is inherent in such undertakings.

STIMSON, GRANDI MEET

ROME, July 9.—(INS.)—Col. Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, conferred for an hour today with Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, at the foreign ministry.

It was taken for granted the conversation had to do with the European armament situation and Italy's reported plan to propose an all-around year's holiday in armament building.

This proposal would be contingent on the postponement of the forthcoming Geneva world disarmament conference for one year from its presently scheduled date, February, 1932.

It is known that Italy would welcome a "breathing spell" in armament construction, especially naval building, coincident with President Hoover's economic "breathing spell."

KIDNAPED? 'OH, NO, SIR!'

Miss Marcella, Punxsutawney, Pa., pictured in New York police court as her Uncle Stephen, 30, was held in $1,500 bail for attempted kidnaping. She says she was hunting for a place astage or in radio, that she met him in Pittsburgh and accompanied him to New York City.

TWO POLICEMEN HELD IN ATTACK

the attack is said to have occurred last night, her father and several neighbors testified to seeing Dignan and Pacella beat Albert Funfar, 30, of 1153 Basin street, so severely that 23 stitches were taken in his head at the Allegheny General Hospital. His condition today was reported as "serious."

John C. Wall, grocer, father of Gertrude Wall, said:

"This is the most outrageous thing I ever saw. Both policemen should be immediately dismissed."

His daughter said:

"None of us was disorderly in any way. The officers had no provocation whatever for the attack."

FORCED FROM AUTO

Miss Wall said that she, Funfar and Richard Kabeth, of 1148 Goettman street, were sitting before her home in Funfar's auto, when Dignan came up to the car, dragged Funfar out and started beating him.

Kabeth said he tried to stop Dignan, but was slugged and driven off by Pacella.

Lieut. James J. Joyce suspended both officers immediately, saying both of them were intoxicated.

Dignan, in court this morning, denied he had been drinking and told Magistrate Ray E. Schneider that he had been "looking for" Funfar for some time because the man had "called him names."

Pacella, however, testified that Dignan had taken him to a North Side club earlier in the evening, where both had "several drinks."

Schneider ordered the case continued until Funfar can leave the hospital.

chines were open and one of the occupants was recognized."

KEEP UP FIGHT

Declaring the bombing will not stop the activities of the Citizens' Committee, Driscoll and Flannigan said:

"This bombing will not stop us. The executive committee will hold a meeting tonight and then we will have a further statement.

"Conley has received several threatening letters demanding he withdraw from the committee. He was one of the organizers and we have indorsed him as a candidate to oppose James Westwood in the fall primaries for justice of the peace."

Westwood is a political leader of the "Bottoms."

TO ASK STATE AID

Calling upon McKees Rocks police to act, Alfred Williams, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, said if they failed, state aid would be asked. He continued:

"We expect our police to do their duty in running to cover the culprits responsible for this bombing. Our confidence in the police will be based upon their success in bringing those guilty of this outrage to justice. In the event of failure, we will ask for state aid."

The bombing is being investigated by County Detectives John W. Geisler, W. C. Alexander and M. J. Ford. Conley was questioned by them and is reported to have said:

"I have my suspicions but I will not talk."

A caisson built for the Vang Construction Company by the Dravo Contracting Company and launched yesterday at Neville Island, was to be towed to the Tenth Street Bridge in the Monongahela River today. It will be used in the building of a pier.

PACIFIC FLIERS START ACROSS BERING SEA

just before the Fort Worth continued on its way from Nome.

The flight from Fairbanks to Solomon required about five hours and a half, contrasted with the record-breaking flight of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty over that distance. The round-the-world fliers made the approximate 600 miles in 3 hours and 7 minutes.

However, this speed was about the same maintained by the Fort Worth on its first leg from Seattle to Fairbanks and it was believed here that the necessity of refueling twice en route from Fairbanks to Nome had occasioned delay.

CARRY NO RADIO

After leaving Seattle the fliers sped north across the British Columbia border, and were reported sighted frequently until 9:32 a. m. (1:32 p. m. Pittsburgh time), when they passed over Vanderhoof, B. C. From that time they flew over a sparsely settled territory and were not sighted again until 5:45 p. m. (9:45 p. m. Pittsburgh time), when they were sighted over the Yukon Valley in Alaska.

As they carry no radio, the only word of the progress of their flight came from observers on the ground who sighted the white plane as it sped on its way.

During the two days in the air the aviators will live on chicken sandwiches, four roast chickens and several loaves of bread having been taken aboard at Seattle.

A quantity of concentrated food also was carried, but this would be used only in case of emergency, it was expected.

AGNEW, NICKEL CHIEF, DIES

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—John L. Agnew, 47, president of the International Nickel Company, died last night at his home at Copper Cliff, Ont., an announcement at the company's offices here today said. Death was due to a heart attack brought on by influenza.

Friends stated that Mr. Agnew died in his sleep. He had been ailing for the past few days, but his condition was not regarded as serious.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1884, he received his early education in the public and high schools of that city before beginning as a worker in a steel plant in 1901. In 1904 he became associated with the International Nickel Company.

Since that time he had been actively associated with mining in Northern Ontario and assumed control of the Nickel company's operations in Canada when the industry was passing through one of the most critical stages in its development.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Wheat Germ Found Cure for Pellagra

WASHINGTON, —(AP.)—Wheat germ, the most nutritious part of the wheat kernel, is valuable in preventing pellagra.

Dr. Hazel E. Munsell, of the Department of Agriculture has found wheat germ is a rich source of Vitamin G, lack of which causes pellagra. It also contains Vitamins A, B, and E, and is rich in fat.

Wheat germ is seldom used as human food because it does not keep well and consequently is difficult to handle commercially.

17 Lord's Prayers Written on Dime

ALBANY, N. Y.—Seventeen Lord's Prayers written on space the size of a dime—it sounds impossible, but Joseph S. A. Bertasso lays claim to that distinction. This was accomplished, Bertasso said, only after long practice.

First he was able to write only five Lord's prayers, which the ordinary person even cannot do. Recently, Bertasso said, he wrote a 16,033 word history of the United States on a postcard.

Parachute Leaps Pay for Education

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky.—Parachute jumping on Sundays and holidays to thrill crowds has earned enough money for Hugh Thomasson, 16, to pay his way through school.

He says he has nearly saved enough for a course at the University of Southern California. He is said to be the youngest professional parachute jumper in the country.

Scots Crowd Crags, Watch Royal Garden Party

EDINBURGH, Scotland, July 9.—(AP.)—Thousands of persons, gathered on the slopes of Arthur's Seat, a nearby crag, watched the picturesque scene as King George and Queen Mary greeted their guests at a royal garden party on the historic lawns of Holyrood Palace this afternoon.

Some 600 guests at the party, representing almost every walk of life in Scotland, formed a lane through which their majesties and the Duke and Duchess of York passed. Every now and again the King and Queen would turn aside to greet someone whose face was familiar.

The King and Queen, who are having a joyful visit in Scotland, have found time for a number of informal excursions and the Queen has done a considerable amount of shopping in Edinburgh.

Old Holyrood Palace, which has many a sinister page of history associated with royalty, was the scene yesterday of a brilliant reception.

The king, in the uniform of a colonel in chief of the Scots Guards, sat on a throne of carved oak. Besides him was Queen Mary in a gown of peach colored chiffon embroidered with tiny diamonds and wearing the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter.

Tomorrow the king and queen will board a steamer to open the great new docks at Shieldhall, Glasgow. Queen Mary will carry to the dock side a jug once the property of George III, dated 1764, filled with wine. Pouring the contents into the water, she will name the dock.

PROF. EINSTEIN enters another realm of "relativity," writing to President Hoover protesting against the death sentences of eight young Negroes in Scottsboro, Ala., about to be executed for alleged attacks on white women.

PRESIDENT HOOVER has nothing to do with the matter, but Dr. Einstein probably does not know that. His sympathies are aroused, as were those of another great German, Heinrich Heine, a poet and also a Jew, who called our freedom "a wicked dream" because it was proposed to tar and feather a white clergyman, for allowing his daughter to marry a Negro.

OPERATORS OPEN PARLEY AS MINERS REACH CAPITAL

STRIKERS NEAR, POLICE GUARD WHITE HOUSE

Owners and Lamont Meet to Aid Business as Delegation Arrives From Pittsburgh

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—America's ailing coal industry was laid out for preliminary diagnosis today, when representative operators from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other districts met with Secretary Lamont in the first serious co-operative effort of operators, miners and the government to put this industry back on a satisfactory economic basis.

The conferees went into session behind closed doors.

MINERS ARRIVE

A group of members of the National Miners' Union, with their wives and children, arrived in the capital about the time the conference started. They said they intended to picket the conference.

Additional police protection was thrown around the White House when two truck loads of the miners parked behind the executive mansion.

Unable to find the other four trucks which had started with them from Pittsburgh, the trucks parked behind the White House drove out of town shortly before noon. Members of the group said they planned to return as soon as their companions were found.

Several of the strikers said they would attempt to be heard at the conference.

Among the operators present from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Virginia fields were F. H. Taplan and W. L. Robison, of Cleveland; Howard Showalter, Fairmont; W. Va.; P. N. Snyder, Mt. Hope, W. Va.; F. R. Lyon and W. W. Stevenson, New York; C. E. Bokus, New York; J. D. Morrow, Pittsburgh, and C. P. Richardson, Sturgis, Ky.

SEEKS OPERATORS' IDEAS

Lamont called the operators here to hear from them the unfavorable symptoms which are now exhibited by the bituminous coal industry, held to be in a more serious plight than the anthracite branch.

Lamont desired to learn from the operators what they thought could be done and if possible, to put the constructive recommendations into effect.

The gathering is the upshot of a request made of President Hoover by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the government attempt to assist the coal industry.

Mr. Hoover referred the matter to Lamont, and Secretary Doak, of the Labor Department, the former having assumed the responsibility of studying the case from the standpoint of the operators and the latter to obtain the viewpoint of the miners.

OVERPRODUCTION PROBLEM

The principal problem of the bituminous industry is that of overproduction, while from the labor standpoint there probably are too many miners. A majority of the miners, it is said, get considerably less than full time work, if employed at all, while profits are small or non-existent, except with the most efficiently operated bituminous mines.

Doak, it was expected, would summon a group of miner leaders here to obtain their views. It was thought possible that a later general conference would be called for all interested parties, if the preliminary gatherings offer a basis promising a solution of the various problems.

calls have left me dizzy. I can't talk much now, but I will say a real home and love is more important than a cold career, and I'm not crooning through a megaphone now."

The pair had been secretly engaged for six months, it developed. Though their parents were neighbors in Canada, they first met two years ago, when Rudy went to Hollywood to film "The Vagabond Lover."

MAY HAVE "ERRED"

The crooner told the truth then when he denied reports of an engagement between them which arose from their frequent appearances together after that. But he admits now he "might have erred slightly" in denying a renewal of these reports when Miss Webb visited New York later.

Rudy was too busy with his orchestra and radio work then to even buy an engagement ring for his secret fiancee. But he asked Fay what kind of a ring she would like. She said:

"I want a ring like Norma Shearer has."

And so Rudy had a friend go out and buy her a pear-shaped engagement ring, which is said to have set the crooner back $7,500. The wedding ring was of platinum, set with diamonds.

Following the wedding, performed by Police Recorder Herbert Lightnite in the West Orange Board of Health offices, the ceremonial party repaired to Tommy Guinan's Club Napoleon to celebrate. And who should be seated at the very next table but Agnes O'Loughlin and her new boy friend. Agnes had once claimed Rudy as her boy friend and had sued him for $200,000 when he denied it.

RUDY 'TURNS WHITE'

Rudy turned almost as white as his "marriage color," even though he had already told Fay about Agnes. However, friendly smiles were exchanged, and finally Agnes and her new boy friend moved into the party and drank a toast to the bride. Miss O'Loughlin said later:

"I really wish them all the happiness in the world. Rudy is one swell fellow. I knew he would wed a girl like Fay. He always said he liked the Lenore Ulrich type. You know—dark and fiery. Fay is just like that."

A packed house awaited Rudy to conduct his orchestra on the Pennsylvania Hotel roof last night. He showed up at 9:30 but begged off, explaining he was too excited to work. However, the crowd kept calling for him, and finally he returned and took up his baton at 11:30 to continue until closing time.

Mrs. Rudy, however, did not appear. She remained at the newlyweds' apartment, chiefly occupied in signing for telegrams and answering telephone calls.

PARENTS SEND BLESSING

WESTBROOK, Me., July 9.—(INS.)—Best wishes to Rudy Vallee, radio crooner, and his bride, Fay Webb, musical comedy actress, of Santa Monica, Cal., today had been telephoned to the couple in New York by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vallee, parents of Rudy. The latter called his parents on the long distance telephone. Rudy's mother has been in poor health lately.

The parents of Rudy said they were not surprised over the news of the marriage.

The father, a local druggist, said his new daughter-in-law was "a charming and verry pretty girl," adding that Rudy and Fay had been "keeping company" ever since Rudy went to Hollywood in 1928 to make his motion picture, "The Vagabond Lover."

Mrs. Vallee's greeting to her son over the long distance telephone when he called to "break the good news" was:

"Congratulations to you, Rudy dear, and best wishes and love to Fay."

RUDY JUBILANT

Rudy was said to have been jubilant when his father offered congratulations. He was said to have asked:

"Do you really mean it?"

The father replied:

"We sure do, son."

Rudy's parents met Fay both in New York and Hollywood and liked her very much, they said. His mother said:

"Rudy seemed as happy as a schoolboy and, of course, we are glad for him."

When Rudy will "bring his bride home" was not determined, but the home folks are anxious to entertain them.

Arson Plots Blamed On Strike Radicals

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 8.—Sympathizers of the National Miners' Union are blamed for attempts to burn two wooden trestles on the railroad leading to the Lincoln Hill mine of the Lincoln Gas Coal Company, west of here. The framework was saturated with oil and oil-soaked burlap was wrapped about various parts. The flames were quickly discovered by deputies on duty at the mine and were quelled before causing material damage.

At the Montour Four mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, near Hills Station, miners reporting for work during the past few days have been stoned from the surrounding hills.

Noted Authors Open Drive To Feed Miners' Families

New York's literati, impelled by Gov. Gifford Pinchot's futile appeal to the American Red Cross, came to the aid of hungry children of destitute bituminous coal miners today.

John Dos Passos, noted author, notified the executive's office at Harrisburg that a committee composed of leading New York authors has begun a nationwide campaign to raise a milk fund for the children.

In a telegram to the Governor, Dos Passos said:

"Thirty-nine Americans—including Lincoln Steffens, Floyd Dell, Upton Sinclair, Mary Heaton Vorse and Sherwood Anderson—having noted your appeal to Chairman John Barton Payne, of the American Red Cross for hungry children of coal miners in Western Pennsylvania, and Payne's refusal of aid, have begun a national campaign today for fund to buy milk for these children."

BRADDOCK MAN SOUGHT IN AUTO DEATH

Capture Expected Soon in State-Wide Hunt After Crash Kills One in Car

County detectives, after a state-wide search, expect today to produce James Alexander, Jr., 28, prominent in Braddock and missing three days. Alexander will be asked to explain the mysterious automobile accident which early Tuesday brought about injuries fatal to Michael McDonough, Bell avenue, North Braddock.

Alexander has been sought by Braddock police and county detectives since the accident. Virginia R. Costello, 28, of Hawkins avenue, North Braddock, in the car which, police say, is Alexander's, failed to explain where he was. She maintained, they said, that Alexander was not in the car.

The search for the man is expected to end today, according to George W. Murren, chief of county detectives.

The automobile smashup occurred early Tuesday on the William Penn highway at Monroeville road.

Police took McDonough to the Pittsburgh Hospital, where he died from a fractured skull.

Alexander was reported seen near Harrisburg by Jean Carney, of Braddock, police learned.

UNION ASSAILS COAL PARLEY

The text of the statement which the delegates of striking miners were to present to the Lamont conference on the coal industry in Washington was made public here this afternoon by Frank Borich and Vincent Kemenovich, leaders of the National Miners' Union.

It bitterly assails the purposes of the conference, declaring it has been called as "part of the program to perpetuate the regime of starvation and terrorism which the operators have set up in the mining fields."

It charges that wages have been cut as much as 70 per cent and denies that the coal industry is unable to pay a higher scale than that now existing.

Establishment of a six-hour working day, recognition of unions, abolition of company towns and a discontinuance of deportation of foreign-born strikers are advocated.

HARRY FLINN, 7, HIS HEAD IN BANDAGES, AND THE DOG WHO SAVED HIM FROM DEATH

Pet Dog Dies, Second Attacks Worker As Lad Cries

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 9.—(AP.)—Harry Flinn, 7, who lives with his mother and grandmother at Hickory, near here, was rescued from a 38-foot well into which he fell yesterday. A dog, with which he was romping, also fell into the well and was drowned.

Ray Markhard, a farm hand, crawled down the well and adjusted a rope about the boy's waist, while the lad clung to a water pipe. As the boy was being drawn from the well, the rope slipped and the lad almost strangled before he reached the top of the well.

Joe Cugas, assisting in the rescue, was bitten by another dog, a pet of the boy, when the animal heard the lad's screams.

BOXER MARRIES DIVORCEE, GETS BLESSINGS

Baer's Manager and Family Drop Fight on Bride 'Old Enough to Be His Mother'

RENO, Nev., July 9.—(AP.)—Max Baer, young heavyweight boxer, and his bride, the former Dorothy Dunbar Wells, who was an actress, were on a honeymoon today.

The former Livermore (Cal.) butcher boy and his bride, congratulated by Baer's manager, J. Hamilton Lorimer, said they would leave tonight or tomorrow for Oakland, Cal., to receive belated blessings of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baer, his parents.

MANAGER KEEPS PACT

Baer's mother had objected to the union with the assertion Mrs. Wells was "old enough to be Max's mother." Lorimer, who earlier had expressed a desire to sell Baer's four-year contract "cheap to anyone except Jack Kearns," said he had changed his mind. He announced in Oakland he had decided to see that the bridegroom "fights until he learns something about leather pushing."

Baer and Mrs. Wells were married by Judge Thomas Moran at the home of Harry Scheeline, Reno banker. It was there that Max revealed that his father and mother had offered their congratulations by telephone.

Mr. and Mrs. Baer were undecided as to where they will spend their honeymoon, but considered a trip to Hawaii or Europe.

WILL FIGHT AGAIN

Baer, who lost a gruelling 20-round bout to Paulino Uzcudun here July 4, has no definite plans for future fights, but said that he by no means intends to retire from the ring. He is 22.

Mrs. Baer, who was divorced early this year from Jaime S. De Garson, attache of the Foreign Legation in London, gave her age as "over 21" in the application for a license.

GANDHI WON'T VISIT U. S.

BOMBAY, India, July 9.—(AP.)—Mahatma Gandhi, answering a letter from a countryman in America, said in the newspaper Young India today that he had no intention of going to the United States to plead the cause of Indian freedom. He said:

"The proposal to visit America has been with me for the past five years or longer, but I lacked the inner urge or courage to go. The very allurements some writers have held out have but confirmed my original decision, based on nothing better than intuition."

In reply to the writer's expressed hope that he would not wear European clothes on his forthcoming trip to London, the mahatma reiterated his decision to wear only a loin cloth.

KDKA, WWSW Get Permit Approvals

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Broadcasting licenses of three Pennsylvania radio stations have been renewed by the Radio Commission. They were: WCAU and WRAX of Philadelphia, and KDKA of Pittsburgh.

In addition, WLIT of Philadelphia and WWSW of Pittsburgh were granted licenses to cover construction permits already issued for changes in power or wave length.

Court Order Adds To Langdon Woes

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—(AP.)—Harry Langdon, sad-faced comedian of the screen, had more woes today, with issuance of an order for the sale of a part of his household furniture to satisfy a chattel mortgage.

Other of the actor's furniture is under attachment in a storage warehouse. Two foreclosure suits are pending against his Hollywood home.

Vulcanizer Blast Injures Dentist

LANCASTER, Pa., July 9.—(INS.)—Battered and bruised when a vulcanizing machine in his office exploded, Dr. S. J. Heindel, Elizabethtown dentist, today was recovering.

The dentist was hurled several feet by the blast, which rocked the office building and tossed instruments and furniture about.

Woman Kills Self And Pets With Gas

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(INS.)—Mrs. Jennie Gedeon, 32, who had been living in a small apartment the last month with two cats and a bulldog as her only companions, could not bear to leave them to strangers when she elected to end her life. She had them romp about her after she opened the jets on a gas stove.

Police found the woman and pets dead. A note read in part:

"Bill, you know you are to blame."

Youth Once Blind To View Niagara

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(AP.)—Earl Musselman, 22, of Allentown, Pa., whose sight was recently partly restored by an operation after being blind since birth, plans a trip to the Pocono Mountains and to Niagara Falls.

Among the thousands of letters Musselman has received was one from Penal, Trinidad. Musselman was addressed as "Your Lordship," and begged for information for having the eye ailment of the writer cured.

Trick Vain, Mann Act Violators Get 2 Years

DETROIT, July 9.—(AP.)—James Spano, 19, and his brother, Salvatore, 17, both of Armada, Mich., compelled a girl they were bringing from Pittsburgh to alight from their car and walk across state lines, but that precaution was of no avail when they were arraigned in Federal Court yesterday for violating the Mann act.

They pleaded guilty before Judge Edward J. Moinet and were sentenced to Leavenworth Prison for two years. The girl, who had been held as a witness, will be returned to her home.

Barbecue Radios Sign Off In Row Over Business

A pair of radio broadcasters were silenced today—and not by the Federal Radio Commission.

These were the loudspeakers in the Highland Park barbecue stands of Mike De Rosa, Twelfth Ward Republican leader, and Harry Sable, brother of Chief Surgeon Daniel E. Sable, of the Department of Public Safety.

Just across Washington boulevard from the Sable and De Rosa places, Mrs. Stella Stewart operates a similar establishment. She pays the city $650 a year, it was said, while De Rosa and Sable pay $500 each.

De Rosa and Sable have radio loudspeakers outside their places to entertain customers and attract new patrons. Mrs. Stewart has none. She sought a permit from Director of Public Safety Clark, who told her if she installed the speakers she would be violating a city ordinance and then refused her request.

Mrs. Stewart proceeded to do some broadcasting of her own.

188 Millions Raised For Philanthropy

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—A report of the John Price Jones Corporation, fund-raising consultants, disclosed that philanthropic gifts during the first six months of this year in five leading American cities totaled upwards of $188,055,074.

The report said only those gifts large enough to warrant publication by newspapers were considered.

Stories of Hoover's Dash From Camp Bring Probe

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Secret Service and newspaper men covering the White House were under investigation today as a result of stories published about President Hoover's sudden departure from Rapidan camp Sunday.

Who ordered the investigation could not be learned definitely.

The stories dealt with the fact that the chief executive did not wait for his Sunday dinner, to which Attorney General Mitchell had been invited. Secret Service men were forced to run from their quarters, buttoning up their shirts in order to catch up with the speeding car of the President.

There also was said to be objection to reports of the fact that the 100-mile trip from the camp to Washington, some of it over dangerous dirt road, had been made in two hours and a half.

The White House Secret Service has been called on to explain how newspaper men learned these facts.

Five reporters who regularly cover the White House and were staying in the vicinity of the camp were told that the President would leave at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He left at 1:25 o'clock and the reporters, who usually keep him in sight during the automobile trip, were 40 mintues behind him when he arrived in Washington.

MYSTERY BLAST VICTIM DIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 9.—Vincent Iadirosi, 31, of Axelton, near Monongahela, died in Monongahela Memorial Hospital yesterday, succumbing to burns received in a manner which Monongahela Valley police are still trying to solve.

Iadirosi claimed that he had sustained the burns when a still exploded in his home. However, the fact that he walked into the hospital shortly after a blast and subsequent fire destroyed a New Eagle poolroom, led police to believe that he received the burns during the blaze.

Officers are seeking two other occupants of a coupe which is reported to have driven away from the scene of the blaze shortly after the explosion.

CHARITY GROUP HOLDS PICNIC

Members and employes of the Pittsburgh Goodwill Industries held their annual outing yesterday in North Park. Mush ball games, horseshoe pitching, swimming, volley ball and races featured the picnic.

Special games for crippled men and women were held. Prizes were awarded winners. Luncheon and supper were served.

The committee consisted of Richard Gebhardt, Mrs. Anna Herman, Mrs. Minnie Rau and Mrs. Anna Walzer. The picnickers were taken to and from the park in Goodwill Industry trucks.

Perkins Bull's Son Engaged to Marry

CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP.)—The betrothal of Michael Bull, third son of W. Perkins Bull, K. C., to Miss Norsen Hennessy, third daughter of Maj. Sir George Hennessy, of London, former treasurer of the household of his majesty, King George, was announced yesterday to their friends in Chicago.

Although Michael Bull is a barrister of the Inner Temple, London, friends here believed they might make their permanent home in Chicago. The wedding will take place within the next few weeks in London.

Baby Crawls Away, Drowns in Creek

READING, Pa., July 9.—(AP.)—Still unable to walk, a baby crawled from its parents' summer bungalow, near Berkeley, along the Maiden Creek, and was drowned. The child is Leroy, the year-and-10-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kauterman, of Temple.

The child was playing in front of the bungalow while the mother entertained guests inside. She watched the child through a window. Glancing out, she failed to see it, and at once started a hunt. After half an hour, swimmers found the body near the shore.

4 Women Arraigned As Fortune Tellers

Four women were arraigned in Central Police Court today as result of a drive launched by detectives against fortune tellers. Policewomen of the Missing Persons Bureau swore out the warrants following scores of complaints.

Those arrested were Mrs. Fanny Leese, 56, of 410 Ella street; Mrs. Mary Hunter, 39, of 338 Hale street; Mrs. Maude Scott, of 7918 Tacoma street, and Mme. DePeu, 37, of 3356 Fifth avenue.

Hearings of all were continued.

FREE CITY HALL 'SQUATTER'

Mrs. Helen Uptegraff, 57, who maintained a home for unemployed girls in Old City Hall, Smithfield street and Oliver avenue, was discharged today when arraigned before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court, charged with disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Uptegraff was arrested yesterday on complaint of James Routley, clerk in the County Commissioners' office. Routley failed to appear.

Mrs. Uptegraff produced a permit signed by Routley for quarters in the old hall. She said:

"If the commissioners don't want me in Old City Hall I will try to find another place. I have cared for 150 unemployed girls and have obtained jobs for 60 in the last two months."

The commissioners recently explained that they had given Mrs. Uptegraff a permit for an office, not for a home.

$1 GALLON RUM KILLS SIX

BROCKTON, Mass., July 9.—(AP.)—A dollar's worth of denatured alcohol served at a drinking party here Tuesday had claimed six lives today and the seventh member of the party lay critically ill in the Brockton Hospital.

Edward Sullivan, 44, died early this morning. Mrs. Annie Jacobs, 58, and her son, Edward, 36; George Davidson, 56; John A. Blake, 55, and Lloyd Deane, 43, died yesterday.

Dominic Desormiers, unemployed shoe worker, the police say, admitted he bought the alcohol for the group. Doctors were uncertain whether he would live. He is under arrest at the hospital on four charges of manslaughter.

Desormiers, police said, told them the party had run out of liquor and that Deane had given him a dollar to get a gallon of denatured alcohol which was "split" with water.

Cleared as Slayer, Found Dead in Hotel

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—Carmelo Leconti, who eight years ago was arrested for the murder of Biagio Giordino but exonerated, was found dead in a hotel room today with his throat cut and a noose about his neck. Leconti registered yesterday with a man who said he was G. Grossman, of Bridgeport, Conn. Grossman had left before his companion's body was found.

Earlier in the day Michael Arogano, of Los Angeles, was found with his throat slashed in another hotel. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Strike Cripples Spain's Telephones

LONDON, July 9.—(INS.)—The strike of telephone workers in Spain grew more serious today, acts of sabotage being reported from many parts of the country, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Barcelona.

Telephone cables were cut in Madrid and two unexploded bombs were found beside telephone poles there. The strike has rendered telephonic communication between various parts of the country virtually impossible.

Faults Not to Alter Design of Cruisers

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—The discovery of cracked stern posts in five of the Navy's eight newest cruisers will not cause a change in plans for seven cruisers now under construction. A department announcement today said the ships now building were of somewhat different design and were believed stronger.

Five of the seven are being built by contractors that turned out the defective ships.

ST. JOHN PARISH HONORS PRIEST

Representing the parish of St. John the Baptist Church, Congressman P. J. Sullivan last night presented the Rev. Thomas J. McPherson a purse in appreciation of his eight years of service to the Liberty avenue congregation. Father McPherson will leave Pittsburgh in a few days to take over his new duties at the St. Jerome Church in Charleroi. The Rev. John P. Joyce of the St. Jerome Church in Charleroi, The at St. John's.

Before coming to St. John's, Father McPherson spent five years at St. Thomas' Church, Braddock.

The presentation was made at an open-air ceremony at the church. The Rev. A. J. Wigley, in addressing the parishioners, told of Father McPherson's interest in the parish, and particularly his interest in the young men of the church and in its athletic activities.

The young men and women of the church also presented the priest with a gift.

Art Experts Restore Raphael Painting

DRESDEN, Germany, July 9.—(AP.)—Experts from Munich have restored Raphael's famous painting, "Sistine Madonna." A special process was employed to fasten the loosened paint to the 500-year-old canvas.

THE REV. A. J. WIGLEY — THE REV. JAMES DAVIN

Congressman Sullivan, representing the parish of St. John the Baptist Church, presents Father McPherson with a purse in appreciation of eight years of service. He leaves in a few days to take over newly assigned duties at the St. Jerome's Church, Charleroi.

PITTSBURGHERS FIGHT WILL

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(AP.)—A personal estate of $1,791,522, exclusive of realty valued at upwards of $1,000,000, was left by Mrs. Lillie Ingram Walker Baker, widow of George Fales Baker, former president of the Philadelphia Academy of Music.

Mrs. Baker, 74, died March 7 in a hotel here. Her will, by which she devised a life estate in approximately $4,000,000 to her friend and attorney, Benjamin Williamson Keen, of Newark, N. J., is being contested by several cousins in Pittsburgh, one of whom, Hay Walker, Jr., of Sewickley, filed a caveat charging undue influence and testamentary incapacity.

Hay Walker, Jr., one of the contestants of the will of Mrs. Lillie Walker Baker, of Philadelphia, said he expected the contest to be heard next fall. Mrs. Baker left no children, he said, and no relatives nearer than cousins. Attorney Keen, the chief beneficiary, is about 20 years younger than Mrs. Baker, he said.

Salary Cut Bill Pushed in Australia

CANBERRA, Australia, July 9.—(AP.)—The commonwealth House of Representatives passed on second reading the government's finance emergency bill providing for reductions of from 20 to 25 per cent in parliamentary salaries and allowances, 20 per cent in civil service salaries and varying reductions in old age, invalid and maternity pensions.

Mexico Opens War On Gaming Resorts

MEXICO CITY, July 9.—(AP.)—A dispatch to the newspaper Excelsior from Tampico said the state government of Tamaulipas has "declared war" on alleged gambling establishments at Matamoros and other border points said to have been frequented by Americans, and ordered a 3,000 per cent increase in taxes on certain concessions at Matamoros.

Coste Takes Part In French Air Tour

PARIS, July 9.—(AP.)—A squadron of six long range air cruisers left Paris for Brussels today on a month's tour of Europe and the Near East to advance the interests of aviation.

Each machine was piloted by a famous French airman. Among the pilots was Maj. Dieudonne Coste.

CAPONE PLANS HORSE RACES

CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP.)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner said today that Alphonse Capone had gone into the horse racing business on the eve of his departure for the government penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

The paper said members of Capone's organization admitted they proposed to convert their legally-banned dog racing tracks in this territory to law-protected tracks for horse racing.

Capone recently pleaded guilty in Federal Court to charges of violating the liquor and income tax laws, but was allowed 30 days to put his affairs into shape before receiving the sentence.

Prosecutor Upholds Slaying of Mexican

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 9.—(AP.)—An investigation of fatal shooting of Ruben C. Pardo, 25-year-old Mexican, by two United States immigration officers May 25, was closed by District Attorney Tom Whelan, who said criminal action was not warranted.

Pardo was shot while trying to escape from Inspectors Harry Cunningham and Joseph Byrne following his arrest for illegal entry 60 miles north of here. He died three days later.

Blawnox Man's Body Taken from River

The body of Anthony Kilkewich, 37, of 38 Riverside court, Blawnox, was found floating in the Allegheny River, near the foot of Center avenue, Blawnox, by Leo Wysocki, of 46 Riverside court, and John Kissel, of Second avenue, both of Blawnox, last night. Kilkewich had not been seen since Tuesday morning. He was believed to have fallen into the river.

Kellogg Leaves U. S. For Court Session

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—Former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, a judge of the World Court, sailed with Mrs. Kellogg last night on the liner Aquitania to attend a session of the international body. He had dinner aboard the ship and retired without seeing reporters.

Actress Divorces Screen Director

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—(AP.)—Esther Muir, screen actress, was granted a divorce yesterday from William Berkley Enos, who directs pictures under the name of William Berkley. They were married in November, 1929.

Society Leader, 64, Weds Instructor, 36

WENHAM, Mass., July 9.—(AP.)—Mrs. Susan Day Forest Parker, 64, widow of Dr. Charles Thorndyke Parker, of this place and New York City, became the bride here yesterday of Fortunato Porotpo, 36, an instructor of languages, whose home is in Washington.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William F. Astride, of Christ Church, Episcopal, Hamilton, on the Parker estate.

Mrs. Porotpo was prominent in North Shore society and was once a noted yachtswoman.

Girl, 10, Dragged Across River on Cable, Unhurt

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 9.—Dragged across the Monongahela River when her bathing suit caught on the moving wire cable of a ferry, Gloria Hetherington, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hetherington, Fayette City, was uninjured. She was playing about a wharf when her bathing suit became entangled. She grasped the cable and held her head above water. A woman, the only passenger on the ferry, saw the girl's plight but was unable to attract the engineer's attention to stop the ferry.

Trotzky Declares He Favors 5-Year Plan

ISTANBUL, July 9.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky has declared himself a whole-hearted believer in the success of the Soviet five-year plan. He said:

"Reactionary journals in several countries have published alleged interviews in which I supposedly declared myself an enemy of the five-year plan and the Soviet Union. These forged interviews are a total contradiction of my real views, sympathetic to the five-year plan and to every means for Soviet Russia's defense."

Injunction Granted In Row Over Door

Completion of a doorway between two McKeesport buildings and its use except in case of fire, were forbidden by an injunction granted in Common Pleas Court by Judge James H. Gray. To provide an extra fire exit required by law, Nick Contakas cut through the wall from his property at 208 Fifth avenue into the building at 206 Fifth avenue, owned by James Savage.

Morris Goldfield, with dental offices in the Savage Building, objected to the doorway.

Two Special Meat Values at McCann's this Week End

Chuck Roasts

A Chuck Roast tastes very good cold; so why not roast one Saturday and serve it cold Sunday? A five-pound roast will cost but 75 cents.

lb. 15c

Rolled Ribs

Boned and rolled before weighing . . . that's a point to remember when considering the price of this cut of beef. There's no waste to one of these very delicious roasts.

lb. 35c

Tasty Topics in Brief

Fresh Lake Trout . lb. 29c

Andy would get the thrill of his life if he could catch a fish like this! Come see how fresh they are.

Boston Mackerel . lb. 15c

You must enjoy at least one mackerel dinner while they are in season. Especially good broiled, then seasoned with butter.

Stewing Chickens . lb. 29c

Can anything take the place of a good piece of chicken with rich chicken gravy? We guarantee the goodness of these plump hens.

Spiced Ham . . . . lb. 39c

We never had a cold cut that "went over" so big in such a short time. We told you it was good, didn't we?

Chicken Salad . . . pt. 85c

Diced chicken, celery, a few capers and McCann's mayonnaise make this chicken salad good. The best you ever ate or we miss our guess.

Pecan Rolls . . . each 35c

They used to be 40 cents and worth it. Six portions with lots of honey and pecans. Have one for breakfast.

Fresh Cherry Pies, each 45c

We're sure a piece of cherry pie would make an acceptable dessert tonight. And how nice not to have to bake it! No seeds.

Caramel Cake . . each 50c

One of our famous week end layer cakes that our customers come back for week after week. Cuts 8 portions.

Ground Beef . . 3 lbs. 45c

Why not make a meat loaf . . . a big one . . . then slice it cold for several meals. The meat is ground fresh at McCann's . . . you can depend on the quality.

Thueringer Cervelat, lb. 29c

This tastes good with rye bread and mustard and anything else that seems to fit in with this combination.

Regularly 3 jars for $1

Strawberry Preserves

made with fresh berries for McCann customers

4 jars $1

We're selling thousands of jars . . . to be eaten now and to store away until next winter when fresh strawberries are a memory. Made just as you make preserves at home.

McCann's Good BUTTER

keeps sweet in hot weather because it is fresher

2 lbs. 63c

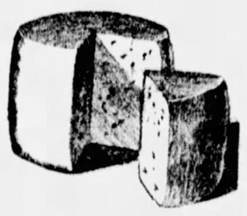
McCann's Butter is as fresh as it is possible to sell it . . . it's shipped direct to us from our private source of supply. Most other stores buy their butter through a jobber. McCann's don't need to buy in this round about way . . . we sell too much.

McCann's Good FRESH EGGS

for summer menus

2 dozs. 55c

Omelettes and egg salads can take the place of meat on hot days. McCann's Eggs are tempting no matter how they are served because they're FRESH.



Today's New Lower Price

Sharp Cheese

made in New York

lb. 39c

It used to be 45 cents a pound. "And worth it", chorus hundreds of McCann customers. Aged just right for rarebits and toasted cheese sandwiches.

Tasty Topics in Brief

Homegrown Beans, 3 lbs. 25c

Now the homegrown vegetables are here. These beans are so fresh you might have picked them in your own garden.

Beets and Carrots, 3 bnchs. 10c

Homegrown, too, and so young and tender they'll cook in no time. Serve the beets first as a vegetable then in a salad.

Telephone Peas . 2 lbs. 29c

I asked the buyer if these peas were homegrown. He said, "no, they're better." That's a big recommendation for the peas to live up to.

Ripe Tomatoes . carrier 19c

Why buy tomatoes by the pound when you can get a quart (8 nice big ones) for 19 cents at McCann's.

Favorite Coffee . 3 lbs. 65c

We wish we could find some new adjectives to describe Favorite Coffee. It's fresh! Fresh! Fresh!

Orange Pekoe Tea, ½ lb. box 40c

Are you an iced tea fan? Then you'll like the flavor of this. Goes further but it's not strong.

Asparagus Tips, 4 cans 89c

Take your choice of Canoe Club or Avalon Brand . . . both have our recommendations. Square cans.

Potato Chips, ½ lb. bag 20c

Keep a bag in the house. You can recrisp them in a jiffy for a hurry-up meal when you stay out too long to cook potatoes.

Orange Marmalade, lb. jar 25c

Robertson's Scotch Marmalade and if you know your marmalade that means quality. Well known here and abroad.

Reymer's Mints, lb. box 29c

Big fat creamy mints with chocolate coats. Everyone likes them . . . take a box home for the week end.

SUE OVER GIRL'S HURTS IN CRASH

Mrs. Adele Harowitz, of New Castle, was named defendant in a suit for $30,000 damage, filed in Federal Court by William J. Hinckson and his wife, Mrs. Selma Hinckson, of Youngstown, O., which grew out of an automobile collision in which Leola Hinkson, 16, daughter of the plaintiffs, was injured.

According to the statement of claim Leola was riding in an automobile driven by her brother, Wayne Hinckson, on Himrod avenue, Youngstown, July 8, 1929, when it was struck by a machine driven by the daughter of the defendant. Mrs. Harowitz was in the car at the time.

The suit declares Leola was thrown against the windshield and suffered permanent disfiguration from cuts and other injuries.

Attorney Arrested For Stoning Autos

SOMERSET, Pa., July 9.—Somerset police arrested Attorney William Degnault, of 107 West Ninety-fifth street, New York, after he is alleged to have thrown stones at automobiles on the Lincoln highway. Several windows in cars were shattered and two persons were cut by glass.

Lost in Hills 5 Days, Aged Man Recovers

DUBOIS, Pa., July 9.—Anthony Venesky, 78-year-old berry-picker, lost almost five days in the wild lands of the Penfield Mountains, is at the home of his nephew, Stanley Venesky, in Force, recovering after literally crawling back to civilization upon his hands and knees.

Too weak from hunger and exposure to identify himself, when he crawled up to the door of the J. McCloskey farmhouse, near Kersey, the aged man was given first aid. Later he was able to give his name and search that was being made for him was abandoned.

2 Ohio Mayors Ask Wage Investigation

DENNISON, O., July 9.—Mayor Robert Maxwell, Dennison, has joined with Mayor J. W. Lytle, Uhrichsville, in asking Gov. George White to investigate claims that employes on a road construction job east of here are paid starvation wages.

One workman's check was said to be slightly over $16 for 98 hours' work.

OF THE CHAMPAGNE OF GINGER ALES

AND new low prices

SINCE the announcement of the new low price of the regular size, and the introduction of the new large size, people everywhere are drinking more and more of The Champagne of Ginger Ales.

The world appreciates value. And at its new low price the value of Canada Dry is outstanding. Canada Dry plants have been running day and night to supply the greatly increased demand.

And the world appreciates convenience. Canada Dry now comes in two sizes—the familiar twelve-ounce size for individual use, and the large size containing five full glasses for parties or family gatherings.

But most of all, the world appreciates quality. And no other ginger ale has ever captured the sunny sparkle and inimitable flavor of The Champagne of Ginger Ales.

Tom Thumb Junior Archery Club Applications Show Interest in Contests

From the number of applications already received it is evident that the boys and girls of Pittsburgh and vicinity are considerably excited over the organization of the Sun-Telegraph Tom Thumb Junior Archery Club.

Hundreds of applications were received yesterday from youngsters, both boys and girls, who indicate that they want to learn how to become proficient archers. So, before long Pittsburgh will be full of bow and arrow teams—all shooting for records and for prizes.

TO FORM TEAMS

It is the Sun-Telegraph's plan to organize archery teams of five members throughout Pittsburgh. Boys' teams will adopt the names of birds and girls' teams names of flowers. With the boys there will be the "Eagles," the "Crows," the "Robins," the "Redbirds," "Bluebirds," "Hawks" and other bird names. The girls will be known as the "Tulips," the "Roses," the "Hyacinths," the "Lilies," the "Snowballs" and the like.

These teams will have local contests preliminary to the "finals." It is hoped to organize several hundred five-member teams, and from the interest the idea has already aroused it looks as though this would be an easy thing to do.

ARROWS SAFE

In the meantime the Sun-Telegraph has obtained the exclusive distribution rights for the Tom Thumb archery outfit, including arrows and colored targets. The arrows are safe because they have suction rubber tips that stick to the target when shot from the steel wired bow.

Boys and girls throughout Pittsburgh and vicinity interested in joining the Sun-Telegraph Tom Thumb Junior Archery Club can get complete information by filling in and mailing the official blank printed on page nine.

QUARRY MURDER SUSPECT HELD

LIMA, O., July 9.—(AP.)—James May, 22, was held at Toledo today for the Allen County grand jury on a charge of first-degree murder in the death of Earl Truesdale, 20, whose body was found in a stone quarry pool here along with that of Miss Thelma Woods, 17.

May, said to be a former suitor of Miss Woods, was arrested here yesterday and taken to Toledo by Sheriff Jesse Sarber, who feared violence here.

Officials declined to reveal the evidence on which May was arrested. The affidavit was signed by Don Truesdale, Earl's father.

Accident Reveals System Guarding Crown Jewels

COPENHAGEN, July 9.—(AP.)—The fate of those who tamper with the crown jewels of Denmark was revealed today to a party of foreign tourists.

While inspecting the collection in the Castle of Rosenborg a guide got too close and accidentally set off a device. There was a deafening outburst of sirens and jangling bells. The cabinet sank through the floor and all doors automatically closed.

An attendant drew his revolver and commanded everyone to stand still. Carloads of police surrounded the castle. Explanations finally resulted in the party being released.

CITY OPENS 76 PLAYGROUNDS

Seventy-six playgrounds were opened to the children of Pittsburgh today and will be operated until September 1, W. C. Batchelor, superintendent of the City Bureau of Recreation, announced.

This is in addition to 18 playgrounds opened in May and June and 15 swimming pools and 38 athletic fields opened last week. All are in charge of supervisors selected from the civil service lists. The regular hours for the recreation centers are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., but some of the playgrounds are opened in the evening with the idea of keeping the children off the streets.

Everyone who's in town probably will be out of town Saturday. That sounds like a paradox, doesn't it? But everyone who's remaining here for the summer or who hasn't left yet will go to Greensburg Saturday for the Greensburg Kennel Club's second annual dog show.

Of course the show will be held, like all Greensburg sporting events, on the Westmoreland polo field.

Miss Margaret Coulter is the president of the Kennel Club, as I've mentioned before, and Mrs. Charles McKenna Lynch is the chairman.

Aiding Mrs. Lynch on the general committee are Mrs. John Barclay, Mrs. H. F. Bovard, Mrs. C. Ward Eicher, Mrs. Joseph A. McCurdy, Miss Jay C. Jamison, Miss Frances Shallenberger and Miss Louise Burnot.

Of course there'll be refreshments served on the grounds. Mrs. J. Hilary Keenan is chairman of this committee.

Assisting At Show

assisted by Mrs. J. H. Fiscus, Mrs. S. A. Carson, Mrs. Joseph D. Wentling, Mrs. S. W. Hood, Mrs. Robert Gill, Mrs. C. R. Carter, Mrs. William S. Craig, Mrs. Joseph A. Beck, Miss Hetty Keenan, Miss Jane Silsley, Miss Laura Cope, Mrs. C. V. Witt, Miss Betty McKee, Miss Dorothy Thomas, Miss Helen Carson and Miss Kathleen Pershing.

Flowers, fruits and vegetables will be for sale, too, with Mrs. Richard Coulter in charge. Her aides will be Mrs. J. L. Cote, Mrs. Curtis Gregg, Mrs. J. Rappe Myers, Mrs. John Burnot, Mrs. Jay C. Jamison, Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. C. Ward Eicher and Miss Elizabeth Moorhead.

Nancy Wentling, chairman of the grab bag, is aided by Sally Wentling, Mary Wentling, Mary Lynch, Catherine Lynch and Caroline Tyson.

Other committees are Mrs. John J. Singer and Miss Elizabeth Moorhead, raffles; Mrs. Fred Hudson and Miss Mary Kunkle, program advertising; Mrs. Fred Hudson, Mrs. John Barclay, Jr., Miss Mary Kunkle, Mrs. George D. Chichester and Miss Mary Keenan, program sale; Mrs. Joseph D. Wentling and Mrs. H. F. Bovard, tickets; Miss Eleanora Zahniser, chairman of beverages, aided by Mrs. Arthur Humphrey, Mrs. J. R. Waltham, Mrs. Samuel Lord and Miss Marion Amend.

Directing the sale of ice cream will be Mrs. Avra Pershing, Miss Flora Eicher, Miss Kathleen Pershing and Miss Betty McKee. Mrs. Elmer Turner, Mrs. D. Ray Murdoch, Mrs. Thomas J. McTighe, Mrs. John Horne and Mrs. John G. Hoffstott form the committee on special prizes.

Serving As Aides

C. Gill Watt is chairman of judges; Joseph D. Wentling, of grounds, and Miss Frances Shallenberger is treasurer.

I mentioned before that the proceeds of the show will go to the Greensburg branch of the American Red Cross of which Mrs. John Barclay is chairman. Louise Brunot, Mrs. H. F. Bovard and Elizabeth Moorhead and Miss Margaret Coulter are vice chairmen. Miss Hetty Keenan is secretary, and Mrs. Joseph A. McCurdy, treasurer.

On the advisory board are Mrs. C. Ward Eicher, Mrs. Joseph D. Wentling, Mrs. John P. Kilgore, Miss Frances Shallenberger, Mrs. E. H. Bair, Mrs. Richard Coulter, Mrs. John J. Singer and Miss Elizabeth Moorhead. D. W. F. Shero is chairman.

International President Speaks at B. P. W. Dinner

RICHMOND, Va., July 9.—(AP.)—No one nation may longer live alone, Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, New York City attorney and president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, told members of the national federation at their international relations banquet here last night.

The banquet followed another day filled with business sessions and occupational conferences participated in by the more than 2,000 delegates attending the old Dominion convention.

At one round table, devoted to international relations, recommendations presented by Miss Phillips were adopted and will be offered to the general convention session tomorrow.

They recommend that the national federation secure 60,000 signatures to a petition for the immediate reduction of armaments and present this at Geneva in 1932.

Arms Cut Favored

Work of federations in 14 foreign countries was outlined by Miss Dorothy Heneker, of Montreal, secretary of the international organization and president of the Canadian federation.

Exchange of greetings between those attending the meeting here and outstanding women throughout the world was a feature of the banquet program. Messages sent from the table by wire and cable were delivered and replies sent back and read aloud before the meeting adjourned.

Awards for outstanding publicity achievements durin Business Woman's Week, March 8-14, announced today, are: Tuscaloosa, Ala., club for the finest type of publicity, with special mention going to Erie, Pa., and Monroe, La., clubs; Milwaukee, Wis., for the most dignified piece of publicity, with special mention going to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Macon, Ga. Union City, Ind., won the publicity prize for the greatest number of column inches during the year among cities with daily newspapers, and Brinkley, Ark., won the weekly newspaper community prize. Ellen Libby Eastman, national membership chairman, of Indiana, won the "state" trophy for the largest number of inches of publicity recorded for a state.

Publicity Awards

Women prefer women physicians and the medical profession offers golden opportunities to them, Dr. Helen H. Shelley, of San Jose, Cal., college mate of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, said at the convention.

Business women generally are still doing clerical work, not because of lack of efficiency, but because of their mental attitude, Marion H. McClench, president, stated in outlining her 10-year-program for the federation. Jobs, she said, are regarded by most women as something to occupy their time while waiting to get married.

Outlines Program

The delegates launched into a discussion of methods to improve present conditions. Miss McClench suggested that Congress employ expert commissions to assist legislators.

Mabel Vollmar, a credit department manager, of Evanston, Ill., declared tariffs must be reduced to better business. Mme. Mary Laudner, of Paris, founder of the first business women's club in France and head of the French federation, also scored the American tariff as the greatest handicap to improved business conditions.

Margaret C. Sullivan To Marry E. M. Johnson

The engagement of Miss Margaret Catherine Sullivan, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan, of Maryland avenue, to Edward Myles Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Johnson, of the East End, was announced at a bridge given by the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Albert E. Blank, in her home in Maryland avenue, Tuesday evening. Three tables of bridge were in play and decorations were in blue and yellow. No date has been named for the wedding.

LB. 29c BOKAR COFFEE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

I HAVE ALWAYS ENJOYED the two words "some day." They are ever present in the scheme of things. The newspaperman spends his life to write a play "some day." The third-rate actor wastes his days because he hopes to arrive "some day." The switchboard operator plugs switchboards and trusts she will be a movie star "some day."

All of us are the same. Bootlegger, actor, sausage maker and poet—we all want a Rolls Royce and a Park avenue apartment. And all of us plod along and trust that we'll get them "some day." . . .

Let's call him George. He has a wife, he says. And children. And so many friends who think he's still wealthy. So I'll call him George—because the name can make no difference.

I saw him in a night club last week. He waited on my table. Hair that is snow white. Eyes that are clear and piercing. medium height. Fifty-five.

His voice startled me. It was the voice of a professor of English. Low. Cultured. Smooth. Surely this could be no ordinary waiter. I asked him why he was there.

"If you please, sir," he said. "I am a waiter. Just one of many. That is all, sir. May I have your order, please?"

That convinced me and I went back twice to find out his story. For all of us have stories. But those who will not speak generally hold stories far more interesting than the ones that are poured forth for the asking . . .

Having learned nothing from George on my two subsequent trips, I spoke to the head waiter.

"That man," I was told, "was once a millionaire. Owned gambling houses all over the city. Supported a wife and children in magnificent style. He had money galore and spent it without stint.

"But he slipped somewhere. He got a gambler's break, and it was a bad one. He came in here one night and asked for a job.

"And there he is. There's nothing strange about that, is there?" . . .

Perhaps to the head waiter there wasn't anything strange about it. But I thought differently. And the more I thought of it, the more anxious I was to get George's story. So last night again saw me in place.

This time my conversation with George was more productive. Perhaps it was because I approached him from a different angle. Or it might have been that he was lonesome for some one to talk to.

"I know you now, George," I told him. "I know you were once wealthy. I know you were once a successful gambler. And now you're broke. There's no disgrace in that. Why can't you tell me your story?"

"There is no story," he said. "I'm just one of many. Just one of many who gambled and lost—for the time being.

"I was a waiter 27 years ago. Somehow or other, I fell into the gambling habit. The tips they tossed me went into the crap games. And my salary went the same way.

"I was married at that time. There was a kid, too, about 5 years of age. And my wife cursed me when I came home with empty pockets. She always felt it was wrong. But I was always stuck to it. I made friends. Real friends, I mean. The breaks came my way. I made money. And more. And more.

"The money rolled in and I spent it. I began to operate houses of my own. It was all so simple.

"But why go on? It's the old story. About two years ago, the tide turned. The stock market took me. And the horses.

"A month or so ago came the last straw. I lost my last dollar. Both cars were sold. We moved from Park avenue to a furnished flat in Brooklyn. And the wife made it so much harder when she looked at me and said, like all women, 'I always told you so.'

"Well, that was that. No use crying over spent money. When I was in the game, I hated the man that begged the winner for a stake. I hated the buzzards that trailed the money man just because he was the money man. So when I was on the wrong end, I just couldn't beg.

"I had to do something. I was a waiter 27 years ago. I knew that trade. And I know it now. I'm not ashamed of it—not a bit."

"I'm still the gambler. I'm gambling even now. The plates are my chips. The head waiter is my doorman. Every night I cash in. Sometimes I'm lucky. Sometimes I'm not."

The man at the next table were calling George. He was rapping impatiently for the waiter. But he spoke again before he left.

"The reason I could not tell you my story," he went on slowly, "is because I'm going back in the game again. And I wouldn't want all of my clients to know what I was doing. It wouldn't be good for me."

He picked up the napkin. He smiled a cryptic smile. He straightened up. And the years seemed to have dropped from his shoulders.

"I'm not young," he murmured, "but I'm not old. This is only an intermission. I'm coming back with a vengeance—some day." . . .

Why not swim, too?

A clear skin and a strong body add a touch of loveliness to any man or woman

Regardless of whether you swim or not it is human for one to want to be more attractive. Often one can gain a clear skin and a strong body—the kind that makes you feel like your natural self again—simply by adding New Strength to the blood.

When your vitality is low and you feel weak, don't care to eat, have lost weight, your skin is sallow, pale or broken out with pimples or boils, you may be sure that your blood is in need of New Strength.

Rich, red blood for New Strength

Rich, red blood plays a dominant role in maintaining health. It builds and sustains . . . removes impurities from the tissues . . . gives strength. When you add New Strength to the blood and bring it back to normal, your whole body is invigorated and strengthened . . . you are better able to resist infection and disease . . . your skin clears up . . . your cheeks become rosy . . . more vitality and pep naturally follow. You know a clear skin comes from within.

S.S.S. makes rich, red blood

S.S.S. is famed for its ability to build New Strength in the blood. It does it safely and effectively. One of its distinct advantages is that it is composed of fresh vegetable medicinal ingredients in concentrated form. Indeed, it is Mother Nature's formula. It has an enviable record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality in the blood—this New Strength naturally makes for better health and happiness.

S.S.S. is sold in two sizes. The larger size contains 20 oz. and represents a price saving.

If constipated, try KLOK-LAX . . . it "acts on time."

NO BEECHVIEW POOL THIS YEAR

The Beechview Civic Club was told yesterday by Council that it could not expect a new swimming pool at the city's expense before next year.

Representatives of the club had asked for a pool at the rear of the Beechwood school, on property owned by the city. President John S. Herron replied:

"You can't expect to get a pool this year. The one we are building now at Highland Park is away behind schedule. Our engineers are trying to get it finished before cold weather comes."

Herron told the petitioners to come before Council during the October and November budget sessions.

Street improvements asked by the club included repaving of Crane avenue, between the Banksville road and Fallowfield avenue, and Dagmar avenue. The requests were referred to the Public Works Department.

Lutheran Mission Group Head Sails

The Rev. S. C. Michelfelder, superintendent of the Lutheran Inner Mission Society, sailed yesterday for Europe on the Majestic. He was accompanied by Mrs. Michelfelder, Mrs. Anna Landefeld, Miss Bertha Landefeld, Miss Dora Homann and Carl Becker.

The Rev. Mr. Michelfelder will return to Pittsburgh in August to finish his work before leaving for his new field as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Toledo, O. He will be installed September 20.

Woman Enacting Peacemaker's Role Socked

Anna Gallagher, 27, tried the role of peacemaker last night and got what the peacemaker usually gets, she testified in North Side Police Court today.

Mrs. Margaret Munroe, 52, of 622 Lowrie street, her landlady, was fined $10 on a disorderly conduct charge.

Miss Gallagher, a clerk in a bakery, testified Mrs. Munroe and Mrs. Betty Bucek, her employer, became involved in an argument in the store. She said she tried to pacify them and received a blow in the face which broke her glasses.

MATE ACCUSES EX-FILM STAR

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 9.—(AP.)—Katherine McDonald Holmes, former Pittsburgh screen star, is charged with extreme cruelty and with having an "uncontrollable and unbridled temper" in an answer filed by Christian R. Holmes to her separate maintenance suit here.

Holmes, wealthy Montecito resident and nephew of Max Fleischmann, yeast manufacturer, further charged his wife treated his friends with discourtesy. He said he had sought a reconciliation several times since their separation, June 7.

Mrs. Holmes was being treated in a hospital for an injured shoulder when her suit, charging cruelty, was filed more than a week ago, but has since taken a hotel cottage here. The guard she employed because she said she feared her husband would attempt to remove her or her 18-month-old baby to his estate is still maintained.

BEAMISH RAPS 'GANG TRICK'

HARRISBURG, July 9.—Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, today branded a court appeal of Philadelphia's County Commisisoners as a "trick of the gang" to attempt to avoid installing voting machines in Philadelphia.

He said he planned to use the limit of his power to have Philadelphia equipped, stating that in Center and Northampton counties the Commissioners were refusing to accept the mandate of the people and the law, but that he would also act there.

Following the Philadelphia group's appeal to Judge Edward Lewis, of the Common Pleas Court there, to permit them to waive the mandate, on the plea that they are not able to redistrict Philadelphia and install machines in time for the fall primaries, Beamish said:

"Judge Lewis has no more authority to set aside the law than Kaiser Wilhelm in Holland."

Spurned, Father of 5 Kills Girl, Ends Life

LAKE TOXAWAY, N. C., July 9.—(AP.)—A 45-year-old father of five children yesterday at Sapphire Inn, near here, shot to death a pretty mountain girl who had spurned his attentions and then killed himself. Charlie Bryson called Edna Hinkle, 18, to the back door of the inn, where she was a waitress, and fired six bullets into her body.

He went to his home nearby, sent his children away and fired six bullets into his breast.

STREET JOBS UP TO LANG

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang was considering today plans for improvement of streets in Mt. Washington, West Liberty and Beechview sections, asked of Council yesterday by property owners.

Among projects asked was the improvement of Woodruff street, from the Sawmill Run boulevard to Virginia avenue, in Mt. Washington, paving of Rubicon street, Grace street and Merrimac street.

Council's committee on hearings referred the petitions to Lang for cost estimates.

Federal Official Dies Of Sleeping Sickness

DETROIT, July 9.—(AP.)—Warren E. Long, 40, chairman of the board of special inquiry for aliens of the United States Immigration Service, died of sleeping sickness at the United States Marine Hospital here yesterday. Burial will be at Washington Courthouse, O.

Seeking Sainthood For Mother Seton

NEW YORK, July 9.—(INS.)—A delegaton of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae will sail today for Rome, seeking the canonization of Mother Elizabeth Seton, founder of the American Sisters of Charity. They will be received by the Pope on July 24.

PLAN OCEAN AIR STATIONS

AKRON, O., July 9.—(AP.)—The first of eight seadromes, proposed man-made islands to dot the Atlantic at intervals of 360 miles between the United States and England, will be constructed off the east coast of this country next spring, Capt. Hugh Duncan Grant, meteorological consultant to the promoters of the project, announced today.

Grant, visiting here to inspect the local Zeppelin dock and the Navy airship and to confer with Ward T. Van Orman, balloonist and meteorologist, predicted that within a year from the placing of the first seadrome the other seven ocean-landing fields will be completed and a trans-Atlantic air line in operation.

The seadromes, Capt. Grant explained, will have a six-acre deck, which will be 70 feet above the water surface, or 30 feet higher than storm waves. The seadromes will be buoyed by air tanks extending 40 feet below the surface. Tanks filled with pig iron and giving the seadromes their stability will extend 177 feet downward.

SUMMER COURT TERM OPENS

Summer session of Criminal Court got under way today when 47 pleas were listed before Judge James H. Gray. During the morning session, Judge Gray heard 30 pleas of persons indicted for crimes after the regular court period was closed for July and August last Tuesday.

Under the new plan, pleas are to be accepted Monday and Thursday of each week so that persons who so desire may present their case to court without awaiting resumption of jury trials in September.

The longest sentence given by Judge Gray was from five to 15 years in the workhouse, meted out to Charles Cooper, 30, Negro, of 7304 Kelly street, who had pleaded guilty to stealing a check protector and to have passed $200 worth of bogus checks.

Judge Sylvester Snee sat in Quarter Sessions Court where he heard numerous petitions for the appointment of election officials to fill vacancies, and for the changing of polling places.

Pittsburgh Youth Accused in Crash

COLUMBUS, O., July 9.—(AP.)—John Iverson, 18, of Pittsburgh, was charged with manslaughter today in connection with the death of City Detective Thomas Day from injuries received when two automobiles collided.

At the home of Lorenz Iverson, 5622 Bartlett street, it was said today that young Iverson lived there. Information concerning the accident in Columbus resulting in the death of a detective was refused.

5 Prisoners Killed In Bulgar Jailbreak

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 9.—(AP.)—Five prisoners were reported killed last night in an attempted jail break from the Slivene central prison, in which a number of other prisoners participated. They were pursued by armed guards, two of whom were reported injured.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. ©1931, Carter Medicine Company.

Fuller, Former Star Circus Clown, Dies

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 9.—(AP.)—Frank Fuller, 65, former star clown with the Barnum & Bailey Circus and known in the "big top" as "Texas," died yesterday after a heart attack.

The old-time showman, playing with a circus at Savin Rock, here, claimed to be the originator of the "half-man-half-woman" act which was featured at the performances years ago.

Priests Denied Writ By Mexican Court

MEXICO CITY, July 9.—(AP.)—The Third District Court of Mexico City rejected yesterday a petition filed by Catholic priests of Vera Cruz for an injunction against the application there of the law restricting the number of priests.

The court held that the petitioners should first submit their complaints to the state Legislature.

Carrier Arrested In Letter Thefts

Harold W. Fulton, 22, a substitute letter carrier, of Indiana, Pa., was awaiting a hearing today before the United States commissioner, charged with embezzling and secreting letters. He was arrested late yesterday, according to Postoffice Inspectors L. C. Kennedy and H. L. Getchell, who said he confessed stealing 15 letters containing $549.

Peru Will Punish Rebellious Regiment

LIMA, Peru, July 9.—(AP.)—The War Ministry has announced it was punishing the 15th Infantry for its part in the Cuzco rebellion by crossing its number from the army ranks. It added that military justice will be merciless in punishing officers and troops found to have been disloyal. The decree means the eventual abolishment of the regiment.

Turco-Irak Trade Treaty Discussed

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 9.—(AP.)—King Feisal, of Irak, arrived at Istanbul this morning from Angora, where he and President Mustapha Kemal discussed a Turko-Irak commercial agreement.

Turkish political circles attached great importance to the Kemal-Feisal interviews, in which an agreement was reached to open immediate negotiations for treaties between Irak and Turkey.

COUNTESS ALBANI :-: Ex-Pittsburgh Star Rudy's Radio Guest :-: SYMPHONY CONCERT

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

JASCHA HEIFETZ' arrangement of the beautiful "Estrellita" is scheduled for Countess Olga Albani on KDKA at 9:30 tonight in the most colorful concert of her glamorous radio career . . . some of her other selections all of a Spanish nature, include the rousing "Valencia" and the touching story of the flower girl, "Clavelitos" . . . Rudy Vallee's guest on WCAE at 8 is Ann Greenway, who once headlined Pittsburgh vaudeville . . . Tschaikowsky's "1812 Overture" and Chabrier's "Espana" are booked for William Van Hoogstraten's concert from Lewisohn Stadium, WJAS at 10.

Darrell V. Martin

Tom Waring has returned to Cleveland after spending the holidays with his family at Tyrone. His regular time on WTAM is 9:30 every Thursday night.

Lloyd Thomas, most jovial of all radio people we know, had a birthday yesterday . . . and celebrated by having his usual two glasses of buttermilk and a pretzel for lunch. He reversed the usual procedure and paid the check for a table of 11.

Question a Day:

Is the Earl Liederman we hear on WPG the strong man we used to read about in magazines?—Gladys E., Blawnox.

Answer—Yes, ma'm. And of all things to broadcast, it's hard to imagine Earl Liederman, who hypnotized freckled America with his manly vigor, sighing into a microphone, "Let me hold your soft hand, my love; let me kiss your dear lips as before," but it's being done three times a week. He has withdrawn his name and is known now as "The Wandering Poet."

Hooray! Bob Weeden, "singing usher" who gives you the snappy West Point salute when entering Loew's Penn, has accepted an offer to be in Teddy Joyce's new unit. Teddy heard Bob's voice on KQV and immediately concluded that Bob deserved a better fate. And we're happy, because we've said that right along.

Studio Lights

Rudy Vallee's secret marriage is the big news today . . . congratulations, boy!

No one is supposed to know, either, that Kathryn Trnavsky, WCAE soprano, and Dr. Arthur Malucky, of Cleveland, were married Monday . . . best wishes!

When radio tubes go blooey at KDKA they don't throw them away . . . the copper salvage in a 50KW tube is worth $200 . . .

Louis Kaufman, senior KDKA announcer, is enjoying a week's rest . . .

B. A. Rolfe has been asked to slow up his music this Saturday night . . . and a new announcer is to take Thundering Thorgie's place . . .

James J. Corbett is to give his impression of the Schmeling-Stribling fight on KDKA next Monday night at 6:30 . . .

Paul Miller is a whole lot of people in his "Skippy and Ray" feature tonight, the finale until September . . .

WLBW at Oil City may change ownership soon . . . James Weir, former Pittsburgh radio writer, is manager of the station . . .

Two girls from Morrow, O., came to KDKA the other afternoon for an audition as a harmony team. When Ed Harvey turned in a report to Frederick G. Rodgers, program chief, said Mr. Rodgers scanned the sheet quizzically and said: "If we hire them we can bill them as The Tomorrows," thus adding a chapter to the old railroad gag about wanting to buy a ticket today to Morrow.

Dwight Latham, of the Jesters, is partial to frankfurters and spinach . . . a taste he developed through necessity when working as an insurance clerk at $20 a week. . .

A pageant of pioneer life in the Salt Lake Valley, directed by James Cruze of movie fame, is billed for WJZ-KDKA listeners Saturday night, July 25. . .

King George brings out the gold microphone for a trans-Atlantic speech at 10:45 a. m. Saturday, July 18. . . WJAS is the local outlet. . .

Donald Withycomb, director of station relations for the National Broadcasting Company, visited Pittsburgh yesterday . . . a splendid fellow and the husband of Mathilde Harding, former Pittsburgh girl. . .

Main street and Park avenue are united at last, by radio . . . all important events at the Waldorf-Astoria are to be broadcast by NBC through arrangements made by M. H. Aylesworth. . .

Fritz Forsch, violinist in B. A. Rolfe's Orchestra, is conductor of New York's Police Band. . .

The Weigel Sisters (Mabel, Frances) of WJAS, were the guests of Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson yesterday . . . they are in New York for auditions at NBC and CBS. . .

Jesse Crawford, CBS organist, is said to be migrating toward NBC.

Jack Ostfeld, KQV singer, once played the role of "Huckleberry Finn" on the stage . . . but gave up histrionics when fellow actors preceding him dropped beans and peas for the discomfort of his bare feet . . .

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, July 9.—The ringside style of M. McNamee shows a vast improvement. Gone apparently is the old confusion, the old tendency to call the wrong names.

Yet nothing came out of Cleveland as dramatic as the vocal cry uttered by J. Andrew White during the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Philadelphia: "He's not the same Dempsey at all". . . There is inclination in certain quarters to attribute to radio the financial failure of the Cleveland battle, if $30,000 on the red side of the ledger can be called financial failure.

It would seem at this distance that fight fans were skeptical of the ring prowess of either Schmeling or Stribling. In spite of the ballyhoo in newspapers and on the radio, neither fighter was able to seize the imagination in the manner of the Manassa Mauler. Radio, it would seem, needs a Dempsey.

Unquestionably, the elaborate ballyhoo that precedes a heavyweight war has much to do with the vast ear-cupping that attends it. Still, our spies say large numbers of the population were indifferent to the loudspeakers the other night, did not take the trouble to find out if the usual drama and color of a big fight were present.

The spectacle simply was not sufficiently alluring—not as alluring as the recent meeting of Twenty Grand and Jamestown or the battle last fall of Notre Dame and Southern California.

Broadway seldom comes in today for glorification on the radio sea. Is it because Broadway, now surrendered to fruit juice stands, chain stores and chop suey parlors, no longer possesses its former magic for the hinterland or even for the New Yorker?

We shall ever regret—hand me a handkerchief, Jenkins!—that radio came too late to record the glamor or the street before Volstead stormed out of Minnesota with the fire of the reformer in his eyes and a padlock in his pocket.

Americans, according to the more discerning Europeans, may not know how to make love, but they know how to make love songs . . . Cymbal players are the least occupied men in radio. The cymbal is too similar in sound to the crash of thunder to win the acclaim of the broadcasters . . . The most occupied men in radio are, of course, the crooners . . . They also comprise the largest unit on the air. When their ranks were small they were more effective . . . Then they agitated ether only at intervals. And restless and lonely women waited for them with panting enthusiasm . . . Today they are heard too often and there is little waiting on the cretonned sofas.

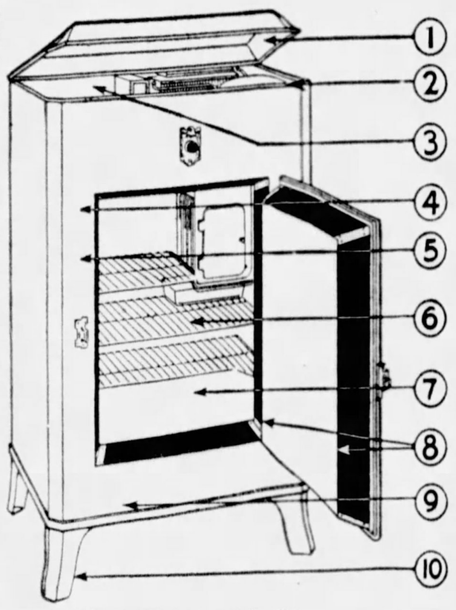
Clean

with a 3 Year Guarantee

Every woman wants a clean kitchen, for cleanliness is the secret of health. Majestic Refrigerator was designed for cleanliness . . . . and beauty. From the sanitary flat top to the broom-high legs, there is not a single hiding place for dust. Even the mechanism is sealed in steel that dirt cannot get into. This great refrigerator is built to last a lifetime. Its sturdy, rugged construction means years of perfect refrigeration for you. A three-year guarantee, of course.



Made in 3 sizes, with 7¼, 8½ and 10 square feet of shelf area. All have Pyroxalin lacquer exterior finish, Porcelain-on-Steel interior, Positive Air Circulation and Hermetically Sealed Unit.

Majestic's 10 points of Cleanliness:

1. A sanitary flat top covers the refrigerating mechanism. No place for dirt to hide here and is easily cleaned with a damp cloth. Extra shelf space.
2. The Majestic refrigerating unit is completely sealed up in a steel shell. Dirt cannot get into the mechanism.
3. The air chamber surrounding the mechanism is kept absolutely clean by forced circulation of air.
4. The beautiful pyroxalin lacquer exterior finish is easily polished by wiping it with a damp cloth.
5. The Majestic cabinet is a one-piece welded steel shell. There are no joints or edges to collect dirt.
6. The glider bar shelves are instantly removable. The shelf supports are rounded knobs which cannot catch wiping cloths.
7. The Majestic Refrigerator lining is a one-piece porcelain-on-steel interior with rounded corners for easy cleaning.
8. The composition facing on door and food compartment edges is impervious to moisture and to dirt.
9. Note the absence of a dirt-catching chamber found on many refrigerators that have the mechanism at the bottom.
10. The broom-high legs of a Majestic keep the refrigerator off the floor so that you easily sweep or mop beneath it when you clean the kitchen.

Low first payment and liberal terms make purchase easy . . . let a Majestic Dealer go over Majestic's 30 great features with you . . . today.

DEAD SOLDIERS -:- Liquor Bottles Collect Dust in Prop-Room -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- News and Notes About Coming Attractions

Thousands of Empties Await Call to Service From Film Director

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.

Sad reminders of a more liberal age are the thousands of odd-shaped liquor bottles gathering dust on the shelves of studio prop rooms.

At R-K-O alone, more than 11,000 lie awaiting the call of the director. Beautifully crackled decanters from Italy, earthenware jugs from Holland, cut-glass bottles from France and the original "bootleg" half pints from the Civil War days, they all suffer the same fate—the sophisticates and the low-brows of the pre-prohibition era are shelved with democratic unconcern.

But if it were different! Imagine these in your cellar: Ng Kapy's from Tientsin, China; Tapo Chianti from Old California; La Gitanos, from the rum distilleries of Jamaica; Rhum Negritas, from the West Indies; Goenaga Sauternes from Bordeaux; Pilsener, from Hamburg; Gilka Kummel, from Berlin; Pietro de-Vecchis, from Milan; Dawson's Scotch, from Glasgow, and the well-remembered Haig and Haig.

Clarence Brown

Poor soldiers from many heated battles. To think they must lie there in the graveyard of prohibition, restless awaiting resurrection.

And in the meanwhile, they run the risk of falling to an even lower estate. The movies have their moral obligation. And soon the drinking scene may be no more.

A DEAD LANGUAGE

Among the bigger laughs of the week is Eddie Cantor's gag about the Russian immigrant who went to a New York medium seeking to communicate with his late uncle.

After a while, a voice was heard and the medium directed:

"It is your uncle, speak to him."

"But tell me, uncle," exclaimed the startled Russian, "when did you learn to speak English?"

LATEST GOSSIP

These careless radio announcers. When Ann Harding finished work Saturday, she went home and turned on the radio to listen to the fight. No doubt she thought of Husband Harry Bannister, who had flown to Reno to be there in person. At that moment, the distant announcer remarked brightly:

"Mr. Harry Bannister and Ann Harding are just taking their seats." Of course the announcer was just reading from a list of names. But it was a tough spot for Harry at that. And with her sense of humor Ann probably made him stutter . . . Wallie Beery, the hardy pilot, rose with the dawn to fly back to an 8:30 call at the studio . . . Most of the writers at R-K-O now are working on a week to week basis . . . John Gilbert and his Hawaiian princess are still that way about each other . . . Someone asked Al Cohn what the new trend of motion pictures would be. "Hysteria," he replied tersely . . . Viola Dana was back in town this week to visit her sister, Shirley Mason (Mrs. Sidney Lanfield.) Originally Vi had intended to stay for the blessed event at the Lanfield home, but she got lonesome and will return to Colorado Springs, her home since she married Jimmie Thompson . . . Clarence Brown is on one of those diets. Claims to have lost 10 pounds in two weeks . . . Adrienne Ames, whose husband makes his millions in New York, will have her first screen role in "The Dover Road" . . . The once sacred precincts of the De Mille bungalow at M. G. M. now are invaded by scenarists.

Shirley Mason

MORE MYSTERY DRAMAS

The mystery melodramas which some think will be the successors to the gangster films are getting under way at several of the studios. Paramount will start to work soon upon "Through the Window," the story they purchased from Martin Flavin and Joe Sherman. Instead of George Bancroft, who was originally announced, the picture is to have William Boyd. Shooting probably will start after he completes an engagement with Chester Morris in "Corsair."

True Love

Eleanor Boardman finds true love doesn't run smooth in the film, "Women Love Once," which opens tomorrow in both Fulton and Sheridan Square.

Notes About Coming Bills

Cameras danced as well as William Haines in ballroom scenes of "Just a Gigolo," his new picture, opening tomorrow in the Penn. Mounted on whirling platforms they followed Irene Purcell and Haines through the mazes of the dance with microphones overhead moving with them to record the dialogue "on the fly."

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., has reached stardom in his latest picture, "Chances," which opens tomorrow in the Stanley. "Chances" was adapted to the screen by First National from the novel of the same name by A. Hamilton Gibbs.

PAUL LUKAS FEATURED

For the first time in their Hollywood careers, Paul Lukas and Eleanor Boardman are seen together in the principal roles of a talkie in "Women Love Once," coming to the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow. This film replaces "confessions of a Co-Ed," originally scheduled to open at that time.

Warren Hymer and Spencer Tracy, who last appeared together in "Up the River" are paired again in "Goldie," which comes to the Warner Sunday midnight. Jean Harlow plays the title role.

NEW SHOWBOAT PLAY

"In Old Kentucky," a romantic melodrama of life in Dixie, will open a week's engagement Monday night on Capt. Menke's Golden Rod Showboat, at Montrose, above Aspinwall.

"Laugh and Get Rich" opens Monday in the Enright for three days. On next Thursday "Annabelle's Affairs," with Victor McLaglen and Jeannette MacDonald, will be presented.

"The Good Bad Girl," with Mae Clarke, Marie Prevost, James Hall and Robert Ellis, and "The Sky Raider," with Lloyd Hughes and Marceline Day, open in the Harris Saturday.

Returns

Wesley Eddy returns to the Penn stage tomorrow for a week's engagement in the revue, "Bouquet of Melodies."

Walter McGrail Cast In Mystery Film

The cast of "Murder by the Clock," the Rugus King mystery thriller of a man murdered twice in a single evening, has been about completed with the addition of Walter McGrail, one of Hollywood's "most in demand" character players. The picture has in its principal roles William Boyd, Lilyan Tashman, Regis Toomey, Irving Pichel and Sally O'Neil.

PLAYS, PLAYERS AND BY-PLAY — By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Joe E. Brown, the boy with the broadest grin, will take to the stage again on completion of the photoplay, "Local Boy Makes Good." Joe, who used to play the diamond game before he became an actor, will make a tour in the baseball comedy, "Elmer the Great," in which he played several weeks in Los Angeles earlier this year. Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan thought it out.

Small Timer says the postman who takes a walk on his day off has an admirable quality to be putting his head and sole into his work like that.

Dita Parlo, recently seen on the Pitt screen in a German musical movie, "Melody of the Heart," is making her American film debut in support of Bebe Daniels. The photoplay is "The Honor of the Family," in which she has an important part.

Small Timer says he mourns the disappearance of the flagpole-sitter and concludes that he had to come down because everything else has.

If consent of the Rockefeller family is obtained, the life of John D., who has done a lot to publicize the lowly dime, will be filmed. George Arliss likely will impersonate the big parafine and gas man in case the picture in oils is done.

Small Timer says his wife, with all her faults, is not two-faced, because, if she were, she'd wear the other one.

What kind of gags make Queen Mary, of England, laugh? Take it from Billy Bennett, English comic, the royal lady titters at the same simple ones that make Julia O'Grady grin. He states that, at a "command" performance, he told the one about a man with whiskers who reminded him of a guy who had swallowed all of a horse except the tail. And the queen roared. Such fun!

Cates' Californians At Marble Inn

Opie Cates and his Californians will be the feature attraction at the opening of Marble Inn, East Ohio street, Millvale, tonight. The band comes here direct from the Drake Hotel in Chicago, where it has just finished an engagement. Last February the band played for the junior prom of the University of Pittsburgh. Its members are all students at the same school.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What effect have harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos upon the throat? A famous authority, retained by us to study throat irritation, says:

"The tissues above and below the vocal chords and the vocal chords themselves may become acutely or chronically congested as a result of the inhalation of irritating fumes, in the case of chemists for example."

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays, expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. So "Consider your Adam's Apple"—that is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

The morning newspapers are a trial to most entertainers, at that . . . The lads who cover the new productions for the a. m. rags get restless around 11 o'clock . . . There are presses to feed . . . Reviews to prepare . . . Traffic to brave . . . And that extreme nervousness that goes with jotting down a column or so of wordage . . . So that it will make some sense, and be well proof-read—and corrected in time for the last edition . . . Shucks! The way I raved to my companion at the "Follies" over the "Changing the Guards" number . . . In which all the sirens drill with aluminum muskets—and march in West Point Cadet precision off stage, while the pipes play "Annie Laurie," or is it "Auld Lang Syne?" . . . Then, I failed even to mention it in my report! . . . Or that Harry Richman's appeal is something to enjoy . . . Or that Albert Carroll's mimicking of Jack Barrymore is tip-top stuff . . . Or the grand Rasch Dancers . . . Miss Etting and Master LeRoy hypnotized me so . . . Oh, well, Richman is a star—and he has had his sugary comments . . . So long as he continues to delight with his contagious deliveries, so long will he remain on the heights . . . He took half the salary the Palace paid him to appear in the "Follies." . . . Because, I suspect, he loves nice things . . . As who doesn't?

There is a kick in sitting along the sidelines—watching the tots with merit "come up" . . . That Rita White girl at the Calais, frixample . . . She's "hot" . . . Needs tuition, of course, and poise, but she excites you with her Louis Armstrong delivery . . . Ed Wynn was asking me about her for his new show . . . Wonder if he went to look her over . . . I see Al Segal up there a lot . . . Maybe he will Ethel Merman her—teach her the rhythm he got from Bee Palmer, his one-time mate on and off the stage . . . Merman was a stenographer a few years ago . . . Then an ordinary imitator of Libby Holman—until Mr. S. happened on the scene and taught her rhythm . . . Now looka! . . . Broadway certainly looked more like the Main Artery in Oskaloosa during the holiday week-end . . . I never dreamed the Playground of the World could be so lonely . . . I couldn't even run into a person I dislike! . . . The horror of it! . . . The numerous panhandlers helped break the spell a little . . . Even the sin-spots were closed . . . There wasn't a cop in sight to sass you for passing a light . . . Yes, indeedy—New York! . . . It must be worse, though, being a stranger . . . If I were a drinking man—I'd have gone out and got good and drunk—which is exactly what I did.

I liked that piece by Ben De Casseres in the July Bookman. . . . He Socko-analyzes some of the Yankee men of Letters, and summed up Heywood Broun with: ". . . he is altogether, then, a great American Public Servant, eternally sounding the slogan of Robert Benchley: Service, not Self!" . . . They were saying of him only the other night how a psychoanalyist studied him . . . The expert exclaimed to Broun why he went in for Crusading so much. . . . "You just can't stand seeing the little fellow get the worst of it," he was told . . . How true that is of Broun . . . There was the time a good friend abused a little chap at a party . . . The little guy was smacked about a bit, and Broun got very moody over the one-sided bout . . . He quarreled with his heavyweight friend, too, telling him he was yellow for striking a chap not his size . . . Then Broun went home, where he tossed in bed thinking about the outrage . . . Until he decided to get dressed again, and go and square things . . . So he dashed over to his bully friend and punched him in the nose, saying: "Now I feel better—although I know you can lick me" . . . The pal socked Broun, sending him away with a black eye . . . And the next day they made up . . . "I simply had to hit you for hitting the boy," Broun exclaimed. . . . Yes, indeedy—crusading—another form of suicide.

That shop-keeper in the 50s probably doesn't let his tiny son do it for the attraction it is . . . But it is a swelegant crowd-enticer. His little boy, about 3 years of age, plays in the shop-window in the scantiest of sun suits . . . And the crowds collect and titter . . . A better ad is the one the drug store at 55th Street and 6th Avenue features . . . The place is on the same block as Mr. Ziegfeld's House of All Nations—and the darlings, as they are mockingly called, patronize the spot between scenes in the "Follies," to quench their thirsts . . . They dash in and out of it in their rompers, pajamas, costumes or negligees—while sons and other women's husbands stand and gape . . . Ask for autographs, photographs, phone numbers and dates . . . Won't the collitch boys in New Haven love to know that . . . I see Guy Loomis, the last of the Better Spenders, is back . . . After so many months in Havana . . . He is the florist's, the night club's and the jeweler's Ace In The Hole . . . You knew instinctively that he'd be back—now that the prettiest girls are . . . Balzac thought the beauty of a woman's shoulders is the last to leave her . . . And Georges Sand thought it not desirable that a young girl grow good looking too early . . . The only irritating thing about a beautiful girl is that, invariably, she knows she is.

Goody for Mr. McGeehan, the sports oracle for the Trib . . . He makes the Boxing Commission look so silleh by reminding it that Schmeling's name is the only name of a champion omitted from the base of the Muldoon-Tunney Trophy which is ignored in Madison (Not so) Square Garden . . . The Commission, it appears, regarded Jack Sharkey as the World's Champion, for it "appointed" Sharkey the Head Man . . . Sounds like a comic opera to me . . . I can hear the late Harry Reichenbach telling me of the time he managed a Handcuff King, who toured the smaller towns . . . After plastering the town with the "expert's" name—announcing what a wizard he was at releasing himself from any locks, etc.—the Handcuff Monarch and Reichenbach discovered that they had lost the only key to their hotel room! . . . What to do? . . . If they admitted it to the hick hotel clerk, he would have spread it all over the village and ruined their prestige . . . So Harry and his wizard slept in the theater all night . . . All I kept thinking of up at the Temple during the final salute for Harry on Monday was that we, his pals, were there feeling sorry for him—when by rights Harry should have been feeling sorry for us . . . We have to go on worrying—struggling—sweating—for what?

7 HELD IN TAXI WAR OUTBREAK

Seven men were held for court on charges of violence in connection with the taxicab drivers' strike at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Ralph N. Parkhill, of Aspinwall, last night.

Charges against Guy Burford, county policeman at the Liberty Tubes, were withdrawn on the assurance of County Lieut. John Eckert that his men would not become similarly involved in the future. Burford was accused of assisting two strikers in attacking and beating Harry Foster, a working driver, near the Liberty Tubes Sunday.

The men held were Russell R. Blumer, Morris Berglas, R. E. Kirksey, George Steading, J. Kozurivitch, Albert Bell and Walli Bauer.

Three others, John Moore, Henry Wiltsfeur and James Watt, will be arraigned before Justice Parkhill Monday.

HILAND TAXICAB HEARING ENDS

With the testimony of three former employes of the Parmelee Transportation Company, the hearing on the application of the Hiland Cab Company for a certificate to operate 200 cabs in Pittsburgh before Public Service Commissioner Walker was concluded today.

Edward Ennis, president and treasurer of the proposed new company and secretary-treasurer of the Frank B. Saupp, Inc., was the last witness. The others were: E. J. Bigham, R. P. O'Neil and Charles E. Fagan, Jr., all former road supervisors for the Parmelee company and now employed by the Hiland company.

Opponents to the application will be heard at a later date, Commissioner Walker said.

Arnold Gymnasium To Be Ready in Fall

Rapidly nearing completion the new $100,000 gymnasium of Arnold School, Braddock avenue, East End, will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the fall semester, September 16, it was announced yesterday by C. W. Wilder, headmaster. The gymnasium was the gift of R. E. Withers, presidetn of the board of trustees.

The work of remodeling the main building, providing for the addition of 11 rooms, will be completed early in the fall. This new addition will provide for an increase in enrollment.

American Commerce Agent, Wife Saved

ISTANBUL, July 9.—(AP.)—Julian Gillespie, American commercial attache, of Baltimore, Mrs. Gillespie and their child, and the Brazilian consul and his wife and child were rescued by a Turkish tugboat from a sinking American embassy motorboat off Seraglio Point Tuesday night.

The motorboat hit the hulk of a wrecked ship lying off the point and began to fill. The tugboat heard the calls of distress and rescued all the occupants.

OFFICER VICTIM OF HIT-RUN DRIVER

Patrolman Injured Trying To Halt Speeding Car Which Periled Children

Sixteen persons, including a city policeman, were in hospitals today suffering injuries as a result of a series of automobile accidents in the Pittsburgh disrict last night.

Cornerman Frank Kuszajewski, 26, of 3356 Ridgeway street, was in Mercy Hospital with a probable fracture of the skull suffered when struck by a hit-and-run motorist whom he pursued after a group of children had been endangered. The officer overtook the fleeing autoist in the Ohio River boulevard. He jumped in front of the speeding car to stop it, when the driver deliberately hit him, police say.

6 HURT IN CRASH

Six persons were injured when automobiles in which they were riding collided in Freeport road near Blawnox last night. They were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

Those injured were Robert Sinnott, 50, of 2108 Monongahela avenue, Swissvale; his wife Margaret, 49; Mrs. Margaret Miller, 45, of 7201 Raymond street, Swissvale; Saul Blummer, 36, of 113 South Evaline street; Mrs. Margaret Bates, 48, of 139 Forty-sixth street, and Mrs. Cecelia Culligan, 56, of Ridge street, Rankin.

When an automobile he was driving was sideswiped by another in Stanton avenue, near North Negley avenue, last night, James M. Burt, 32, of 7003 Upland street, suffered a laceration over his left eye.

Injured in an automobile collision at Craft avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies last night, Viola Dunn, of 821 Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, was treated at Montefiore Hospital.

Budd Brown, 35, a Negro, of Columbus, was in Allegheny General Hospital suffering concussion of the brain as a result of being struck by an automobile at Federal street and Parkway.

BOY RUN DOWN

James McKinley, 10, of 569 Richland lane, was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital when he was struck by an automobile near his home.

James Arrigo, 20, of 1414 North Murtland avenue, suffered injuries to his left leg when his motorcycle and an automobile collided at Deary street and Lincoln avenue.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Four men and two horses were injured slightly when an automobile and a garbage wagon, belonging to the American Reduction Company, collided in West Liberty avenue early today.

The injured were William Lashley, 52, of 2961 Melrose avenue, Dormont, driver of the car; Oscar A. Shaffer, 54, of Indiana, Pa., his passenger, and William Cole, 40, of 69 Reed street, and Edmund Edwards, 33, of 1881 Rounette street, Penn Township, Negroes, employed on the garbage wagon.

Contracts for Brakes and Machinery May Bring Job Boom in Plants Here

Orders approximating $2,500,000 have been received by the Westinghouse company here.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has placed an order for over $1,000,000 worth of equipment with the Westinghouse Air Brake Company. This will provide brakes for 150 of the electric locomotives to be built for the railroad soon.

BUILD 230 ENGINES

A total of 230 locomotives will be built and the order for the equipment for the remaining 80 may be placed shortly.

Officials of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company declared the order would be filled over a period of several months so an estimate of the number of men to be affected at the Wilmerding plant could not be made at present.

BATTLESHIP JOBS

A contract for new main propelling machinery on three battleships, to cost $1,395,632, was awarded by the Navy Department to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company yesterday. The machinery is one item in the modernization of the battleships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho, authorized at the last session of Congress at an estimated cost of $30,000,000.

Another order has been received by the Westinghouse company from the Puget Sound Power and Light Company for a 25,000 K. V. A. synchronous condenser with automatic control switching equipment. The condenser will be made at the East Pittsburgh plant.

WOLF TO SEEK JUDGESHIP

Attorney Robbin B. Wolf has announced that he will seek the Republican nomination for judge of Common Pleas Court, provided he is indorsed by the bar referendum. He has been practicing law for 26 years and has done much active trial work in state and federal courts.

Attorney Wolf is prominent among the Lutheran laymen, serving on important committees in the United Lutheran Church in America. Several years ago he was offered the presidency of Gettysburg College, but elected to continue in the practice of law.

HELPING HAND AIDES FETED

Two hundred and fifty physicians and nurses, who aided at the Helping Hand during the winter months, were guests of Joseph Trees at his Treesdale farm on the Warrendale road yesterday.

Following an afternoon in the Treesdale pool, the doctors and nurses, representing six hospitals, were the guests at a dinner, and later there was dancing. The guests were taken to the farm in buses and private automobiles.

Kansas City Mail Planes to Land Here

Air mail service between New York and Kansas City will begin July 20, the postoffice department in Washington announced yesterday. Pittsburgh is one of the stops on the route. The first plane is expected to arrive at Bettis Field between 10 and 11:30 p. m.

Ring, Cash and Gun Stolen from Home

Alex Flinn, of 3417 Bates street, reported to police that his home had been entered through a rear window, which had been left open, and a watch, valued at $25; a ring worth $50 and a revolver taken.

Threatened by Wife, Divorce Seeker Says

His wife deliberately punctured the tires of his automobile June 11 last, and the next day threatened to "puncture" him with a knife, according to the bill of particulars of John Wilhelm filed in Common Pleas Court in his divorce suit against Esther Wilhelm. Both live at 2434 Dewey street, Munhall.

They were married July 18, 1921. He charged cruelty and indignities.

Grocer Questioned After Fire in Store

Frank Swenda, 45, Springdale grocer, was held by county detectives today for questioning in connection with an alleged attempt to fire his home and grocery store at 501 Grant street, Springdale, early yesterday.

Four firemen were overcome by smoke during the fire which did slight damage to the three-story frame dwelling.

SMUGGLED RUM FOUND IN CAR

Assorted Canadian liquors valued at more than $12,000 were seized late yesterday by prohibition agents in the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad freight station.

The contraband, which arrived here in three shipments, was believed to have been smuggled from Canada to the Boston harbor and from there sent by rail. The seizure consisted of 100 cases of 24 bottles each.

One shipment, in barrels, was billed as linseed oil; the second, in steel drums, as grease, and the third, packed in boxes, was labeled as dry goods. Each had been consigned to firms which, agents said, were fictitious.

Two alleged cutting plants, one at 39 Washington street, and the other at 843 North St. Clair street, yielded the agents large quantities of whisky, they reported. Charles Samraney, 26, was arrested at the Washington street address and Essie Greenberg, 54, at the latter place, according to the agents.

St. Paul Church Picnics at Park

A program of athletics, amusements and free refreshments has been arranged for the First St. Paul's German Evangelical Church's picnic, which is being held today at West View Park. The outing is under the direction of a committee headed by William Hirt.

NEW BOARD HITS AGAIN AT KLINE

A statement that the new board of registration commissioners will oppose any member of a city, county or state committee of a political party being appointed as a registrar was issued late yesterday by J. K. Morrow, chairman.

It was the second time within three days that the new board has taken action unfavorable to the Kline-Coyne organization. The board's first official act was to clean house of all employes of the office, except a deputy recorder. The board has let it be known that the recommendation of the ward chairmen would count for nought in the selection of registrars.

The board's statement said:

"In adopting this policy the board is merely attempting to get as far away as possible from showing preference to any political faction or group."

It is the opinion of political observers that the removal of the organization appointees as registrars in each city district will seriously affect plans of the organization.

M'GOVERN MAN GETS TAX JOB

The trend of political winds for the fall campaign, so far as County Treasurer John Francies is concerned, was indicated, political observers said, today in the appointment of Arthur Drumm as chief tax clerk in Francies' office.

He is regarded as a follower of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and State Senator Frank J. Harris, both pronounced independents, and replaces Harry Chalmers, an old line organization man.

Drumm was employed in McGovern's office when the latter was county controller, but was dismissed when the incumbent, Robert G. Woodside, an organization man, took office.

P. R. R. Transfers Three Employes

C. C. Crow, supervising agent of the Conemaugh division, Pennsylvania Railroad, has been made agent at the Pittsburgh transfer, Pitcairn, replacing E. A. Ford, who has been transferred to Buffalo. He will be succeeded by S. E. Macklin, formerly supervising agent of the Wheeling division.

Light Firm Workers Set Safety Record

Duquesne Light Company's 2,700 employes worked during June of this year without a lost time accident, it was announced yesterday. This is the first time since the "June No Accident" campaign was started in 1925 that a 100 per cent record for the peak accident month of June has been attained, according to E. J. Kreh, manager of the accident prevention bureau.

Wife Killed, Man Sues for $25,000

William Gross, of the South Side, asked $25,000 damages for the death of his wife, Rose Gross, by an automobile, in a suit against the American Reduction Company filed in Common Pleas Court. She was crossing West Carson street in the 1700 block May 31 when she was struck by an automobile of defendant company and died as a result, according to the suit.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 9.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Show you what enterprise will do—Claremore was one of the few towns that was built up so solid that it had no landing field. Even the adjoining country was one mass of suburban homes. Well overnight, in order to get our great Oklahoma pilot, Post, and his famous partner, Gatty, to come there, they just tore down and blasted out blocks of homes. Now they got the best landing field in the world (outside of the Templehoff Field in Berlin), just 10 minutes drive from the heart of Claremore. Of course (due to a constant Republican administration) most of these destroyed homes were mortgaged, but at that it shows what a real town can do. My friend, Frank Hawkes, has suggested making a landing field out of New York City. I knew somebody would think of a use for that ground some day.

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

Nation Owning Biggest Filing System to Win

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

We have the debt question nicely packed away in camphor for the summer.

Now Secretary Stimson is set to bundle the war business away in lavender and old lace.

Looks like victory is on the side of the nation with the biggest filing system.

And the Wickersham commish bobbed up again with its sixth report which cancels the first five documents and convinces us that the body of the letter is always in the postscript.

Another parley opens in London over the bewhiskered Young plan, which is being kicked around like a hat in an old-fashioned barroom fight.

The arguing will fortunately be in English. So we will understand the talk but not the subject. While the boy mumbleshooters are threshing out their ponderous plans, possibly Charley Dawes will explain why headwork is hard on the feet.

Andrew Mellon finally got his vacation in the south of France. He is going around the world in a telephone booth.

All our diplomats are absent or unaccounted for. Congress is home, the Treasury is practically for rent, the White House will be vacant over the weekend. But, like a gun, Washington is always more dangerous when it's supposed to be empty.

Murren and Walsh Work Out Final Plans for 18th State Convention

Final plans for the reception of more than 1,000 visitors at the eighteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association here July 21, 22 and 23, are to be worked out within the next few days by Chief County Detective George W. Murren and Superintendent Peter P. Walsh of the Pittsburgh police.

Supt. Walsh

Murren is head of the publicity committee and Walsh is head of the safety committee.

Assisting Walsh in arranging for the safety of the visitors will be the following: Assistant Superintendent Benjamin Marshall, Police Inspectors Jacob Dorsey, Joseph Elsner, Charles Faulkner, Charles Cahill, Bernard Kirley, Dennis Hennessy, Albert Beebe and James Hoey, of Pittsburgh, and Chief E. B. Miller, of Dormont, and Chief Thomas Saunders, of Stowe Township.

Murren's committee is composed of Detective Inspector Frank Boyd, Charles T. Vogle, police captain, Carnegie Steel Company; Robert H. Baun, warden, Allegheny County Workhouse; Chief Samuel Riddle, Coraopolis; Chief Wallace R. Bishop, Wilkinsburg; Chief William Kane, Mt. Lebanon; Chief Frank C. Sturn, Sewickley; Chief Charles J. Helwig, Oakmont; Chief Lewis F. Luckan, Avalon; James B. Sansom, Clyde S. Edeburn, Harry B. Cochran, assistant chief of county detectives, and Councilman Robert J. Alderdice, former director of public safety.

Held for Court

MISS HELEN GARDNER, 25

MISS HELENE ZEMER, 22

The two girls held for court on charges of shoplifting after hearings in Morals Court, in which they admitted stealing in downtown Pittsburgh stores after arrival from Johnstown.

WOMAN IN VICE CASE FREED

Billie Lobaugh, 36, appeared in Morals Court today accused of being the proprietor of a resort in Forbes street.

Inspector Albert Beebe testified:

"I've told her repeatedly to get out. She came over from Allegheny when they chased her out of there."

Miss Lobaugh answered:

"I was told I could open there and stay open."

Magistrate Thomas D. Jones did not inquire as to who told the woman she could "stay open," and dismissed her when she promised to move.

Dorothy La Mar, 25, arrested as a visitor in the Lobaugh house, also was discharged.

"Seems like Everybody's switching to Camels!"

Smoke a FRESH cigarette

LIKE crocuses on a lawn in spring, the familiar tan-and-silver Camel package now appears wherever smokers gather.

There's a reason for its outstanding popularity, deep-rooted in smoker-satisfaction and joy.

A blend of expertly chosen fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, Camels have a fragrance and an aroma all their own.

No matter where you buy them, thanks to the new Humidor Pack, all that fragrance and aroma now is yours to enjoy.

A special vacuum-cleaning process whisks away from Camel tobaccos the peppery dust that otherwise might sting the throat.

As for the Humidor Pack, this scientific wrapping of germ-safe moisture-proof Cellophane seals in every bit of natural factory-freshness—so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

Fine cigarettes kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition, that's the cool, mild, enjoyable Camel story.

So do your throat a favor, join the throng and switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons
Columbia Broadcasting System — every night except Sunday

● It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office

BIALAS HEADS LAWYER GROUP IN CAMPAIGN

Voluntary Committee of Attorneys to Work for Re-election of 7 Judges

Attorney Joseph H. Bialas has been named chairman of the lawyers' committee supporting the candidacies of Judges Ambrose B. Reid, Joseph A. Stadtfeld, Samuel H. Gardner, Sylvester J. Snee, W. Heber Dithrich, William H. McNaugher and John P. Ezan, seeking nomination at the coming primary election. Headquarters have been opened by the committee on the ground floor of the Grant Building.

Mr. Bialas

Assisting Attorney Bialas as vice chairmen in the campaign will be Attorneys Marcus W. Acheson, Jr., George E. Alter, C. F. C. Arensberg, James H. Duff, Edwin W. Smith and William Watson Smith. Attorney Robert B. Gerdts has been named secretary of the committee, with Attorneys Clem M. Sirobel and John W. Cost assistant secretaries, and Attorney Robert T. Houlden treasurer.

MAYVIEW WORK COSTS ARGUED

A brief hearing was conducted by City Council yesterday on a request for a warrant to pay the Pitt Construction Company $8,900.26 in connection with work done on construction of steam lines and other improvements at Mayview in 1928.

N. S. Sprague and E. D. Harshbarger of the construction company appeared and asked Council to consider payment of the bill at once. The company asserted that in its contract with the city there was no provision requiring employment of union labor. Later labor trouble developed at other jobs and as a result the company was forced to hire union labor at greater cost. The amount asked of Council is the difference between the original contract and the total including the increased labor cost.

Council directed that company representatives confer with Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Public Welfare Department, and Charles A. Waldschmidt, city solicitor.

Athlete's Foot Millions Have It

Starts Between Toes With Intense Itching and Burning

Nowadays you hear a lot about Athlete's Foot—Half of our adult population become infected at some time, according to a bulletin of the U. S. Public Health Service.

It's a bad disease to have—causes no end of itching misery and worry.

Look between your toes and under them tonight—are they cracked or blistered? Do they itch?

If you find any signs of this dread disease get a bottle of Emerald Oil at any drug store at once—apply this powerfully soothing and penetrating oil liberally—not only between and under the toes, but to the entire foot—the itching ceases at once.

Every live pharmacist dispenses Moone's Emerald Oil with the plain understanding that it will banish every symptom of Athlete's Foot in 2 weeks or money back—an 85-cent bottle lasts 2 weeks.

THOMAS NEXT TO TESTIFY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 9.—(AP.)—Former Traction Commissioner Harry Engle fought the attempts to eliminate jitneys in Youngstown after the Youngstown Municipal Railway Company and Pennsylvania-Ohio officials rejected his demand for profitable secret concessions at an amusement park, and his suggestion that he be named receiver for the railway with authority to buy up jitney certificates, C. S. McCalla, vice president of the Ohio Edison Company, testified yesterday.

McCalla, a defense witness in Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas' trial for blackmailing Engle, identified a letter from Engle saying that he (Engle) would use all means in his power to defeat the election of jitneys "until the matters between us are settled."

Trial will resume Monday with Thomas on the stand.

Second Flint Found Near Mastodon Bones

CROMWELL, Ind., July 9.—(AP.)—Everett R. Burmaster, curator of anthropology of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Museum, said a second flint arrowhead has been found during the excavation of bones of a mastadon on a farm near here.

Burmaster, in announcing the finding of the first arrowhead, said the find indicated a possibility that mastadons were not extinct when Indians lived in this part of the Middlewest.

Government Victor In Commons Vote

LONDON, July 9.—(AP.)—The government had an easy triumph last night in the House of Commons over recalcitrant left-wingers who moved the rejection of the unemployment insurance anomalies bill, which aims to remove some of the unsatisfactory features existing in unemployment insurance. The vote was 231 to 19.

BOY, 5, HURT BY FIRECRACKER

John Lemar, 5, a Negro, of 1408 Epiphany street, found a large firecracker near his home late yesterday, and carried it into the bathroom, where he placed it in the bathtub and exploded it.

Today he is in Passavant Hospital with burns on his face and chest, his thumb and forehead cut and burned, the tip of another finger gone and both eyes burned so seriously that he may lose sight of them, hospital authorities said.

His parents could not learn from him where he found the firecracker.

"I told my husband

I was through washing handkerchiefs"

WHY should any woman endure this disagreeable job any longer? It certainly is no job for a woman, and now it's entirely unnecessary.

Adopt Kleenex, as so many other women have done. For the entire family. They'll find it more convenient, and infinitely softer, cleaner and more comfortable as well. Kleenex is the perfect handkerchief for children.

Far more healthful

Kleenex is a soft, gentle tissue, handkerchief size. It costs so little that each tissue need be used but once.

How much more healthful than the unsanitary handkerchief! With Kleenex, a soiled tissue is destroyed at once, along with the germs it contains. This prevents the danger of self-infection.

And every time, you use a tissue that's absolutely fresh and clean. And absolutely dry . . . so important to comfort during hay fever and summer colds.

Many important uses

Use Kleenex for removing face creams, as authorities advise. Its great absorbency assures thorough cleansing of the pores.

Motorists like to keep a package in the car. Mothers find Kleenex useful in the nursery.

Kleenex comes in many lovely tints as well as white, in Cellophane-wrapped packages to keep tissues absolutely fresh and clean. The convenient package permits easy removal of tissues with one hand. At all drug, dry goods and department stores.

KLEENEX Disposable TISSUES

With Tire Prices so LOW why not buy a SET?

Everyone knows that one of the big thrills of getting a new car is riding on new tires all around.

Today new Goodyears are so cheap that you can have that same thrill on your present car.

You can have the safety — the fresh new tread — the stout new vitality of Supertwist cord — the honest mileage of Goodyear Pathfinders at the lowest prices in history.

It stands to reason that Goodyear — world's largest tire builder — can give you the greatest value for the price you pay.

More than ever before — Goodyear Pathfinder is the quality tire within the reach of all.

Get a set and forget tire troubles — safety is on the bargain counter.

Can Modern Girls With Shady Past Be Trusted?

Joe wondered. He had met a girl who at 16 had learned to be a wild little kid—who traveled with a fast crowd——

Joe didn't want to love her—but he did! And he said she loved him in return. Said she wanted to give up her wild ways—that she had learned better and wanted to turn over a new leaf.

Joe longed to believe her and trust her, but—dared he? Would she two-time him if he did?

IN SAME POSITION

"Why should she?" asks Evelyn. "Marriage means just as much to a woman as it does to a man and, if you'll give her a break, and keep faith yourself, she'll make good."

What makes Evelyn so sure? Listen:

"Dear Sally:

"I have been thinking deeply ever since I read the letter from Joe about his qualms over marrying a girl with a past, and your answer to him. And I say, 'Bravo, Sally!'

"I think I am in a position to know that the girl can be trusted to keep faith if Joe is worthy of her. I know, because I am in the same position that she is in. I have been going with a boy for two years, and he is the most straightforward, lovable man I've ever known. When I met him I was out looking for fun, smoking and drinking whenever I had the chance, because I thought that was the way to find a good time.

HAS KEPT FAITH

"Naturally, I didn't expect to fall in love with him, and he has told me that he tried hard not to fall in love with me, because he thought that I was chasing around. But, Sally, I wasn't . . . and I don't believe Joe's girl was either. You see, when I was 15, I started to work in a theater, and the influence of people there made me do things I didn't like, and make believe that I did like them.

"Joe, for your own sake, trust her! But don't just tell her that you trust her—and then unjustly accuse her of flirting with everyone with whom she speaks. If you expect her to keep her love for you, leave the responsibility of faithfulness on her shoulders, and don't keep drumming it into her.

"You see, I have kept faith with my Fred, because, after once showing me the difference between right and wrong, he has never said anything to me about it, but has taken it for granted that I would do the right thing. It makes it so easy that way. You can be so proud of being trusted that you can't let that trust down.

"After all, marriage means just as much to a woman as it does to a man. And just as a man hesitates to marry a woman with a past, a woman hesitates about the man she is to marry. If they both prove before marriage they are worthy, their marriage will be a long and happy one.

EVELYN."

TYPICAL MODERN GIRL

Who said that Modern Youngsters are all haywire?

Who said they were shallow and irresponsible, with no ideas beyond the newest dance and the latest speakeasy?

Was it you?

Doesn't Evelyn's fine pride and courage make you change your notion? Perhaps you'll say she is just one out of a thousand, but she isn't. She actually is typical of our new twentieth century crop of citizens.

Typical of spunky kids who can make mistakes, but who won't admit they're licked, even if they have made a bad beginning. Who, once they see the path ahead of them clear and straight, go out with a will to follow it—to build themselves into fine, worthwhile men and women.

I say bravo for them!

Many Sold on Slogan About Smiling When Things Go Wrong——Fay King

By FAY KING

Most persons are sold on that slogan about smiling when things go wrong.

Ask them how they are or how things are going and they usually come back with a cheery "fine and dandy" or "no kicking."

The result is everyone is satisfied and they don't get a second thought of praise or sympathy for the brave stand they take.

But on the other hand I've observed that those who go about whining and wailing, instead of weeping alone, seem to always have plenty of company around trying to cheer them up and talk them out of threatened suicide.

It seems to me they have discovered that misery not only likes company but gets it—and rather jolly company most of the time!

Household Hints

Wipe your overshoes occasionally with a cloth wrung out of ammonia water. It will improve their wear and appearance.

About once a week it is advisable to flush the kitchen sink drain with hot soda or lye solution.

To preserve silver or gold slippers, slip them inside of discarded black stockings immediately on taking them off and they will not tarnish.

A delicious salad: Seeded raisins and chopped green peppers marinated with French dressing make a delicious salad. Serve on crisp lettuce.

When grinding stale bread crumbs or crackers in the food chopper, tie a paper bag on the end of the grinder and snap a rubber band around it. This will prevent the crumbs from flying out.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Before the shampoo, friction the scalp vigorously to loosen up dead cells that may be cluttering up the scalp surface. Give the hair a lively brushing. Apply melted soap three times, with rousing rinsings in between. It is only by means of a bath spray and a strong force of water that soap scum can be chased out of hair strands. Dry the hair with warm towels, then get busy with a scalp massage.

In one respect woman has the laugh on the male of the species; she doesn't get bald-headed. It will ever be a mystery to the sisterhood as to how it can possibly happen that a bald-headed man is pleased with his appearance. Perhaps his gay manners hide a sobbing heart, who knows? At any rate, when hair starts to thin on the top of the Mister's pate he conducts himself in a distraught way. Looks at his brain mat with a double mirror. Lugs home hair tonics. Poor chap, 'tisn't fair to laugh at him. Tragedy for him; comedy to the Missus.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"Guide, Philosopher and Friend"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married and am going to have a formal affair. A question of etiquette arises as to the meaning of the term "best man." Is it the closest friend of the groom, or can it mean a brother? BENJAMIN.

The best man is the "guide, philosopher and friend" of the groom on the Great Day. Usually the groom chooses his brother as his best man, or, if he has no brother, a cousin, or his closest friend. If the groom has a brother old enough to be his best man, it would be surprising if he did not invite him to act in this important capacity.

Regard It as a Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a young man gives a girl a ticket to a dance should she show that she wants to pay for it or should she just thank him? BROWN EYES.

Apparently the ticket is a gift and the girl should regard it as a gift. It would be most awkward for her to offer to pay for it.

A Most Extraordinary Hostess!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper and good manners, when one is calling on a neighbor, for her to greet you (after you get in the house) with "Well, Mrs. So and So, what can I do for you this afternoon?" Then I had to say that I just came to see her for a few minutes. Since then I have been quite troubled over it, and have thought perhaps it was a polite way to tell me not to come again. Maybe I am all wrong and that it is perfectly proper, so will you kindly tell me if I am right or wrong?

M.

This was indeed a most extraordinary thing for your hostess to say, and apparently she is quite unused to having friends come to see her in the casual, friendly way in which you came. It certainly wasn't a "polite way" of telling you not to come again, but if I were you, I shouldn't be thrilled over the prospect of going to see her again.

WHITE CONTINUES TO REIGN SUPREME FOR SUMMER WEAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 9.—The great blizzard is still with us. Snowed under in a perfect deluge of white, we show little or no disposition to dig ourselves out of it. White with and without color forms the color basis of the mode just now, just as it has done since Easter. Whether it be for sports, afternoon or evening wear, the outfit must contain much white and white accessories are used to complete most outfits. At many of the smart resorts on this side, a white skirt, with white silk tuck-in blouse is worn with a colored hat and coat. And this combination expresses perfectly the use of white. For evening wear, the white frock reigns supreme with either a touch of color or colored accessories. White and green and white and red are both excellent summer evening color combinations and are seen everywhere here. Of course, the filmy frock of white chiffon with sparkling accents of crystal or strass needs little else to add to its beauty or luster, and is supreme at any function.

ONE OF THE LOVELIEST of the many exquisite evening dresses in Vionnet's collection is shown in the accompany sketch. Filmy white chiffon is the fabric and the embroidery encircling the hips and bordering the oddly shaped decolletage is of fine strass. The extremely long and wide skirt trails in the back. At the front the bodice is draped in the Vionnet manner described in another dispatch.

AND NOW FOR more white, this time worn with green. White crepe de chine makes the short-sleeved Vionnet dress here depicted. The neckline is draped in front. Fine pin-tucking covers the lower part of the bodice and continues down onto the top of the skirt, finally terminating in the heading of radiating sunray pleats. A bright green leather belt is worn with the frock. The coat is of fine green woolen material with elbow length cape sleeves. It is slightly fitted at the waistline.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Banish Worry—It's an Unhealthy Habit

The easiest thing in the world is to tell someone not to worry. The most difficult thing in the world is to follow the advice.

Some individuals never worry. Regardless of what problems or obstacles confront them, they are calm and placid. Others worry upon the slightest provocation. People who do not worry are always envied by those who do.

Dr. Copeland

There is no need to envy this pleasant state of mind. If you try hard enough, you too can overcome this unhealthy mental condition. Obviously it is an unhealthy condition and it leads to many ailments and upsets of the body.

Worry never insures good health. When we worry we are not hungry, our food is not tempting. We eat, and our digestive organs refuse to work. This further disturbs the workings of our body. Loss of appetite, gastric distress, constipation, loss of weight, headache, disturbed sleep, and other conditions too numerous to mention, can be traced to worry.

A wholesome mental attitude cannot be acquired suddenly. It only comes by persistent and conscientious effort. If we attempt to think straight and to keep clearly before us the true values of life, worry will be eliminated.

I do not mean that one should be careless or neglect his responsibilities. One must give thought to the morrow, of course, but not too much thought. The fact is, the "rainy day" you worry over never comes. You don't know six persons who can't work if they wish to do so. In the providence of God the rainy day never comes.

Functional diseases of the nervous system are frequently caused by worry. Hysteria and neurasthenia are common results of worry. Severe nervous breakdowns are often caused by worry over trivial matters. Many persons in sanitarium and asylums, if given the opportunity, would trace their present predicament to worry.

When we are ill and have poor health it is commonly the thing to worry. If we cannot improve our health it is best to accept our bodily state for what it is and make the best of it. Useless worry and fear prevent the development of better health and usually lead to increased ill health.

"Take the sweet and bitter, as the sweet and bitter come, and always play the game."

Heart of a Wife

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Assured of Safety of Young Folks

"They're right here in this chest," Mary said pulling open the door of a hall closet, when she had come with me into the hall, and I gave her a perfunctory audible "Thank you" for Marion's benefit, adding hastily, "And now, if you'll just show me"—and drew her hurriedly down the hall toward my room. She has the keenest perceptions of any girl I know, and I was not surprised when I closed the door, to have her say, with a serious face:

"What's up, Auntie Madge?"

"I haven't time to tell you now, Mary," I said, "but I don't want you to let Marion out of your sight until I give you the word. And I don't want either of you to go outdoors until I let you know. I wasn't as altruistic as I appeared a few minutes ago," I went on, smiling at my husband's winsome niece. "It just happens that—that—"

"That it suits your book to park Mary and me up here for an hour or two," Mary finished with a wide grin.

"You've expressed it exactly, if not elegantly," I told her, and she threw up her hands as a fencer might at a touch.

"Below the fifth rib," she said, "but see if I care. I'll take elegant care of Marion in spite of my dictation. But I'd better be getting back to her, or she'll whiff a mouse or two."

"All right, dear," I said, and feeling the tension of my nerves relax, because Marion and Roderick and my own small son were being adequately guarded from the perils to which the Chinese messenger had referred, I left her at my room door and went downstairs to the veranda, for I knew that I could no longer postpone the serving of Katie's trays.

The scene on the veranda was just as I had left it, so peaceful and humdrum, that my colloquy in the kitchen with the Chinese messenger with all its sinister imprecations seemed the figment of a nightmare. My daughter of a month was still slumbering, and Katherine and Lillian looked at me with eyes that mirrored the question they would not voice.

"I might have known," I said, with an attempt to appear annoyed. "Katie fancied that the tradesmen have been padding accounts, and as Marion would say, she's 'all hot and bothered about it.'"

Both women laughed, with the amusement that Katie's vagaries always afford us, and I was undeservedly rewarded for my fibbing when I saw that they apparently had no suspicion of anything behind my words.

"I don't envy the tradesmen at their next delivery," Lillian drawled. "If it weren't for her fantastic way of talking, which keeps them chuckling all the time, I think they'd refuse to come here at all. But I think they really like to hear her bawl them out."

"They know, also," Katherine contributed, "that Katie's bark has her bite so far distanced, the poor thing doesn't even get started. Now, do you think I can trust you with this baby for a time, Madge? If so, I'll run up to my room for a few minutes. As Dicky said, you and Lillian have—!"

"Slam on the brakes," Lillian admonished, "what's the matter with you anyway? Putting fangs out in your old age? Whenever did Madge and I have anything to discuss that you weren't in on? Unless, of course when we're paning you—we'd hate to have you listening in then. But give us credit for a little artistry. We wouldn't heat the gridiron quite so soon. I haven't been home an hour yet."

"You know I didn't mean," Katherine began, laughing, and I took her by the shoulders and put her back in her chair again.

"'It isn't what you said,'" I quoted, "and you may finish the line yourself? But you're going to stay right here as punishment. As it happens, we'll have no chance for a talk. Here comes Mother Graham and Dicky. I told Katie to tell them when her fruit punch was ready, and I hear Harry coming upstairs with the boys now."

"And here's Hebe herself," Lillian laughed as Katie came smilingly through the doors, a tray in her hands, followed by Jim bearing another. Oh! Boy what do I see? Katie don't tell me you've gone and baked my favorite kind of cookies! This is too much! If I don't look out I'll have to go on a reducing diet."

"Yah," Katie chortled. "Shoost like vun match need to go. You lose five-ten poonds dees Summer."

"That's because I didn't have your cooking, Katie," Lillian answered, but Katie's joyous retort was cut short by the entrance of my mother-in-law whose rigid ideas of decorum my little maid is constantly violating.

Then Harry Underwood came in and set down the two small boys whom he had carried pick-a-back up the stairs. Both rushed to the side of the sleeping baby.

"Say! Isn't she ever going to wake up?" Junior demanded loudly, and at the noise so close to her, his tiny sister opened her eyes, puckered up her absurd face "like a crumpled rose leaf" and wailed.

"There! Richard Second! my mother-in-law said sharply—she always has loftily refused to call him 'Junior—' "do you see what you've done?"

Long Island Matron Reduces From 190 To 126 Pounds

"Never Felt Better In My Life," She Writes, "My Friends Say It's Marvelous." Looks Years Younger.

Kruschen Salts, a combination of SIX separate minerals, which glands, nerves and body organs ought to have to function properly, actually feeds your starved system those elements the lack of which usually causes the accumulation of excess fat.

Just go to any leading drug store and get Kruschen (an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks)—take a half teaspoonful every morning before breakfast—you can hasten the reducing action by going lighter on potatoes, pastries and fatty meats.

Almost from the start you feel a marked improvement in health—much more energy and strength—more activity—the trim, dashing swing of youth will be yours. Complexion clears—eyes grow bright—and joy of joys—Embarrassing fat starts to rapidly vanish—week by week your scales show a gratifying loss until you achieve the normal and healthy figure Nature intended each and every woman to have!

Mrs. H. Price of Woodside, L. I., writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 yrs. old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

Use Kruschen not only because it's more economical but because it's safe—more efficient and more healthful than other methods, because it keeps the body free from poisons and acids at all times and is guaranteed.

Keep 8 o'clock coolness throughout the day!

FRENCH, ILL, LOST TO BUCS

Sport Comment

By JAMES J. LONG

Tide Turns for Pirates. Grove Not Yet Lifted.
Best Record of Season. Big Fight Only Circus.

BUCS LOOKING LIKE REAL BALL CLUB

THOSE PIRATES ARE beginning to look and act like a real ball club. Unless their present forward trend is a mere flash, and surface signs appear to indicate that it is not, they give the impression that they have finally reached the turn in the road and may be expected to cover the remainder of the course at a much improved gait. Of their last six games five have been victories, and if Remy Kremer had had even ordinary luck to support his fine pitching last Saturday afternoon the team's record would now be six wins in a row.

Heinie Meine

The kind of heads-up ball that the Rovers played in the main yesterday behind the splendid slab work of Heinie Meine will mean many more victories than defeats in the weeks to come if it is continued. There was a slip or two during the afternoon, but those things are part of baseball. There were brilliant plays to offset them. The main item is that the Bucs played as though they meant it, and a continuation of the same spirit cannot fail to keep the club on the upgrade.

IT WAS ONE recruit Howard Groskloss, who changed the infield into a smoothly-working combination and gave the offensive some added power that was sorely needed. Now it is another rookie in the person of Forrest Jensen who promises to contribute further improvement. One game isn't much to go on, but Jensen, though handicaped in left field, where a left-handed thrower is not at home, looks like a real ball player who ought to help a whole lot.

The capture of five out of six games is the best showing that the Pirates have made at any time this season. At one stage they won four in a row, but that streak was preceded by two defeats and was followed by four more reverses, and never until now did the club finish on the right side in five out of six consecutive engagements. Not a record that calls for any parades, but at least it's a sign that things are looking up.

FORBES FIELD PATRONS were surprised to see Manager Hornsby at third base for the Cubs, but the position is not new to him. While with the Cardinals he played 83 games at the hot corner in 1916, 72 games in 1919 and also a few in 1921.

Though he hadn't tried his hand there in 10 years, Rogers made a nice job of it, fielding a couple of bunts in a manner not to be improved upon. His idea in shifting Jurges to second base was to take some of the strain off his own legs and get more speed on the right side of the infield.

IN KNOCKING OFF the Senators for his seventeenth victory of the year and stretching the pennant lead of the A's to the commanding proportions of six and a half games, Lefty Grove kept up another record in which he is unrivaled in the majors. He has not been taken out of any game he started this year. Mack's great left-hander has started 16 contests and has gone the full distance every time, winning 15 and losing one. Two of his 17 victories and one of his two defeats came when he was working as relief hurler, in which role he has appeared eight times. For the second time this year he has now won eight games in a row.

Shauno Collins

IT DEVELOPS THAT Shauno Collins, manager of the Boston Red Sox, was not signed to a real baseball contract until this week. Like Bill Carrigan and Heinie Wagner before him, Shauno had been working under a mere personal agreement with Bob Quinn.

Collins has made so much progress in building up the tailend outfit which was handed to him last winter that League President Harridge figured some other club might try to get him on the ground that he was a free agent, and advised a contract as a means of averting possible trouble.

SHAUNO HAS DONE a fine job so far with a club that lost 102 games last season. He has lifted the Red Sox from last place to sixth in the American League standing, the highest position they have held after the Fourth of July in 10 years.

Much of the skipper's success has been due to the improvement he wrought in the pitching staff. He learned about pitching in his early diamond days, for he was a pitcher himself when he started with Lynn in 1905.

THE COLLINSES HAVE been numerous in baseball, and most of them have ranked above the average player. Jimmy, in the opinion of many, was the best third baseman of all time; Eddie, at second, was also one of history's greats; Ray was a good left-hand pitcher; Pat was a serviceable catcher; Shauno himself was a top-notch outfielder and also played a fair game at first base; the present crop includes Jim, who has crowded Bottomley off the first-base job for the Cardinals; Phil, who pitches for the Phillies, and Warren, who flings for the Browns. The Pirates had Eddie, an outfielder, in 1915, but he didn't last long.

JUDGING FROM REPORTS coming out of the Western League, the Pirates will have no trouble plugging up the second-base hole again if they should be deprived of the services of Howard Groskloss or desire to shift that valuable recruit to a different position. Tony Piet is burning things up on the Wichita farm.

A Wichita critic writes: "Tony Piet, hard working, fast and clever, has just featured another double-header by making two home runs in the second game, besides playing his usual brilliant fielding game all day and stealing bases with abandon. Piet is leading the Western League in total bases and is considered easily the class of all Western second sackers, perhaps the best second baseman Wichita has had in Western League history."

THE PRETENDED SERIOUS air with which the interested parties have gone about the so-called clinching, for September 17, of the Schmeling-Carnera match, which actually was arranged last January, is a laugh. It is an insult to the intelligence of the public to ask that such a circus bill be accepted as a real world championship fight.

Henri Cochet

For it takes two fighters to make a fight, and in this thing there is only one. Carnera has never done anything to merit recognition as a title contender, and he has been hand-picked for this affair solely because he is the softest mark in sight and because he may draw a crowd on account of his size. He has about as much chance to defeat Schmeling as Frankie Genaro would have.

AMERICAN TENNIS FOLLOWERS are pleased to learn that reports saying Henri Cochet would be unable to play in the Davis Cup challenge round were premature, and that there is a chance he will have recovered from his ailment—inflammation of the membrane of the shoulder joint—by the time the trophy matches open on July 24. Cochet's absence from the French team probably would represent the difference between defeat and victory for the challengers, but if the United States gets into the cup round net fans in this country will prefer to see France's team at its full strength, even though it may mean a reverse for the American players. Winning back the cup just because the opposition was crippled and couldn't put its best team on the field at the moment wouldn't be much of a victory.

WOODY PLATT WINS MEDAL WITH 75

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—Three Pittsburghers, Greer McIlvain, of Oakmont, the defending champion; Fred Brand, Jr., of Shannopin, golf and basketball captain at Penn State College, and Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, captain of the Pitt links team, made the grade in the 18-hole qualifying round of the Pennsylvania amateur championship at the Aronimink Country Club, at Newton Square, near here, yesterday, and today are competing in the first round of match play.

McILVAIN TALLIES 80

Medal honors went to J. Wood Platt, of the home club, who set the pace with a splendid 75. Brand was deadlocked with Charles Reckner, of Cedar Brook, and Harold Cuthberth, Ashbourne Country Club, at 76, for runner-up honors. Parks had a 79. McIlvain opened defense of his crown with an 80, tied with six others. Walter Newman, of York, Pa., qualified with a 77.

Seven entrants who tied at 84 for last berth in the championship flight, battled it out at 8:45 this morning.

DONAHUE OUT

Bill Donahue, of the South Hills Country Club, was just outside the fence looking in with his tally of 86.

Platt's final putt enabled him to nose out the triumvirate of golfers tied with 76. A recovery shot out of the rough on the eighteenth gave Platt, several times winner of the Philadelphia amateur championship, his victory. Platt drove almost 200 yards over a large tree to land about 40 feet from the cup. He finished with a par 4 and the medal.

Parks meets Robert H. Wright, of Paxon Hollow, and Brand opposes Sidney W. Coltart, of Roxborough, in the first round. McIlvain's first round opponent will not be known until after the last qualifying berth playoff.

PIRATES DENY TRADE RUMOR

Reports that the Pittsburgh Pirates were planning to ship First Baseman Gus Suhr and Pitcher Charley Wood to the Missions Club, of the Pacific Coast League, in exchange for Catcher Bill Brenzel, rated as one of the most promsing receivers in minor league baseball this year, were denied here today.

DEVINE IN CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Joe Devine, former scout of the Pittsburgh Pirates, now manager of the Missions club, in the Pacific Coast League, is reported negotiating a deal with his former employer. Devine, it is said, will send Catcher Bill Brenzel to the Pirates in exchange for Gus Suhr and Charley Wood and a bundle of cash. The release of George Burns as manager of Missions has left the team without a hard-hitting first-sacker.

TOMORROW—A JUMPING FISH.

W. VA. CHAMPION ELIMINATED

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 9.—(AP.)—Two former West Virginia amateur golf champions were still in the running at the end of the third day of play in the 1931 meet. The defending titleholder and a former champ were out of the picture.

Julius Pollock, Wheeling, eight times champion, and Forest McNeill, Clarksburg, three times wearer of the crown, had easy sailing in the first two rounds of match play.

Palmer Stacy, holder of the 1930 title, was forced out in a second-round match with Fred G. Bannerot, Jr., hard-driving Charleston and Pittsburgh youngster, 2-1. Ira Rodgers, of Morgantown, 1929 champion, fell before Otis Curtin, Clarksburg, in a second round encounter, 3-2.

Pollock first took over Bob Rownd, Wheeling, 4-3, and then defeated Tom Bloch, Wheeling, 7-6. McNeill's first victory saw George W. Hewitt, Wheeling, as the victim, 4-3, and then E. M. Payne, Jr., Beckley, 4-3.

Today is expected to witness some hard-played golf, with Pollock opposing Curtin; Bannerot against L. B. Seibert, Wheeling, 1930 runner-up; McNeill trying his wares against J. S. Compton, Bluefield, and F. M. Hawkins, Huntington, matching shots with R. W. Lowe, Fairmont.

WOLGAST SUED FOR $50,000

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(AP.)—Midget Wolgast, who tomorrow night defends his flyweight boxing title in New York against Ruby Bradley, Holyoke, Mass., Negro, has been sued for $50,000 damages by Carman Manara, of Atlantic City, and his daughter, Rose, 19.

The suit charged Wolgast and two companions lured the girl to their apartment and subjected her to brutal treatment.

English Net Stars To Play in U. S. Independently

LONDON, England, July 9.—(AP.)—Joan Ridley and Mrs. J. B. Pittman, two of England's star women tennis players, who were not chosen for the Wightman Cup team, have announced they would go to the United States independently to compete in the American championship and other tournaments.

STIFELS REACH SEMI-FINALS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 9.—(AP.)—The Stifels, mother and daughter, advanced to the semi-finals of the women's state golf tournament yesterday.

Mrs. E. W. Stifel and Fritzie Stifel met in the final match last year and Fritzie defeated her mother. To become finalists again this year Fritzie must conquer Mrs. H. D. Everett, Charleston, 1929 champion, and Mrs. Stifel must overcome Mrs. M. M. Moorhead, Charleston.

Another daughter of the Stifel family, Emily, was eliminated by Fritzie in the third round, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Stifel played a close match with Mrs. H. H. Haynes, of Clarksburg, winning 2 and 1. Mrs. Moorhead made the going too fast for Janice Beagle, of Grafton, to win, 6 and 4. Mrs. Everett, playing her fellow townswoman, Mrs. A. F. Patterson, won, 5 and 4.

Mrs. J. L. Bumgardner, of Beckley, was elected president at the annual meeting. Mrs. G. C. Weimer, Charleston, was selected to occupy the chair of vice president, and Mrs. Joe L. Smith, Beckley, was named secretary-treasurer.

MRS. INGALLS WINS

Mrs. D. P. Ingalls won the nine-hole medal play handicap tourney for women at the Valley Heights Country Club yesterday. She scored 76-40—36. Other leading scores: Mrs. John Ensley, 66-28—38; Mrs. A. L. Davis, 70-28—42; Miss Ann Very, 73-30—43; Mrs. W. W. College, 56-13—43; Mrs. H. H. Keller, 85-40—45, and Mrs. Dexter Very, 67-22—45.

SPEY ELECTED COACH

BROWNSVILLE, July 9.—Kermit A. Spey, Uniontown, former Bethany College track star, has been elected assistant athletic coach at South Brownsville High School. He will assist Chauncey S. Hives.

MAX, CARNERA FIGHT SET

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera, the vast Italian, has been chosen to meet Max Schmeling some time this year, somewhere in America, in the German's next defense of his heavyweight championship.

Everything was settled at a meeting here yesterday. That is, everything except the time and the place. Manager Joe Jacobs, speaking for the champion, agreed to send Max against Carnera wherever and whenever the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois chooses, just so the bout goes 15 rounds. He was insistent upon that.

William V. Saxe, who represented the Garden at the big conference, announced the fight would be held sometime this fall, at a site to be selected. Prospects are the bout will be held either at Chicago, Jersey City or Philadelphia, with Cleveland an outside possibility.

Girls' Golf Tourney Medalist Advances

CHICAGO, July 9.—(INS.)—Miss Jane Gage, La Grange, medalist in the qualifying round of the women's Western junior golf championship, plays Dorothy Foster, Springfield, today in the second round. She eliminated Miss Virginia Jensen, Mohawk, 8 and 7, while Miss Foster defeated Miss Ruth Taylor, Medinah, by default.

Local Golfers To Head State Organization

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(INS.)—James A. Fownes, Jr., Pittsburgh, will become president of the Pennsylvania Golf Association tonight at the annual meeting of the organization to be held at the Aronimink Golf Club. He will succeed Spencer L. Jones, Philadelphia, as president of the association.

John J. Mitchell III, Philadelphia, is slated for the vice presidency, with George Flinn, Pittsburgh, assuming the duties of secretary-treasurer.

Stribling Praises Max as Sport, Blake as Ref

MACON, Ga., July 9.—(AP.)—W. L. Stribling, Jr., who was beaten by Max Schmeling Friday night in his challenge for the world heavyweight boxing title, was welcomed home informally yesterday at a meeting of the Macon Kiwanis Club.

Speaking briefly of the fight, Stribling praised Schmeling's sportsmanship and congratulated Referee George Blake for his action in stopping the fight 14 seconds before the end of the last round.

"I could have stuck it out," Stribling said, "but I appreciate Blake's position. He did not wish to take chances on having me seriously hurt."

Threatened with appendicitis, Larry French of the Pirate pitching staff today was confined to his East End home with orders to remain in bed for several days in an effort to forestall an operation.

The star lefthander left the ball park before game time yesterday after undergoing some first aid treatment in the clubhouse. French said he noticed the heat as he pitched the morning game of July Fourth. He became ill after this effort and was not himself yesterday as he reported.

MAY NOT OPERATE

A member of the Pirate medical staff treated French last night at his home. The doctor stated that Larry's appendix was out of whack but he said it was not an acute attack and that the patient might not require an operation if he stayed at home for several days.

Larry's mates are due to take on the Cubs this afternoon in the second game of the series. The Oaklanders trimmed the Bears convincingly in the opener yesterday, Heinie Meine just missing a second successive shutout victory. The score was 5 to 2.

Either Glenn Spencer or Remy Kremer will face the Bruins this afternoon. Manager Hornsby may counter with Southpaw Bud Teachout.

JENSEN'S START PLEASES

Pirate fans yesterday saw Outfielder Forrest Jensen in his first full game. The recalled Newark farmhand reached town in time to perform against the Bruins and he was given Adam Comorosky's leftfield role.

The alert Dane broke in with a bang, he making two hits, one of which was a double that started the Buccos on their way to victory. Jensen took his several chances in a finished manner.

But the youngster does not belong in the left pasture. Jensen is a lefthand thrower and is therefore out of position on practically every play he has to make at second base. The throw

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Today I said to Griff: "How long do you think this depression will last?" Griff said: "If those were depression crowds that saw our series with the Athletics, I hope it lasts forever." I said, "Well, Hoover's moratorium will help." Griff said, "What is Hoover's moratorium?" I said, "It's an economy move. The President thought the Mayflower was too expensive a yacht to ride in, so now he is having an eight-passenger moratorium built." Griff said, "I heard different. As I understand the moratorium, Hoover has given Germany a full year to make Schmeling fight again. If he don't put the gloves on by then, the President will declare Jack Sharkey champion."

ALTOONA DROPS MID-ATLANTIC FRANCHISE

Spittal Scores 70 to Lead Early Finishers in Canadian Open Play

NEW LOOP CITY SUGGESTED BY DREYFUSS

WHEELING, W. Va., July 9.—(AP.)—The Middle Atlantic Baseball League is to open the second half of its season next Friday with 12 clubs in the race, it was decided at a meeting of representatives of all the clubs here last night. Elmer M. Daily, president of the league, was in charge.

Altoona surrendered its franchise to Daily, who asserted he is negotiating with one or two other cities as prospective new sites. Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has agreed, Daily said, to pay $2,000 in back salaries due the Altoona players if a city he has suggested for a franchise is chosen. Daily would not disclose what city Dreyfuss had designated.

DELINQUENT IN DUES

All the clubs, except Charleston and Wheeling, are delinquent in league dues, Daily said. Each promised that full settlement will be made within a week. If the obligations are met, the president asserted, the league will start its second half on a sound financial footing.

Joe Cambria, owner of the Hagerstown, Md., franchise, which recently was shifted to Parkersburg, W. Va., said he will move again as soon as he can find a city which will help him recoup losses of $6,000 he has suffered so far this season. He denied reports that Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club of the American League, owns stock in the franchise.

Daily told the meeting that with the exception of Altoona and Parkersburg, the clubs will continue in the second half the same as during the first half which ends today.

ANOTHER PARLEY SOON

The moguls gave Daily until July 16 to place the Altoona franchise. The Parkersburg, W. Va., franchise likely will be placed in one of three cities, Washington, Pa., Portsmouth, O., or Youngstown, O.

Another league meeting will be held within the next 10 days in Wheeling, at which time further action, if it is deemed necessary, will be taken to clarify the present situation.

Cumberland met defeat at the hands of Parkersburg, 12-5; Huntington blanked Fairmont, 6-0; Scottdale lost to Beckley, 8-4; Charleroi set down Altoona, 2-1, and Charleston nosed out Wheeling, 6-5, in yesterday's Mid-Atlantic tilts. The Johnstown-Clarksburg game was postponed because of rain.

DREYFUSS ANGLE DENIED

The report which states that President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, would pay the back salaries of the Altoona players provided a town suggested by him is given a Middle Atlantic League franchise, was denied today by William Benswanger, treasurer of the Pittsburgh club.

"Mr. Dreyfuss made no such offer," said the Pirate official. "He did say he would help the Altoona team if the directors of that club would provide a better baseball park. There was no mention of any amount of money in his offer, but he was willing to help out in the way of players."

DALY'S CLUB IN SHAKEUP

Manager Hank Daly, of the Homewood Club of the City League, today announced numerous changes in the makeup of the former champions for the second half race scheduled to start Monday.

Releases have been handed to Bierworth and Jimmy Henderson, catchers; Bob Henderson and Quigley, pitchers; Dave Wickline, infielder, and Curly Semler, outfielder.

George Spiers has been signed and will play the outfield, with Ray Burke covering first base. Westfall, Steele, Stewart and Pearson will carry the pitching burden in the second half.

Dave Wickline will play with Dormont in the second half race.

Burke, referee of match, congratulates Dave Wilson, 17, Negro caddie, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, upon winning the playoff of a tie for fourth place in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's William Randolph Hearst fourth annual junior golf tournament. Wilson went around the Schenley public links in 69. Madden and Smith both scored 84.

COMISH NAMES MAX CHAMP

PHILADELPHIA, July 9.—(AP.)—Max Schmeling has been recognized as world heavyweight boxing champion by Harry T. Farrell, of Nanticoke, and Dr. W. D. McClelland, of Pittsburgh, the two present members of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission. No heavyweight king had been recognized in this state since Gene Tunney abdicated the throne three years ago. Gov. Pinchot has not yet named the third member to the boxing board.

Ralph F. Wagner, Sunbury, Pa., matchmaker, was indefinitely suspended for failure to comply with a ruling regarding posting of contracts five days prior to the date of his show.

Wally Sears, Minersville boxer, also was suspended indefinitely because of his showing in a Pottsville show July 3.

Reinstatements included Baby Joe Gans, New York; Chick Bostian, Sunbury, and Al Jaderberg, Jamestown, N. Y.

Richards, Tilden Pro Net Winners

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 9.—(AP.)—No breaks occurred in the seeded group as the lawn tennis professionals made their belated start in the fifth annual tournament for the championship of the United States on the turf of the West Side Tennis Club here yesterday. Vincent Richards, the defending titleholder, cut loose his fastest volleys to overwhelm Allen Behr, New York, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Big Bill Tilden, making his first appearance in a professional tournament; Francis T. Hunter and Howard O. Kinsey, former Davis Cup stars, and the others of the selective list all came through with comparative ease.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Winston Salem, N. C.—Battling Bozo defeated Chuck Burns, 10 rounds.
At New York—Battling Tracy defeated Joe Oliver, 8 rounds; Benny Britt defeated Joe Barra, 6 rounds; Angelo Tejeiro knocked out Eddie Marks, 4 rounds; Frankie Hermand knocked out Paul Scalfaro, 4 rounds.
At Seattle, Wash.—Joe Cortez defeated Georgie Kerwin, 6 rounds.

NEDDA GUY RACE VICTOR

CLEVELAND, July 9.—(AP.)—Nedda Guy, owned by the Goodtime Stable, of Goshen, N. Y., and driven by Walter Cox in the first heat, and Harry Stokes in the second and third, won the annual renewal of the $12,000 stallion stake at North Randall track here yesterday. He sold for $25 in pools totaling $445.

FORREST JENSEN ROUNDING FIRST ON DOUBLE

Recalled from the Newark Club, of the International League, Forrest Jensen replaced Adam Comorosky in leftfield for the Pirates yesterday and starred in the 5-2 victory over the Cubs at Forbes Field. Photo shows him rounding first base on his double in the first inning which led to the first run. He later singled.

FRENCH LOST TO PIRATES

to prevent a long single from being a double is very important on a big league ball team, and sooner or later the recruit is likely to be changed.

Meine was within one putout of a victory that would have recorded his fourth goose egg party of the season and the second in a row. About one week ago he doused the Braves in the whitewash bucket and he appeared to be ready to record another shutout success when Rolly Hemsley came up in the ninth with two out and Riggs Stephenson on first base.

WANERS CONFUSED

Lax fielding on the part of the Waner boys seems to have allowed the two runs that petered over with two out. Hemsley hit a long drive to right center. The clout was driven far, but it was so high it should have been caught. Paul and Lloyd both appeared to look at each other instead of dashing toward the terminal of the rocket—when they did start it was too late. Stevie scored and Grimm singled a moment later to register the former Pirate receiver. The fact that the Pirates won is good enough, but there are many, including Meine, who wished to achieve a runless triumph.

When Lloyd Waner hit his single in the eighth inning yesterday, the combined efforts of Paul and Lloyd showed a total of 2,000 safeties.

The victory of the Pirates made it five in their last six games and they were close to a success in that one setback. The Cardinals won a hair-line decision in the afternoon game of July Fourth.

Howdy Groskloss played and starred in yesterday's games under the handicap of a lame leg. It is stated he was injured in the exhibition contest of the previous day. In any event the boy who has transformed the club from a loose-leaf affair to a smooth-working combination, was just able to play, his condition being apparent as he struggled to reach third on his long three-bagger to left center. The sore spot, it was said, is the recurrence of a previous injury.

Groskloss and Tommy Thevenow featured the game with a pair of circus plays. Both were spectacular in a high degree, the assist reeled off by the clever shortstop being one of the best of the season in the Oakland Orchard.

THEVENOW IN DAZZLER

Groskloss' brilliant play was a one-hand stop far on his left that robbed Rogers Hornsby of a clean hit. The Sheraden lad came up cleanly with the burning smash and tossed out the slugger.

Thevenow's headliner was more difficult. Two were out in the sixth with Stephenson on second and Hemsley on first when Grimm started an ordinary single into left. Tommy rushed over the grass and made a back-hand stop of the ball. Without getting set, he let fly to Groskloss and nailed the fleet Hemsley on a force.

Jensen's double, Grantham's single, a pair of passes and Groskloss' liner to Stephenson gave the Pirates two runs in the first inning. Thevenow's pass in the second led to three more tallies, Pie Traynor driving in two after two were out. Meine sacrificed Thevenow to second, and L. Waner singled to score Tommy. Jensen fouled out as he tried to bunt, but Grantham dropped a lucky hit in center. Brother Lloyd hustled to third and Grantham pulled up at second. Traynor drove both across with a single to left.

Manager Hornsby used Warneke, May, Baecht and Blake on the slab.

Fans following the sandlots probably will hie to Magee Field this evening, to watch the Commercial and Industrial League classic featuring Reliance Life and Rieck-McJunkin nines.

Last Tuesday the Riecks took a lacing at Langley Field, and it is not likely Bill Stuhlfire will take it without a comeback.

The Riecks did not function in the Pittsburgh Coal game, and the team, while displaying plenty of pep, seemed to lack team work. It might have been a good move to put Dick Jones behind the bat, since runners were going wild on the sacks.

Laboon faces the Insurance team this evening, and, when right, he is a tough pitcher to beat.

WEST PENN CARD SET

Honus Wagner has announced the second-half schedule for the West Penn League. Beginning Monday, Linwood goes to Swissvale to open the second-half season, and Tuesday the Martin Club, of Garfield, hooks up with Turtle Creek, at the high school field.

The Homestead Aces, fighting it out with Reliance Life for the first-half championship, inaugurate their second half by traveling to meet the Griffin Club at Malone Field Wednesday.

Swissvale crosses the Rankin Bridge Thursday to do battle with Jack Fertig's Aces. On Tuesday, St. Joachim gets a chance to avenge its Linwood defeat by appearing at Hartman Park.

On Sunday, Linwood meets St. Joachim's, and Mike Kudrau probably will announce whefe the game will be played. The Wednesday night game finds Turtle Creek meeting St. Joachim's.

WELL-EARNED WIN

The victory of the East End Cardinals over St. Elizabeth's, to win the first-half Steel City title, was a big surprise. Manager Danko, of the Lawrenceville club, had gathered a real hustling ball club, and it was thought improbable that the Cardinals would beat the Saints two games in a row.

However, Manager Bill Ryan had the boys out there fighting, and, with Ollie Hussey pitching superb baseball in both games, the Leslie Park nine had to take second money.

The second half of the Steel City opens Monday, and, with seven well-balanced clubs fighting for a chance to meet the Cardinals in post-season games, a good race should ensue.

Linwood will meet the J. L. Thomas nine of the City League at Hartman Park Friday evening.

DORMONT WINS FIRST HALF

Dormont clinched first half honors in the City League yesterday when it swamped the North Side Buicks, 19 to 0, while Homewood was taking a 13-6 beating at the hands of Book Shoe.

Whitaker and the Griffins copped battles in the Greater Pittsburgh League, the former team tripping Verona, 5 to 3, and the latter nosing out the Murs, 6 to 5.

Aliquippa set down Coraopolis, 11 to 2, in the Beaver County circuit, while J. F. Diebold whipped the McGraths, 11-2, in the Central League.

The Homestead Grays knocked off the Kleins, 15 to 7, in a game at Elizabethtown, Pa., yesterday, en route to Philadelphia, where they open a four-game series with Hilldale.

PITTSBURGHER COPS

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—In a race that stamped him as an outstanding contender for the $75,000 classic at Arlington Park, July 18, Pittsburgher, Racing Commissioner Theodore Mueller's inconsistent 3-year-old, romped home the winner of the Walnut Hills Handicap at Latonia yesterday.

YAROSZ, JINX MENACES TO M'TIERNAN

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Buck McTiernan vs. Ted Yarosz, 10 rounds; Nordi Smith vs. Billy Holt, 8 rounds, and Meyer Frager vs. Eddie Hebner and Johnny Warner vs. Frenchy Jennings, 6 rounds each, Hickey Park, Millvale.
Cowboy Jack Willis vs. Johnny Peppo, 10 rounds, Leiperville, Pa.
Ruby Goldstein vs. Young Terry, 10 rounds, Newark, N. J.
Maxie Rosenbloom vs. Joe Ranovic (non-title), 10 rounds, Scranton, Pa.
Clyde Chastain vs. Chick Haines, 10 rounds, St. Louis.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, leading local middleweight boxer, is wondering when his streak of tough luck is going to end.

He meets Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, in the 10-round main bout at Hickey Park, Millvale, tonight, and hopes this contest will write finis to the string of bad breaks that he has encountered in recent battles.

Checking back, he returned to the ring following a layoff to box Ignacio Ara, the Spaniard, in Madison Square Garden, New York, with a fine opportunity to arrive overnight, and was going along swimmingly winning the fight until he was clipped and knocked out in the late stages.

Followed then a battle with Tommy Freeman, former welterweight champion, at the Meyers Bowl, and McTiernan really won that fracas, but the decision went against him.

RAIN KICKS AROUND BOUT

Then he was matched with Yarosz at Hickey Park, for Wednesday night of last week, but rain forced a postponement until the following night and then rain again sidetracked the affair, so that it is on for tonight.

In between, Buck was booked with one Donald Fagg, of Clinton, Ind., at Huntington, W. Va., and, to the astonishment of everybody, he also dropped the referee's decision in that one after the judges had disagreed. McTiernan claims he won this bout hands down, but was the victim of a "guess" verdict.

Against Yarosz tonight, Buck is in a tough spot. Yarosz has not been beaten in 43 starts as a professional — and he's not in the mood to lose, either. He'll be in there pegging to win decisively, and Buck will have to be at his very peak to be the first man to turn back his ambitious challenge.

NEEDS A WIN

McTiernan also finally is matched for that long-talked-about grudge bout with his keen neighborhood rival, Jimmy Belmont, at the Meyers Bowl, one week from next Monday night, and he wants to get a win under his belt tonight, just to see how it feels, for a change, before going in with the belligerent Belmont. It's all very well for Buck to shape up as the best-looking middleweight of these parts, but, unless his bad luck doesn't desert him soon so he can turn in a win or two, he won't stick up on his perch very long.

Nordi Smith and Billy Holt, Negro welterweight rivals, of Homewood, meet in the eight-round semi-final tonight. Meyer Frager, formerly of Chicago, and Eddie Hebner, of Clairton, box the second bout, and Johnny Warner, of Clairton, and Frenchy Jennings, of Carrick, are in the opener, at 8:45.

Between Rounds

George Blake, referee of the Schmeling-Stribling fight, also may handle the Tony Canzoneri-Cecil Payne bout for Tony's junior-welterweight title at Los Angeles next Monday night.

A well-balanced card backs up the Tony Herrera-Johnny Jadlch bout at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night. Tiger West and Jack Tracey, who meet in the eight-round semi-final, were matched for the closing show of the indoor season at Motor Square Garden, but Tracey pulled out and Jimmy Moore subbed for him and upset the dope by beating West, who since has come back with a thrilling fight against Joe Walters at the Bowl. Andy Andrucci meets Jimmy Reilly in the second bout and Johnny Montchano and Paul Balint will clash in the opener.

Melody Jackson, singing featherweight, and Mississippi, lightweight, Negro boxers, are in town from St. Louis with their manager, Harry Armstrong, and are ready for bouts at any of the clubs.

Local Trapshooters In Tourneys Today

The regular monthly shoot tourney of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' League is being held at the Washington Gun Club grounds, Washington, Pa., today.

The twelfth annual tournament of the Konne-Yaut Indians Gun Club, of which many local sportsmen are members, opened at Oakland Beach, Conneaut Lake, Pa., today. The event will be concluded Saturday.

VON ELM QUITS TOURNAMENT AT TORONTO

BULLETIN.

MISSISSAGUA COUNTRY CLUB, TORONTO, July 9.—Tommy Armour, the defending champion, scored 68, four under par, to take the lead in the first round of the Canadian Open golf championship here today.

TORONTO, Ont., July 9.—Willie Spittal, of the Oakdale Club, Toronto, turning in a 70, took the lead among the early finishers in the first round of the Canadian Open golf tournament here today.

George McLean, professional of the Grassy Sprain Country Club, Westchester County, New York, was a stroke behind with a 71.

Spittal trimmed a stroke from par on both nines.

McLean turned the out nine in 36—even par—but clipped one stroke from perfect figures coming home.

His card:
Out ..... 4 4 2 4 5 4 5 4 4—36
In ..... 3 5 4 4 3 4 4 4 4—35—71

Emmett French, of Southern Pines, North Carolina, followed McLean in with a 73.

George Von Elm, business man-golfer, who lost the United States Open by one stroke in a 72-hole playoff with Billy Burke, withdrew shortly before he was due to tee off.

PLAN TO MERGE ALL CARRIERS SUPPORTED

Railway Owners Officially Backs Proposal Besides Urging Rate Increase

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, July 9.—Thus far, in connection with the extreme current depression of railroad earning power, the public has been hearing only from the hired man—the railroad executives, who have petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for a 15 per cent freight rate increase.

What do the real bosses of the railroads — the owners — think about the needs of the carriers?

H. D. Tichenor, of Los Angeles, a member of the executive committee of the Railroad Owners Association in a message to this column, lauds the position taken here previously that the railroads need more than a rate increase. The carriers need encouragement and legal authorization to become great co-ordinators of transportation, dovetailing with their own facilities all useful and effective competing agencies of transportation, Tichenor said.

Mr. Rukeyser

"This is, of course, the most logical and constructive and modernized improvement that can be made for a thoroughly up-to-date national transportation service, all under the same governmental and state regulatory bodies. Moreover, the great railroads, with their years of experience in transportation matters, and experienced managers and employes, and stronger financial positions, and valuable terminals in our large cities, and close contacts with large shippers, and various other reasons, are far better fitted than a number of small competing motor truck and bus lines and waterways to handle most efficiently and economically all the country's transportation business for the public welfare generally."

The best argument for constructive treatment of the railroads is the record of unvarnished facts concerning earnings for the last year. Recent low net income threatens the continuance of numerous railroad bonds on the eligible list of those legal for the investment funds of savings banks and trustees.

Texas Governor Calls Special Oil Session

AUSTIN, July 9.—Gov. Ross Sterling has issued a call for a special session of the Legislature to meet July 14 specifying that the subject to be considered is enactment of laws for the conservation of natural resources, particularly oil and gas.

BERLIN MARKET UNSETTLED

BERLIN, July 9.—Prices on the Berlin bourse continued their slide toward lower values at the opening today, all stocks being quoted from 1 to 3 points down at the opening.

Later, however, prices rallied to the level of Wednesday's closing when the news of Dr. Hans Luther's departure for London became public.

An unsettling influence was the official report of the Reichsbank's position, from which it was estimated that the official bank's losses in foreign exchange withdrawals during the last week totaled 250,000,000 marks. The reports added that the "gold cover" fund now amounts to 43.6 per cent as compared to 40.1 per cent last week.

There was some speculation as to the cost at which this better appearance had been obtained.

PARIS, July 9.—The bourse opened firmer today, but there was little trading and the close was inactive.

LONDON, July 9.—The London Stock Exchange closed amid a dull and uneasy atmosphere today after a trading session during which price tendencies were distinctly lower.

Power Production Decline Smaller

NEW YORK, July 9.—Production of electricity by the electric light and and power industry of the United States for the week ended July 4 continued the improvement shown by the preceding week. The total of 1,575,780,000 kilowatt hours was 2.8 per cent below the like week of 1930, compared with a decline of 3.9 per cent shown by the preceding week from the 1930 period. Increases over last year were shown by the Atlantic seaboard, the Chicago district and the Pacific coast district.

United Verde Hits Rich Copper Vein

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—A rich copper vein on the old Haynes claim at Jerome, Ariz., has been struck by the United Verde Extension Mining Company.

The ore is said to average about 7 per cent copper with some of it running up to 10 per cent, and about $1 a ton in gold. The management of the company has not determined the size of the ore body, as its development has not proceeded far enough, but it is understood to believe that the prospect is worth while.

Wholesale Prices Show Slight Gain

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP.)—Wholesale commodity prices increased slightly last week as their change was calculated by the Commerce Department. In the totals that follow the index of selling prices is given for comparable periods based on representing the 1926 average as 100. In addition, the selling price for a ton of composite steel products is given for like periods.

Week ended July 4	All Commodities	Steel
	70.6	$31.11
Previous week	70.3	30.99
Same week last year	85.6	33.34

Investment Trust To Vote on Offer

NEW YORK, July 9.—A meeting of Investment Trust Associates stockholders has been called for July 29 to vote on an offer from United Founders Corporation to acquire Investment Trust Associates. United Founders now owns 89 per cent of that company's shares. Investment Trust Associates shares will receive $12.64 a share in cash liquidating value as of June 30. They may apply the proceeds to the purchase of United Founders common stock at its June 30 asset value. The offer expires July 30.

Wheeling Steel Reopens 6 Mills

Wheeling Steel Corporation resumed operations of six sheet mills at the Steubenville plant, giving 200 employment. Two more open-hearth furnaces, which have been idle for months, are expected to be placed in operation at the start of next week, giving 100 additional men employment.

Pennsy Loadings Decline for Week

The Pennsylvania Railroad system loaded 106,108 revenue cars in the week ended July 4, compared to 119,525 in the week previous and 131,755 in the similar 1930 period. Loadings from January 1 to July 4 totaled 2,132,967 cars, against 3,824,460 a year ago.

That the June copper statistics will show a 15,000 to 20,000 ton increase in surplus stocks.

That Kreuger & Toll may get the match monopoly in Colombia in return for a $20,000,000 loan.

That American and Foreign Power's forthcoming report for 1930 will show under 90 cents a share for the common against $4.01 for 1929.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 9.—Cotton opened steady today, 6 to 11 points lower with July selling off to 9.26c and December to 9.79c during the early trading. Offerings increased slightly following a private report making the condition of the crop 73.8 as of July 1, and the indicated yield 13,375,000 bales, but were well enough absorbed by trade buying and covering to steady the market. At the net declines of 13 to 11 points toward the end of the first half hour.

Offerings were sufficiently well taken on the early decline to cause rallies of 5 to 10 points from the lowest, but the market eased again later in the morning. At mid-day July was selling around 9.23c and December 9.77c, with the general list showing net declines of 15 to 18 points.

STOCK MARKET TURNS AFTER DECLINE

List Pushes Irregularly Upward as Street Keeps Eye on German Finances

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP.)—Financial markets fluctuated uncertainly today, as the flying visits of the head of the German Reichsbank to London and Paris again riveted attention to the still delicate situation in Central Europe.

The New York stock market sagged for a time in the morning, but pushed irregularly upward later, as it was stated in international banking circles that reports over the strained credit situation in Germany had been exaggerated, and that adequate aid was forthcoming.

There appears to be considerable misunderstanding and some unnecessary uneasiness over the developments in Germany. It was pointed out that the guarantee fund of 500,000,000 marks from German industrial and financial houses to the gold discount bank was made to that bank merely as the most suitable to handle the question of foreign credits, and not because that institution was in need of any relief. Furthermore, the embarrassment of Nordwoole—North German wool—has caused nervousness. While one or two German banks are rather heavily involved, the remainder of the company's debts are spread over a large number of German and British banks, and it is believed that the necessary funds to continue operations will be provided, if necessary, by the Reich treasury.

Wall street now realizes that the seriousness of the German situation was now at first fully recognized here, but feels that prompt and forceful measures are at last being taken.

There was little in the day's domestic news to influence the stock market. Fox Film was depressed by its report showing only 45 cents a share earned in the 13 weeks to March 28, against $1.72 in the like period of last year. The weekly report of freight car loadings showed the predicted gain of more than 20,000 cars. Gov. Sterling, of Texas, called the long expected special session of the legislature to enact laws to aid oil proration.

MOTOR OUTPUT OFF IN JUNE

NEW YORK, July 9.—Automobile production in the United States and Canada in June totaled 254,760 cars and trucks, against 327,853 in May and 349,896 in June, 1930, according to an estimate by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Production in the first six months amounted to 1,633,033 cars and trucks, compared with 2,309,265 in the like period of 1930.

Sinclair Refining Cuts Oklahoma Oil

TULSA, July 9.—Sinclair Refining Company has reduced Oklahoma crude oil prices to 10 cents a barrel for 29 gravity, with one cent differential for each degree of gravity, making top price of 22 cents a barrel for 40 degrees and above.

Carnegie Steel Co. Gets Rail Order

Norfolk and Western Railroad has ordered 20,000 tons of steel rails. Of the total, 15,000 tons goes to Carnegie Steel Company and 5,000 tons to Bethlehem Steel Company.

Northwestern Car Loadings Decline

Declines in Steel Company Earnings Expected

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE STEEL TRADE is confident that the present month will be marked by the low point in production, but the slump to 33 per cent of capacity indicates that prospects for earnings during the balance of the year are distinctly unfavorable.

The statements of the leading steel companies for the second quarter, to be published within a few weeks, will be even less encouraging than those of the first quarter.

The third quarter is being started with production at the lowest point since the post war depression. This rate of operations is expected to prevail during most of July. Gains have been predicted for August and September. Unless these should be extremely sharp, the income accounts covering third quarter operations will show the effects of reduced sales to a very marked extent.

Many Losses to Be Reported

THE NUMBER OF STEEL companies able to report a profit for the first quarter of the present year was small. With a less satisfactory business in the second quarter and a further decline in the third quarter, the list of steel companies able to do business at a profit will be even more drastically reduced.

Reductions in office forces, wage cuts and other economies will tend to compensate for the continued loss of steel business, but it is unlikely that such steps can take up all the slack and prevent smaller earnings or greater losses from being shown.

Fourth Quarter Prospects

WHILE THE PRESENT RATE of steel production is believed to represent the bottom and gains are expected in coming months, there are no definite indications that any particular types of consumers will increase their requirements. The automobile trade probably will buy less steel during the present summer. Hope for better steel demand is pinned on the belief that increased buying will come from a large number of industries rather than from any single source.

Due to year-end business conditions and seasonal factors, the fourth quarter is rarely an active period for the steel trade. The final months of a few years have been outstanding exceptions to this precedent. It is entirely possible that the present year may ignore seasonal precedents in November and December if a pronounced revival in general business gets under way this fall. Unless this takes place, however, little hope for any better steel earnings can be seen before 1932.

Prices Firm

INCREASED FIRMNESS in steel prices is apparent. This has been largely attributable to the fact that quotations are so low and operations so far down that there is little incentive to shade prices in order to get orders. Under ordinary conditions the steel mills have a margin of several dollars a ton. They can afford to sacrifice some of this to get enough business to keep operations at a high rate and to secure the compensating benefits of low operating costs. But at present the steel producers have little to gain by following such tactics.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, July 9.—Narrow, irregular declines and quiet trading marked the bond market today.

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column as United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars:

Thompson Is Helpful When Kitty's Father Dies

CHAPTER XII.

I stared at Mr. Anson.

Evidently he thought I had not heard or understood him, for he leaned nearer and pressed my hand again.

"I said, Kitty, that I wanted you," he repeated, "and I said that to prove my sincerity I would first settle $500,000 on you. Now what do you say to that?"

"I say two things, Mr. Anson——"

"Tut-tut—one little 'yes' will be sufficient," he interrupted.

"Two things," I insisted, "first, 'Many thanks' and second, 'No.'"

"Why Katie!" he exclaimed, as if he couldn't believe any girl on earth would refuse such an offer.

"Why Mr. Anson!" I mocked him.

"I mean it, my dear."

"And I mean what I said. More than that, Mr. Anson, you have an awful nerve!" I was losing my temper, now that the surprise was over.

"A nerve to offer to make you rich?" he demanded in surprise.

"No—a nerve to go to any girl and say 'I want you,' as if she were—were something on a counter for sale."

Mr. Anson coughed and turned red.

"I'm afraid I am dumb—you didn't think I was trying to buy you, did you?"

"I didn't think anything else."

The music stopped. Mr. and Mrs. Miers were waddling back to our table.

"My dear girl. I want to marry you," Mr. Anson said, hurriedly.

KITTY REFUSES

"That makes all the difference in the world, Mr. Anson."

"Then your answer will be 'Yes?'"

The Miers sat down. The applause had started the music again. To get away to finish the talk Mr. Anson arose for me to dance with him.

"Since that makes all the difference in the world, my dear, you'll say 'Yes,' and I am sorry that I was so clumsy about it."

"Oh no—I don't love you. I wouldn't marry you, Mr. Anson, although any girl likes to be asked. I'm sorry, but I am already—er——"

"Engaged?" he asked.

"Yes," I said, knowing that it wasn't exactly true but feeling that almost any time, now, Thad Parsons would make a formal proposal.

"If you had your engagement ring, I wouldn't have made such a fool of myself," he said, rather crossly.

"You didn't make a fool of yourself, Mr. Anson, really. The setting is being fixed, that's all," I stammered.

I had to tell this fib. There seemed no other way out of it for me.

Mr. Anson put me in a taxi but didn't ride home with me.

Next day Molly said, in front of several of the girls, "Look at the world's champion fool!" She pointed at me.

"Here's the girl who turned down a rich husband and half a million in her own name!"

"How did you know?" I blurted out, then I realized that Mr. Anson had doubtless told the Miers and they had told some of the girls.

Mrs. Miers came over to us. "Who did you want—one of th' Rockfellers, perhaps," she said to me.

TELLS THAD

"Money isn't everything," I said, glibly, and I felt a little ashamed, for poor Peter Thompson had once said the same thing to me.

I told Thad about it, hoping that it would spur him to propose right away.

"How crass—what a bounder—I should think you would turn him down, sweetheart," was what he said to that.

This was the night that I met Charlie Osmund, a friend of Thad. He was very jolly and decidedly fat for a young man. Everyone liked him and called him "Chubb."

"Thad," Chubb cried at our table full of Thad's swell and gay friends, "has all the luck, all the good looks and then wins the best looking little lady in seven hemisphere."

"The original kidding kid," I cried.

"Meaning that I haven't won you?" Thad asked, in a whisper.

"Have you?" I countered.

"To Venus and Adonis!" Chubb cried, lifting his glass.

Everyone laughed except myself. I was sore over this interruption. I wanted to know what Thad would say when I so pointedly asked him if he had won me. It was a natural and good opportunity, again but couldn't get up courage.

Preparations for the big fashion show were going on rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Miers were turning out some wonderful creations. There was a blue gold evening gown for me to wear, among others, that fairly took my breath, it was so decollete. I felt as though I were almost like one of those posing "art" show girls who were practically nothing at all.

At least three times a week I went out to places with Thad.

Poor Peter Thompson called no more at our home and I hadn't seen him since the night I had to tell him that I wouldn't marry him.

But my twinges of conscience over Peter were few and far between because I was so happy and there was so much gaiety all the time, so much jolly "playing around."

Then, to my surprise, Peter Thompson came to me at the Miers establishment. He was so grave that I was afraid he was going to make a scene of some sort. I saw him talking with Mr. Miers, then he came to me.

FATHER DIES

"Kitty you—I've come to take you home—your boss says it's all right and—well, Cora needs you," he said. He seemed so grave and agitated that I was alarmed.

"Is Cora worse?" I cried.

Peter shook his head. "No," he said slowly, "it's your father."

"Is dad sick? Why didn't they telephone me? How did you happen to come here?" I cried, and without waiting for an answer I ran to get my things.

Peter called a taxi and got in with me.

"How sick is he? Is he at a hospital or home?" I asked.

Peter shook his head.

"What do you mean? I was getting cold with fear by this time.

Peter put his arm about me, not in the old sweetheart days manner, but as if protecting me.

"Your father collapsed at his desk, Kitty—he—he died when they got him to the hospital," he said gently.

Everything I saw through the taxi window suddenly blurred into a whirling mass. I tried to speak and couldn't.

"Cry, Kitty—say something—don't look like that," Peter begged.

"Are you sure, Peter?" I managed to whisper.

"Yes. They telephoned Cora. She sent for me and asked me to get you. I—I've been to the hospital. I'll help you through, dear, because you wouldn't want that swell sweetheart of yours to—to——"

He hesitated.

"Thad knows we are poor—tell the taxi man to hurry—I must be with Cora," I whispered.

THOMPSON HELPS

Everything outside was still gray and blurred.

When I got into the house and saw Cora holding her baby girl, with her little boy tugging at her knees, whimpering because his mother was sobbing, my tears came fast enough. But I couldn't break down for long. I had to help poor Cora, who was just recovering after her long sickness.

Peter Thompson was wonderful.

Thad was also wonderful, in his way. He tried to make me take a thousand dollars for the funeral expenses.

I wouldn't. I couldn't do that. Peter, to my surprise, arranged and paid everything. Thad sent a big wreath, but did not come to the little funeral.

Father had belonged to a benefit society, and there was a thousand dollars coming. When it was paid I gave back to Peter all he had spent.

"Let me help you, Kitty," Peter begged, "for old time's sake. Let me help you for a while—it's an awful load for your pretty little shoulders—your slim little shoulders."

"I'll get along, Peter."

"Even if I cannot have you, you cannot deprive me of the privilege of helping you in all this trouble," he insisted.

I half promised.

When he had gone Cora put her arm about me. She had been there during this talk.

"Kitty," she said, "now and then God makes a real man—Peter Thompson is one of them."

Synopsis

Katherine Mason, a dress model, believes the chief aim of every girl should be to play around and have a good time. For this reason she jilts her former lover, Peter Thompson, because he is poor. She expects to marry wealthy and socially prominent Thad Parsons, who makes mad love to her and takes her about to swell places. A rich merchant, customer of the concern she models for, tells her frankly that he wants her and will first settle half a million on her.

DAILY SHORT STORY

What Edna Did

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Banker Takes Drug After Institution Fails

Before Mrs. Haddon had had Edna Gates two weeks she knew that she had a treasure.

Mrs. Haddon was the wife of Wilbur W. Haddon, president of the Planeville Savings Bank.

Edna Gates came from Upper Falls, where she had lived with an old aunt, and when the aunt died, Edna had to make her own way. The aunt left her a few thousand, but Edna was not one to waste money.

Edna was 19 then, and mighty pretty. She was thoroughly capable, and a splendid cook. More than that, Edna had been through the local academy and was fairly well educated.

Edna attended church regularly, belonged to the local Literary Club and was well liked. She never tried to put herself forward. She knew that she was housekeeper for the Haddons and was well satisfied to be.

Mr. Haddon was almost always kind to her, and generous.

Edna was 22 when Mrs. Haddon became very sick. Gradually her mind failed her. After long consultation it was decided that Mrs. Haddon should be removed to the River View Sanitarium.

Edna was downcast over this. Mrs. Haddon had been just a shade patronizing, and whenever she had company, which was often, she had made everyone understand that Edna was an exceptionally well-trained "servant."

She used the word "servant" and often stretched a point now and then by declaring that she had trained her.

EXCELLENT HOUSEKEEPER

"I taught her all she knows," Mrs. Haddon had often said, and Edna had heard her say it many a time.

It wasn't fair. Edna was a far better housekeeper and cook than Mrs. Haddon ever was or could be. It wasn't exactly honest of her to try and take so much credit.

Still, despite this resentment Edna always had because of this, she did feel badly over Mrs. Haddon's condition.

At first Mr. Haddon assured Edna that it wouldn't be long, under good treatment, before his wife would recover. But after a while he was told the truth. His wife would never recover, would never regain her lost mentality and, all in time, would pass on.

"She may live for years, that is, four or five years," Mr. Haddon explained to Edna, "but as I have done all possible, I feel that there is nothing more except to live on as usual."

Edna said she didn't know anything else to do.

ACCEPTS GIFT

"I don't know how I could get along without you, Edna, you have been the real head of the home ever since you came, and you are very dear to me."

Edna blushed a little, murmured that she would do her best and matters ran on for some time. Edna saved most of her wages and added them to her own five thousand in the savings bank.

Mr. Haddon increased her wages. Then he frequently brought her presents. Now and then it would be a costly gift that Edna would hesitate to take, like a handsome watch and then the ivory and gold toilet set.

When he brought home from the city, after one of his trips, a bracelet that was a very costly piece of adornment as even Edna could see, she objected.

"It is too valuable. People will know I couldn't afford it, Mr. Haddon," she said.

"Nonsense, Edna dear—"

He had been calling her pet names of late.

"People know that you have quite a lot of money."

"And if—if Mrs. Haddon should recover and come back—what would she think?"

"She won't recover, unfortunately. But then, living here as we are, she would be too reasonable to think we would never be friendly."

So Edna accepted it.

After Mr. Haddon became rather demonstrative and had kissed her a few times and Edna had murmured, "You mustn't," she got used to it.

Edna liked Mr. Haddon, she had liked him from the first. He had never been the least disagreeable. He had never called her a "servant" or tried to impress visitors that she was just a menial. On the other hand, he had often told neighbors that they couldn't get along without Edna, and she had frequently heard him say, "Edna's like one of the family."

Edna didn't forget.

Edna was no fool. She understood things. Mr. Haddon living alone there, becoming demonstrative, his wife mentally gone and slowly dying, would find it natural to desire her.

No use trying to gloss over the facts of life.

Edna had had a few opportunities to marry, but she could not see marrying the tinsmith's son, nor becoming the wife of a local taxi driver and living in semi-poverty.

The time came when Mr. Haddon told Edna that it was silly of them to be living there like that, when he loved her so much.

He asked her if she understood.

"Of course, I understand, Mr. Haddon."

"What do you think, my dear?"

"I—I'll let you know, honestly I will."

Mr. Haddon took her in his arms and asked her what her decision was.

Edna threw her arms about him and kissed him.

That was her answer.

So the new relationship was established.

But not before Mr. Haddon had said to Edna, "Dear girl, there is no need to avoid facts. Mrs. Haddon cannot live long. When the time comes that I can marry you, we shall be married."

Edna was happy then.

And she knew that she was really doing no one an injustice except perhaps herself, and that was quite up to herself. Surely she was doing poor Mrs. Haddon no wrong.

The household ran along as usual after that, to all outward appearances.

SPEAKS OF MARRIAGE

Mrs. Haddon lived along, dead mentally, helpless physically, for four more years before passing on.

After this they went along for another year.

Edna waited. Out there in the country town, people had a sort of unwritten law that one was supposed to have a year of mourning before thinking of re-marriage.

The year went on to almost two years.

One day Edna spoke of it, mildly.

"She has been dead almost two years now, Wilbur," Edna said.

"Yes, almost."

"And before long we'll be getting married?"

"Oh, yes, I suppose so, Edna—in my position I do not want to rush right into matrimony. I have to keep my standing in town. Some people might think I was rushing headlong into it and I would lose caste, sort of. Mustn't lose our depositors, you know. All in good time."

"Yes," Edna said.

By this time Edna had a little more than ten thousand in the bank, the five she had inherited and the rest she had saved in her seven years with the Haddon household.

At the end of the third year Mr. Haddon seemed to become somewhat rejuvenated. He wore rather noticeable clothes, and Saturdays he went away to play golf. Sunday he took long drives.

Edna could not, naturally, go with him. She was merely the housekeeper, so far as the public was supposed to know.

As a matter of fact, few, if any, ever suspected that there was any intimacy between Edna and Mr. Haddon.

After a while Edna began to hear bits of gossip.

One day Mrs. Watson, who helped her husband at the grocery store, said to Edna, who had come down shopping as usual. "Well, I hear you are going to have a mistress, Edna."

"There's always lots of silly talk," she answered.

BANK FAILS

"I guess this is right. The Patterson girl is wearing Mr. Haddon's ring. I understand they are going to be married in October."

"I don't know—or care," Edna lied, bravely.

But that evening she asked Wilbur W. Haddon, straight out.

"Why—uh, well, yes, I am going to marry her—she's a nice girl and comes of a good family and is just the sort to preside over my table, meet my financial friends—of course, I shall provide handsomely for you, Edna."

"Oh, I can get along, and perhaps you won't be able to provide for me," she said.

He laughed at this. It seemed absurd.

The next day Edna, looking very excited, went to the bank and withdrew her ten thousand two hundred dollars and seventy-one cents, with interest.

She got Mr. Watson, the market man, to put it in his safe and whispered, "I didn't dare leave it there. When things get so bad as they are—you see he tells me things—don't tell he tipped me, but if you've got any money there—or friends who have money—"

Mr. Watson withdrew his money and so did his relatives and so did a lot of members of his secret lodge and their friends and so on and on.

By Wednesday a bank examiner was rushed on, but all the funds were gone, more depositors were clamoring, many assets were frozen.

The balance of the creditors might get 20 cents on the dollar after the Haddon home was sold.

The Patterson girl would not marry him.

Edna went out west to live.

Mr. Haddon "accidentally" took an overdose of an opiate.

An Unfinished Task

The Cleaning of Pittsburgh's Augean Stables Has Not Yet Been Completed by the Grand Jury.

There is no gainsaying the fact that dissatisfaction exists over the final presentment of the grand jury which has been investigating municipal affairs.

The public would like to know if the inquisitors found or did not find anything suspicious in their examination of the bank and brokerage records of public officials.

Long before the Department of Supplies scandal had been forced into prominence by John D. Houston's letter to Council complaining that high bidders were being given contracts, there was a widespread suspicion that some public officials were grafting. It was difficult to account otherwise for the wide-open operation of the "numbers racket," of speakeasies and other unlawful rackets. Surely, it was thought, the racketeers must be paying for their immunity from prosecution.

District Attorney Park doubts if the present body will continue its investigation of the conduct of public officials.

The task will remain then for a later grand jury.

A Disappointing Delay

There Will Be Compensation, However, If It Means Highland Park Pool Will Be First-Class.

The Department of Public Works appears on the face of the evidence to have deserved the reprimand it received from councilmen because of its failure to have the Highland Park swimming pool ready for opening on Memorial Day, as it had promised it would.

There seems little doubt that the engineers could have expedited the work if they had been of a mind to; certainly they could have kept Council informed of developments, so that the money would have been available when needed.

The delay is a disappointment. It means that multitudes who had looked forward to bathing in a large and conveniently located municipal pool this summer are to be deprived of that pleasure.

There will be compensation for the delay, however, if it means, as seems likely, that the pool will be first-class—even better than originally planned.

Miners' Destitution

Gov. Pinchot's Appeal Raises the Question If Pittsburgh Is Doing All That It Should.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, has given a negative answer to Gov. Pinchot's appeal for aid for the children of the destitute miners of Western Pennsylvania. The Red Cross, he says, confines its charities, as a rule, to emergencies due to an act of God, and cannot undertake to relieve the distress caused by economic conditions.

Gov. Pinchot's appeal has not been entirely futile, however. By his strong language in describing the situation, which he said "could scarcely be worse," he has focussed attention upon it, and the effect is bound to be salutary.

While collections are being taken in distant cities we in Pittsburgh may well ask ourselves if we have done all that we could to help these poor people in our midst.

Can it be that familiarity with their suffering has blunted our sensibilities?

Cheap Money

Now Is a Good Time for Municipalities to Borrow for Public Improvements.

Allegheny County has just sold $5,500,000 of four per cent bridge, road and workhouse extension bonds at a premium of $216,150.

The bonds are being sold to the public at prices at which those maturing a year from now yield only 2 per cent, while the highest yield afforded by the longer maturities is but 3.60 per cent.

The prices commanded by these bonds bear witness, no less impressively than the heavy oversubscription of the $800,000,000 3⅛ per cent Treasury certificates recently issued by the United States Government, that a vast amount of money is seeking investment.

With capitalists willing to lend money to municipalities at as low an interest rate as 2 per cent, this is an excellent time for cities, boroughs and townships to borrow money for public works.

A Good Example

Aspinwall Borough Council Shows Consideration for Public Welfare in Barring Fireworks.

An Aspinwall boy lost an eye in a Fourth of July fireworks accident.

The Aspinwall borough council passed an ordinance Tuesday night forbidding the sale and discharge of fireworks except under public supervision.

The borough has set a good example for other communities in the consideration it has thus shown for the welfare of the people.

Pittsburgh and other municipalities should co-operate in this effort to save boys and girls from being blinded, burned and maimed.

Illiteracy

The Number of People in Pennsylvania Unable to Read and Write Remains Disturbingly Large.

Do you number among your acquaintances in Pennsylvania anyone more than 10 years old who is unable to read and write?

Probably there are many among the readers of the Sun-Telegraph who do not have a single adult illiterate in their acquaintanceship. Yet the Census Bureau reports there are 240,323 illiterates in the state, or 3.1 per cent of the population.

That is a gratifying improvement over the situation in 1920, when Pennsylvania had 312,699 illiterates, or 4.6 per cent of the population. But the number still remains disturbingly large.

The majority of Pennsylvania's illiterates, it is suspected, are not natives, but are persons who have come to the state from other states or other countries.

An earnest effort should be made by the civic bodies to find and educate them. Illiteracy is a menace in a republic.

Is Sam Blind?

-:- -:- By Nelson Harding

Is Sam so blind he cannot see
His debtor's state of poverty?
Why can't he see they merely stop
To enter a munitions shop?

They say they're broke and cannot pay,
So Uncle Sam should walk away.
But maybe, doubting what he hears
He trusts his eyes and not his ears.

Hearst Plan for Relief Impressively Indorsed

By BAINBRIDGE COLBY

MR. HEARST'S call for a special session of Congress and the appropriation of $5,000,000,000 by the federal government for the relief of unemployment and the mitigation of suffering caused by the prevailing depression, met with an enthusiastic and nationwide response.

Leading citizens in all walks of life; men in official as well as private station whose opinions carry weight; religious, social and commercial organizations—all joined in acclaiming the proposal as TIMELY, PRACTICAL AND STATESMANLIKE.

Now comes, however, the most sounding repercussion that the Hearst proposal has thus far called forth.

It is A MEMORIAL ADDRESSED TO PRESIDENT HOOVER, urging him to call AN EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS to enact A $3,500,000,000 UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF PROGRAM.

Mr. Colby

The petition is signed by 1,200 mayors of cities, economists, labor leaders, educators, preachers, priests, rabbis, Salvation Army officers, sociologists, publicists, community-chest directors and Red Cross and other social workers in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

IN grave and simple language, the petition sets forth the extent of unemployment. Six millions of our people are definitely without employment, and as many more are working on short time, with incomes inadequate for their support.

The petition calls attention to the estimate made by the Standard Statistics Company that THE LOSS OF WAGES AND SALARIES IN THE SINGLE YEAR 1930 was more than $9,000,000,000.

"Private charitable funds are inadequate," the memorial continues, "to alleviate the suffering resulting from these conditions and many of these funds are nearing depletion, while it is increasingly difficult to secure contributions."

"The private savings of the workers, especially the unemployed, are virtually exhausted."

"The local and state governments which have supplemented private relief funds are reaching the limit of their legal capacity to borrow."

"Regardless of any change that may occur in the business outlook, millions of our fellow citizens face a winter of acute poverty and distress."

IN striking and unexaggerated sentences, such as these, conditions which prevail throughout the country are brought home to the President's knowledge.

We wish that space permitted us to set forth the names of THE SIGNERS OF THIS MEMORIAL. They constitute A VERITABLE ROSTER OF THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE AND THE NATION'S SENSE OF SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

The signers include such names as that of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston; Mayor Frank Murphy, of Detroit; Mayor Daniel Hoan, of Milwaukee; such economists as Dr. John H. Gray, of the American University in Washington; Prof. E. A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin; such representative church leaders as the Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference; Dr. A. Z. Conrad, of the Congregational Denomination; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the Rev. Frank D. Adams, president of the General Convention of Universalist Churches.

Among the editors who have put their names to the memorial are Robert M. Lovett, an editor of the New Republic, and M. A. Halgren, associate editor of The Nation.

AMONG the labor leaders and organizations are J. G. Luhrsen, president of the Train Dispatchers; Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America; Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Frank X. Martel, secretary of the Detroit Central Labor Union; Emil Salsbury, secretary of the Indianapolis Central Labor Union; C. Frank Keeney, president of the Mine Workers of West Virginia.

Among those who are outstanding as educators, we find the names of Prof. John Dewey, of Columbia; Marion Edward Park, president of Bryn Mawr College; Joseph Mayer, executive secretary of the American Association of University Professors; and other distinguished members of the faculties of such institutions as: Grinnell College, Iowa; Northwestern University, Illinois; Iowa State University, Michigan University, Minnesota State University, Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati; University of Southern California, Chicago University, Duke University, and others.

OTHER prominent signers are Norman Thomas, Sherwood Eddy, Carl Vrooman, former assistant secretary of agriculture; Frederic Almy, former president of the National Conference of Social Work; Darwin J. Meserole, president of the National Unemployment League; Dr. Reinhold Neibuhr, of Union Theological Seminary.

EVERY NAME APPENDED TO THIS IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL IS A NAME OF LIGHT AND LEADING.

HOW LONG CAN THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IGNORE CONDITIONS THAT SO PROFOUNDLY MOVE THE BEST AND MOST TRUSTWORTHY ELEMENTS IN THE NATION'S CITIZENSHIP, AND REFUSE TO HEED THE AUTHORITATIVE CALL OF HIS COUNTRYMEN?

Unsweetened Truths

You can believe all that an honest man says—except when he is talking business, running for office or making love.

Amelia Earhart deplores the fact that so many women who might make good mechanics are shunted into cooking. Just as though it doesn't require a good mechanic to open a can and give the contents a couple of electric shocks!

Never keep tabs on a husband; if he needs it, he doesn't deserve the compliment, and, if he doesn't need it, he doesn't deserve the insult.

To flatter your own husband in public may be bad form, but it's awfully good policy—because, if you don't do it, some other woman will.

It takes a woman of the mauve-decade generation almost as long to make up her mind to wear beach pajamas and socks as it takes a man of the same generation to get around to putting varnish on his hair.

Lots of people who start out in a speedy sport car return in an ambulance; and most of those who start out on these rapid-transit marriages return via Reno.

When a woman is cool, abstracted and silent, a man always feels guilty: his only doubt is as to what particular thing she has found out.

Never imagine that a man is in love with you because he goes out of his way to make himself awfully entertaining. The conversation of a man in love, dear heart, is flatter than a marcel wave on a soggy morning and duller than a last year's rhinestone buckle.

The only way you can tell the success of a party these "dry" days is by the number of headaches next morning.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 9.—Pushcart markets, which give such a bright bourgeois flair to Rivington and Orchard streets on the lower East Side Ghetto, are making the last stand. They go the way of squalid tenements mowed down to make room for model and livable apartments.

Children who once played in the gutters now romp in innumerable spacious playgrounds. The push cart is the final relic of a dimming squalor. There are 15,000 peddlers in the area. Mostly they are past middle age and often incredibly old.

Many push cart men have gone from Orchard and Rivington far uptown to open little shops in the Bronx and live in airy walk-up apartments. Later if they prospered they opened stores on Broadway. And a number have attained a Fifth avenue store and a home on the Drive.

The fight against the push cart army is impersonal. The East Side Chamber of Commerce and other mercantile associations want them driven out because they contend their presence renders the section hideous and unsanitary and make a well ordered establishment impossible.

The push cart men say that as it is they are only able to make about $4 a day high and in some instances average no more than 25 cents. In opulent times they were able to realize a profit of from $10 to $15 a day. The difficulty will be in absorbing those thrown out of work.

Many cannot speak English and know no other trade. In support of their plea to continue it is pointed out that a number of brilliant leaders in the business, banking and the law paid for their education selling from the push carts. Max Steuer, the great criminal lawyer, is a conspicuous example.

That ancient rust brown luncheon rendezvous known as Voisin's, in Paris, is soon to close, so returning New Yorker's report. It has been in existence since 1813 at a corner of rue Cambon and rue St. Honore. On one Christmas Day it startled the gastronomic world by offering roast camel, stuffed donkey's head and cats with—and this gives me a touch of the leaping cohonkis—with rat dressing.

And there is that tale of Bassett Blakely, Texas ranchman, on a shopping expedition, in New York, with his daughter. Appearing before him for his verdict on a millinery creation he approved with: "That's my idea of a hunk of hat."

We were talking at lunch of fascinating odors. Three fathers agreed that nothing equaled the smell of a baby's head. All opined that one of the chief charms of a barber shop was in the blending of the odors of bay rum, soap and talcum powder. And one in a sudden murmur of enthusiasm recalled that the only exciting odor he ever experienced was that from a fried fish stand on a cold wintry night. That gets my cheer, too.

* * *

For no reason I have been galloping along without a buck until right here. A page from a pocket memorandum book carrying such notations as "Chevalier and the Chinese laundryman," "necktie ambulance," "calipash soup on Cherry street" and other supposedly germinating ideas so full of promise when written, have become as dry as chalk. Such sterility is one of the unfortunate caprices of an inky world. The novelist, short story writer and other leisurely craftsmen may kick things aside and await new winds to dead sails. But the daily columnist must carry on or step out of the parade.

I have sold newspapers, clerked in a hotel, solicited advertising, press-agented a dozen enterprises, and finally this. I have watched at close range dozens of other jobs, yet I do not believe any task is so thoroughly enslaving as newspaper columning. Where you go, what you see, the people you meet, even the food you eat, is measured in crumbs for the column.

* * *

I know two columnists who declared moratoriums, tossing the column aside for six months' holidays. That ended their columnar careers. So catch me taking even an afternoon off! Right now, finished for today, I'm trying to think up a funny saying and perhaps a puzzling charade for tomorrow.

GENUINE TELEVISION

By Archibald Henderson

The problem of television, or seeing at a distance, has presented many mechanical and electrical obstacles to overcome, of almost insuperable difficulty. Television is entirely different from the transmission of a photograph by line wire or wireless. An actual image must be transmitted without the intermediary of a photographic plate. Picture projection by wireless, for example, merely amounts to the ordinary cinema projection with electric instead of light transmission as between the projector and the screen, and is more accurately described as tele-cinematography.

In television as explained by Ellison Hayles in The Book of Electrical Wonders, the light falling on an object at the transmitting station must be converted into an electric current, sent over a telegraph wire, and reconverted into light at the receiving station, so that the image can be projected in some manner and so made visible. In the photo-telegraphy the medium between sitter and the finished print is purely chemical, whereas in television the medium between the sitter and the viewed image is purely electrical. Correspondingly, in the former process there is a permanent record after a successful transmission, but in television there is no record; when the transmissions cease the results remain only in the memory of the sitter.

For long, television was regarded as an unrealizable dream. Sight at a great distance was felt to be as impossible, as visionary, as a successful search for the food of the gods, the elixir of life, or the philosopher's stone. As John Baird says in Television for the Home:

It should be realized that television is not really a question of transmitting and receiving a number of images each second, for an image cannot be sent or received as a whole. Each image has to be broken up into thousands of tiny fragments and reassembled by the receiver in a fraction of a second. The practical problem in television was how to transmit nearly 100,000 signals per second, and it was at once realized that this problem was on quite a different plane to the ordinary wireless problem, such as sending signals by dots and dashes.

A considerable number of inventors have worked on the problem of television. Ernest Rubiner devised a system in which he copied the method employed by nature in the human eye, which is optically the same as a photographic camera.

A large number of television cells connected with the same number of small electric bulbs was the fundamental feature of Rubiner's device. It did not prove to be successful, because there was a certain lage in the response to changes of selenium, and also because of the enormous number of cells necessary to build up even a small picture.

Other devices are those of Dener von Mihaly, called the Telehon; of E. F. W. Alexanderson, with a television projection of Belin and Holwick, making use of cathode rays. Twice television has been produced, it is claimed, alone by John L. Baird. In April, 1925, at Selfridges' in London, he transmitted shadows cast by opaque objects placed in the path of light-rays focused upon a single selenium cell. In October of the same year he transmitted and showed upon the receiving screen a real image, with details, and with graduation of shading.

Patton Annexation Movement Spreads

15-ACRE TRACT NOW INCLUDED IN PROJECT

Formal Plea to Wilmerding Council Delayed Pending Change in Legal Papers

Movement for the annexation of 40 acres of Patton Township to Wilmerding instead of 25 acres as originally planned today is expected to be formally requested before the Borough Council at its next meeting, July 21.

Action on the original plans had been scheduled for the council meeting Tuesday night, when formal petitions of residents of Patton Township were to have been presented. Informal petitions were presented several months ago.

The presentation was delayed through the new movement to add 15 additional acres to the township portion seeking admittance into the borough, according to Council President Frank Kuppurin. Sufficient signatures and all necessary legal papers, with copies of the ordinance, are expected to be prepared for the next meeting.

Repaving of a portion of Wood street was ordered by Council. The work will be completed in conjunction with the Allegheny County Emergency Fund, providing work for borough residents.

Council ordered a steedy be made of automobile trucks in contemplating the purchase of two machines. A report will be made at the next meeting.

EDWIN BAYARD RE-ELECTED

Edwin S. Bayard was re-elected president of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors this week.

PLANS STUDIED FOR SHRINE INTERIOR

University and Musical Club Effect Agreement—Will Follow Cathedral Design

With an agreement signed for the erection of the $500,000 Stephen Collins Foster Memorial Building on the University of Pittsburgh campus, efforts were being devoted today to the design of the interior of the national shrine.

The agreement was signed between the University of Pittsburgh and the Tuesday Musical Club, whereby the school will maintain the memorial following its construction through funds raised by the general committee and the club. Chancellor John G. Bowman and Mrs. Elmer W. Flaccus signed the agreement.

Contemplated as a national shrine to the Pittsburgh composer, the building will contain a 1,000-seat auditorium with a stage capable of seating a chorus of 100 persons. A historical room will be another feature.

The tentative plans for the building would place the main entrance on Forbes street at Bellefield avenue. The original architectural plan would be followed through a circular driveway which likely will be constructed at the entrance so as to complete a circle in conjunction with the Board of Public Education building on the opposite corner and the driveway entrance into the Carnegie Institute.

The committee plans for the structure to fit into the architectural plans of the Cathedral of Learning. E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is general chairman. Committee members include: R. K. Mellon, treasurer; George R. Dorman, Mrs. Will Earhart, Mrs. Charles Heinroth, Fred Schaefer, Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter and Charles M. Thorpe.

ROTARY HEADS INSTALLED

New officers were installed by the Rotary Club of Turtle Creek at its weekly meeting Tuesday night. Charles Schmidt assumed duties as president.

Sherry Ferry became vice president, while Ray C. Johnston and Crist Johnston continued as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Committee members for the year will be: Program committee, Edward Kiester, Mr. Ferry, Lee Barnes and Ralph Myers; aims and objects, F. J. Boslett, L. R. Sprowls, Alex Behler, Charles Semmens and Roy Jobe; boys' work, Ray Johnston, Samuel Fogel, Charles Trevaskis, Henry Shultz and F. Miller; community service, Crist Johnston, William Tomlinson, Phil Hale and William Oshry; business methods, Saylor Lawrence, Malcom McDonad, L. G. Graham, Gorman McDonald and Frank Turner; fellowship, Sylvester Holland, R. C. McGregor, Cy Meanor and William Rodgers; classification, Park Dibler, W. W. Lantz and Ray Johnston; attendance, W. F. Struble, Robert Murray and Samuel Hensell; music, Malcolm McDonald.

Committee Headed By Mrs. Johnston

Mrs. Stanley Johnston has been named chairman of the social committee of the Homewood Women's Club for the new season.

The co-chairman will be Mrs. W. L. Gable, and serving on the committee are: Mrs. C. M. Best, Mrs. F. E. Burdick, Mrs. Elmer E. Foltz, Mrs. Arlington Locke, Mrs. O. B. Hamer, Mrs. M. M. Blackadore and Mrs. C. M. Foster.

Dr. Urmy to Lead Community Service

Ask Council Not to Pave Street, 'Not Worth It'

Property owners have asked Council for a repeal of the grading and paving legislation for Murdoch street, Squirrel Hill, from Beacon street to Covode street. Residents point out the improvement is not worth the cost that would be assessed against them. A number of councilmanic hearings have been held on the project.

Improvements to streets in the East End district which Council is expected to act upon shortly include the grading, paving and curbing of Butler street from Volts way to Baker street, near Heth's Run Bridge. The section is now unimproved, according to a Public Works Department survey.

The Voltz improvement, Director Edward G. Lang said, will fit in with a general street work plan outlined by the City Planning Commission, and will connect up with the Allegheny River boulevard, diverting a large amount of traffic from the East End. Cost will be $130,000, of which amount $50,000 will be assessed against property owners. The remainder will be provided by city bonds.

'Swim Across Atlantic' Opens Study Tour

A plunge in the Schenley Park swimming pool plus the imagination that the water represents the Atlantic Ocean was to open a study tour of European countries today for members of the Girls' Reserve of the Lawrenceville Y. W. C. A.

The study of other nations will occupy the summer program of the members who are composed of grade school girls over 12 years. The meeting today took the form of a basket picnic as the first study was to begin under the direction of Miss Eleanore Biskin. The girls will meet each Tuesday morning and Thursday morning and afternoon. A playlet and exhibit of articles from foreign countries will close the program in August.

WASHINGTON OBSERVANCE URGED

Dr. Oliver Suggests Schools Celebrate Anniversary of First President's Birth

Pittsburgh schools were urged to observe the two-hundredth anniversary of George Washington's birth next year by emphasizing his part as the "The Father of the Constitution" and as the nation's first executive by Dr. John W. Oliver, head of the department of history at the University of Pittsburgh, at a meeting of Pittsburgh educators and university students yesterday in the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania.

Dr. Oliver is district chairman of the George Washington bi-centennial celebration committee.

He pointed out that Washington's role in drafting the Constitution was little known. He also referred to Washington's relationship to Western Pennsylvania.

"Western Pennsylvania has a peculiar interest in Washington. Here, in this part of the state, he began to write his name, for the first time, on the pages of American history. In the winter of 1753-54 Washington made his historic journey to Fort Le Boeuf, carrying a message to the French commandant warning the French to withdraw from the Ohio Valley."

Nitroglycerine Used First as Medicine

Ascanio Sobrero, of Turin, started something when, in 1846, he added glycerine to nitric and sulphuric acids and got nitroglycerine, says World's Work. It was first used in medicine—its explosive properties, which Sobrero discovered instanter, being left severely alone until Immanuel Nobel and his sons began to manufacture it in Northern Europe in the early 60's (U. S. Patent 1865).

The zinc cans in which the stuff was put out were jostled along country roads by drivers who little dreamed it was 13 times as powerful as gunpowder.

Men Lead Women In 1930 Suicides

PHILADELPHIA—(INS.)—With men mainly responsible, the "suicide peak" in this city was reached in 1930, according to data compiled by the bureau of vital statistics. There were 345 suicides, all of these, 260 were men, and 85 women. Indications seem to show that women require more potent reasons for suicide than do men and also portray that the "weaker six" are less prone to disfigure themselves in taking their own lives. The majority of women suicides last year employed gas, and a large percentage chose poison, while the male suicides used gas, guns, and ropes, chiefly.

Canadian Duck Flies to Trinidad

WASHINGTON.—Wild ducks, according to the biological survey, are great travelers; they go far from their breeding grounds.

Red head and pintail ducks banded on the Bear River marshes at Great Salt Lake, Utah, have been recovered in 14 states and in Mexico. Black ducks and blue winged teals banded in southern Ontario have been recovered in 29 states and in three Canadian provinces, while one blue wing was recovered on the Island of Trinidad off the northern coast of South America.

Ducks of several species banded in the Cheyenne bottoms in Kansas have been reported from 19 states, four Canadian provinces, Alaska and Mexico.

Baby Sea Lion Will Not Go Near Water

ST. LOUIS.—At the St. Louis zoo, a baby sea lion, born on June 5, and one of the few ever born in captivity, refuses to enter water. The baby sea lion almost drowned recently when it was placed in a shallow pool of water. Since then, it has refused to enter the water, squealing and scrambling toward land every time it is put into the pool.

New Storm Refuge Built on Sound

WEST HAVEN, Conn.—(INS.)—A new storm refuge for small craft operating in Long Island sound is being constructed here at a cost of $190,000. Cove river, on the Milford-West Haven boundary, has been selected for the site which will be large enough for 400 boats when it is done along in the fall.

Churches Unite For Services In Pitcairn

Five Pitcairn congregations have arranged union evening services during the summer with services being alternated in participating churches.

The Rev. Howard F. Loch will deliver the sermon next Sunday at the United Presbyterian Church.

The service schedule: July 19, Pitcairn Presbyterian Church, the Rev. G. E. Hoey; July 26, Pitcairn Reformed Church, the Rev. J. H. Colclough; August 2, Pitcairn Baptist Church, the Rev. C. W. Campbell. The first union service was conducted last Sunday by the Rev. Dr. W. A. Chambers in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Sheeler will be chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the publicity committee.

HOUSE MOVING PROTESTED BY CHURCH

Frankstown Congregation Request Revocation of Permit Already Issued

Appeal for the revocation of a permit issued for the moving of an adjoining house was made Monday by the Free Methodist Church of Frankstown avenue, 8304 Frankstown avenue, before the Zoning Board of Adjustment in the City-County Building.

The protest alleged sufficient front yard would be provided if Christopher J. Stratton should be permitted to move a one-family dwelling to a new location on the same lot. A building permit had already been issued to Stratton.

Other East End appeals heard and on which decisions will be rendered later, were:

Thomas A. Pyros, of 226 North Fairmont street, seeking to change one-family dwelling into a two-family building; permit originally refused due to insufficient side yards.

Lindsay Garage, 7814 Hamilton avenue, seeking permit for electrically illuminated advertising sign in residence district.

Edward Lewis, 4905 Broad street, seeking to use first floor of dwelling as store and restaurant in residence district.

Morris L. Hearrell, 1227-29 Lilac street, appealing claim of insufficient front yard and setback from Shady avenue for double house with garages under rear.

Bert A. Mick, 5405 Coral street, seeking to change two-family dwelling into three-family building and a one-family dwelling for two-family use.

TO ERECT ADDITION

Permission was granted the First Unitarian Church, of 607 Morewood avenue, to erect a one-story extension to the side of the present structure in decisions on appeals announced this week.

Two appeals were granted with restrictions in other East End decisions. John W. Crandall, of 7001 Penn avenue, was given permission to erect a one-family dwelling and garage, while the Iron City Oil Corporation, 1126 Washington boulevard, may construct a one-story oil storage building.

Appeals were denied E. Nossokoff, 201 South Evaline street, who sought to build a sun parlor; John A. Marahn, 3612 Bethoven street, enclosing a front porch, and Frank P. Sawders, Jr., 609 Neville street, seeking to erect electric advertising sign.

'Y' STUDY CLUB ADDS MEETING

Three meetings monthly will feature the program of the Study Club of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. beginning in September.

The organization has been conducted twice monthly during an experimental program for the last five months. Books reviews, with discussion of selected topics and international affairs will be the subjects.

Tonight's subject will be "Questions of the Day—From the New Books."

A special committee aiding the project includes Attorney Jacob Seligsohn, C. W. Becker, Albert Bentz, H. D. Gardner, Thomas Dugo, Albert Etzel and Rocco Cerchiarra.

Scouts and Parents Dine at Guyasuta

Schwab to Lead Cake Walk At Loretta Outing

Under the guidance of its founder and leader for 33 years, the Loretta Association of Allegheny County will travel to Charles M. Schwab's estate at Loretto July 18 for the annual outing.

William A. Kessler, of Homestead, organized the association 33 years ago with an initial picnic on old Homestead Park. The outings have continued annually with the members gathering at Loretto for the last five years. Boasting a membership of 540 persons who originally came from Cambria County and settled here, the majority are residents of the Homestead district.

Mr. Schwab joins in the annual outing and is scheduled to lead the old time cake walk this year. Dancing will occupy the picnickers during the afternoon, with athletic events scheduled for early evening. Following dinner, a vaudeville program will precede dancing. Oscar O Topper is president of the association, Blair Litzinger is corresponding secretary and E. C. Shaffer, secretary-treasurer.

Chinese Word Has Many Meanings

WASHINGTON—The Chinese word for blessing or good luck is pronounced "fu," and the Chinese character expressing it is a favorite one with the Chinese people for embroidering on linen or having placed on the walls of their houses. It should be borne in mind that the word "fu" means blessing only when written in this way. There are dozens of characters having this same pronunciation, all written differently, and having utterly different meanings.—Washington Star.

Girl, 10, Drives Car As Brother Faints

FREMONT, Neb.—When her brother, T. Harrison Elmore, fainted at the wheel of the automobile in which they were driving to church, little Elsine Elmore, 10, steered the car for 10 blocks through heavy traffic. The streets were filled with cars of churchgoers.

Not knowing how to stop the machine, Elsine twisted in and out of traffic, but finally crashed into a parked auto in front of a bakery in the downtown section. Elmore was carried into the store and revived.

Philadelphia Mayor Loses Way in Park

PHILADELPHIA. — Lost — one mayor, somewhere in Fairmount Park.

His Honor, Mr. Mackey, was in that predicament for a short time while trying to find the Speedway drive to take part in the annual inspection and review of the Fairmount Park guards.

By the time the Mayor's chauffeur found the site of the old Speedway and let him off at the head of the ranks of more than 350 guardsmen, the park commissioners had nearly completed their inspection.

WHIPPLE QUITS WESTINGHOUSE

Following 14 years' service as literary critic of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's advertising department, T. H. Bailey Whipple, of 7918 Newmyer street, Swissvale, was retired today.

The retirement marked the close of almost 30 years of continuous service with the company.

Mr. Whipple is the author of numerous writings on English and salesmanship, many of which have been accepted by the Westinghouse company as well as by colleges and schools as standard text books.

Among his well-known books are "The Principles of Business Writing" and "The Science of Salesmanship and the Art of Selling."

Mr. Whipple's services started in 1902 as district sales manager of the Sawyer-Man Electric Company of New York, a Westinghouse subsidiary. He was transferred to East Pittsburgh in 1910 to establish the commercial unit of the educational department.

Parents' Night Observed By Girl Scouts

Parents' night was observed Friday by Girl Scout Troop 30, of the Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, East End. A playlet featured the program. Appearing in the cast under direction of Miss Anne Starnes were: Louise Brindle, Ruth Engel, Katherine Hagencamp, Florence Maxwell, Eloise Payne, Pauline Sparr and Louise Dean Virgin.

MRS. M'MILLAN RE-ELECTED

Mrs. A. C. McMillan has been re-elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Goodwill Industries of Lawrenceville. Officers serving with Mrs. McMillan will be: Vice presidents, Mrs. Edgar Henderson and Mrs. C. P. Biddle; treasurer, Miss Emma Furniss; secretary, Mrs. Frank A. Fox; membership secretary, Mrs. Walter M. Jones.

INDORSE SOFFEL CANDIDACY

Members of the East End Colored Council of Republican Women indorsed the candidacy of Judge Sara Soffel of County Court at its meeting held last night in the East End Carnegie Library, Station street and Larimer avenue.

Traffic Magistrate W. J. P. Soost, a candidate for City Council who already has received the league's indorsement, Michael De Rosa, Jr., candidate for Twelfth Ward alderman, Attorney Ben Giffen, Mrs. J. G. Chalfont and Mrs. Sadie Snowball spoke.

SWISSVALE TAX RESPITE

Swissvale taxpayers today were being granted until October 1 to pay taxes at the face value despite the new state law requiring one-half per cent interest at the expiration of the new 60-day discount period.

Action taken by the Borough Council provided the special arrangements because tax notices had been mailed prior to passage of the legislation. The interest rate will be in effect beginning October 1, Borough Secretary H. D. Caldwell announced.

A Dinner & A Dollar

A Food-Buying Scholar

In times like these, when money isn't so plentiful as it might be, every woman is studying ways and means of stretching incomes to cover a multitude of things. Dinners and Dollars are being examined more closely than ever before.

As a result, the old superstition that the best food must be high in price is wearing pretty thin. For when a woman starts thinking hard about getting her money's worth, she promptly turns to the pages of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to learn accurately all about food prices and quality, offered by dependable grocers.

Mysteries And Drama On Screen

Mystery and drama aplenty will be found on next week's photoplay programs in the East End district theaters.

Warner Oland returns to the Enright screen today for a three-day stay in his second portrayal of the Chinese sleuth, Charlie Chan, the feature being "The Black Camel." The screen play has been adapted from Earl Derr Biggers' story. The first half of next week will bring a farce comedy, "Laugh and Get Rich," with Edna May Oliver and Dorothy Lee in featured roles.

All Men in Town Must Grow Beards

CENTRALIA, Wash.—An ordinance has been passed by the city commission requiring all Centralia men over the age of 21 to go unshaven from July 8 until August 12, the date of the annual Southwest Washington pioneers' picnic. Violation of the measure will result in a fine or imprisonment in old Fort Borst or both fine and imprisonment.

The ordinance states that beards may be "trained, trimmed, braided or marcelled as will best befit their individual style of beauty."

Oregon Bans Plane Landings on Beach

SALEM, Ore.—It is illegal for airplanes to land on any beach in Oregon unless a three-way permit is obtained in compliance with a law enacted at the 1931 legislature, according to Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state.

Hoss added that no such permits have been issued by the state.

Richard L. Hughes, recent honor graduate from the Peabody High School, has been appointed full-time supervisor on the boys' division staff of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A.

R. L. Hughes

While attending school during the past few years, Hughes has served in a part-time capacity. He has been a member of the East Liberty branch for seven years.

New duties will include the promoting of Kno-Pitt trips, mushball games for members, camping trips and hikes.

The division staff is headed by Kenneth J. Brooks and F. William Stahl. The boys' division membership reaches approximately 750 during summer months.

Toledo Keeps Old Moorish Customs

MADRID.—Toledo is very much today as the Moors left it centuries ago. When you pass through its gates and find your way amid the network of cobbled alleys, encountering lumbering ox wagons, it is easy to imagine one's self back in the Middle Ages. It is one of the oldest cities of Europe. Toledo, Ohio, has a population 10 times as large as its Spanish godfather, but has it the lovely tower of Santo Tome, or the medieval bridge of San Martin, or the ancient gate of Puerta del Sol?

Well-Behaved Dogs Win Their Own Case

BERLIN.—Two nice little badger-dogs appeared as defendants before a Berlin court. Angry neighbors of their master, a well-known Berlin broker, had them summoned for disturbing peaceful people's sleep by indecently loud barking. Both pets were placed on the judge's desk while the complaint was read. They seemed to understand what was going on, and pricked up their ears. But they behaved so well that the judge could not help dismissing the case for lack of evidence.

Short Story -:- What Was the Reason? -:-

By N. FLORENCE LEECH

Aunt Ida came without warning. She just rang the bell on Sunday morning, and there she was, bag and baggage.

She walked into the house with an intransigent air, as though she expected to find that everything was wrong. Mildred greeted her warmly.

"Oh, Aunt Ida, this is such a glorious surprise," she said. Aunt Ida sniffed suspiciously.

"Humph!" she said, "of course you'd have to act like that; but there are mighty few young married folks who really like to have their relations come trooping in on them. But don't worry; I'm only going to stay a week. You ought to be able to stand me for a week, after not having seen me for about 10 years."

"We'll just love having you with us," Mildred declared. "It's simply wonderful." Aunt Ida looked suspicious. Howard, watching the scene intently, knew that he would have to be circumspect; here was a hard case sure enough; but any relation of Mildred's would have to be top hole, that was all there was to it. He braced himself to be on such splendid good behavior that there could be no possible excuse on the part of this Aunt Ida, who seemed to have a permanent chip on her shoulder, to find fault with him.

Aunt Ida glared at him searchingly when they were introduced.

"So you're the man Mildred married," she said, not committing herself.

IDEAL MARRIED LIFE

"Er-yes," Howard echoed weakly, since there seemed nothing else to say. Mildred took Aunt Ida up to the guest room, showed her the bathroom, and then came down stairs. Her big blue eyes were troubled; her pretty, unusually happy little oval face was troubled. Even her lovely, fluffy golden hair seemed to be without its usual glints of light; and her slim, supple figure actually drooped. Howard took one look at her, and threw his hands in the air. He was not much older than she. Taller, though, and straight as an Indian; with crisp, chestnut hair, deep blue eyes, and a handsome male face. He took Mildred into his arms. They had been married two years and got along together splendidly. They loved each other more each month, it seemed; and so far, their married life had been ideal.

"She would have to come," Howard mournfully whispered, "at the only time since we've been married that times are a little hard for us, what with this depression and everything. There's mighty little left in the bank; but we'll simply have to make the best of it. I'll not give her the slightest opportunity to criticize me."

QUITS SMOKING

Soon Aunt Ida came down stairs. She looked around suspiciously. And, from that time on, a veritable blight settled on the house. Howard did not smoke in the house. He sneaked out to the garage for a puff when he wanted it. The next day they went to church twice; once in the morning, and once in the evening—to the church of that denomination which Aunt Ida favored.

But it was all to no avail, though Howard behaved so marvelously it seemed he must be a male angel. He fairly cooed around the house, in an attempt to avoid the slightest rupture. Nevertheless, Aunt Ida stamped out on Monday morning, without finishing her week, as unceremoniously as she had descended upon them.

"What did I do to make her refuse to stay even the week she intended?" Howard mourned.

"Never mind, honey," Mildred soothed, "you were wonderful; it must have been my fault. She'll certainly never leave us any of her money now—but who wants any of her old money anyhow."

LETTER ARRIVES

Just then there was a ring at the door. A special delivery letter! And from Ida! Mildred opened it with trembling fingers. A check for a thousand dollars fell to the floor. The letter said, in the same manner of Ida's crisp speech:

"Idiots! Do you think I'd stay around a house where I could see I was making people miserable? Both of you acting and pretending to be angels. Don't you think I know human beings are never angels? If they were they'd sprout wings. I'm going to New York; then in a month I'll pass through Humboldt again on my way home. I'll try to last a week with you the second time—providing you act like human beings and don't make me feel as though I were casting a blight on the whole house. Enclosing check for a thousand—Howard says everything is all right with his business. He lies. In these times things couldn't be all right with anybody's business. . . . Well, you crazy kids, until I see you again,

"Lots of Love.

"IDA."

Flint, Mich., Mayor Seeks Governorship

FLINT, Mich.—Mayor William H. McKeighan, of Flint, will be a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year.

"I certainly shall be a candidate if Gov. Brucker runs again," McKeighan said.

McKeighan was a guest of John Gillespie, of Detroit, at the Mio meeting.

PARENTS FORM SCHOOL GROUPS

Parent-Teacher groups are to be installed in two East End district schools according to arrangements being made by the Pittsburgh Parent-Teacher Association.

The units will be connected with the Lincoln and the Rogers grade schools. Organization meetings are to be held in September at the call of Mrs. C. A. Rhetmeyer, president of the parent organization.

Miss Maude E. Milholland is principal of the Lincoln school and Miss M. Elizabeth Wolf, Rogers School.

Homestead Sets July 4 Mark—Not One Fire

The Homestead district set a record July 4. Firemen of Homestead, West Homestead and Munhall observed the holiday without the interference of fires.

Carefulness of the residents was credited with the lack of a single fire alarm being sounded or a fire of any nature being reported in the three boroughs. Heretofore, firemen answered numerous calls throughout the day.

WILKINSBURG PICNIC

Plans were being completed today for the joint picnic Saturday of the First and Second United Presbyterian Churches of Wilkinsburg at Jones' Pleasure Grove, near Oakmont Country Club.

M. W. Ghen, of the First Church, and W. M. Smith, of the Second Church, are co-chairmen.

The First Church committee members include Glenn George and J. H. Hoffman. Second Church committee workers include Dr. A. C. Young, F. M. Lucas, Kenneth Mitchell, W. E. Lucas, J. Clark Simmons and Glenn Smith.

Well Driller Wins Gamble With State

LEBANON, O.—(INS.)—A. R. Posey, well driller of Cincinnati has won his gamble with the state of Ohio and has received $1,500 for the victory. After four failures by other contractors at producing a well on a state farm near here, Posey offered to make the attempt. He was to get $1,500, only if he succeeded. A well, yielding 400 gallons of water a minute for 60 hours during an initial test, was brought in on the fifth attempt.

George Washington Moved Frequently

WASHINGTON.—(INS.)—George Washington was a moving man. This fact was brought out by the Bureau of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bi-Centennial Commission, who are compiling a history of Washington's life. During the eight years of the Revolutionary War, Gen. Washington moved his headquarters no less than 100 different times, stretching through seven states.

DALYMEN SEEK WIN TO GET IN TITLE PLAY

Homewood Gets New Players For Second Half—Linwood Ambitious for Honors

By TOM BIRKS

Sandlot baseball in the East End at the present time centers around the efforts of the Homewood club in the City League, and with the big Book Shoe game looming ahead this evening, a capacity crowd will probably pack the playgrounds. Hank Daly and his outfit will strive to play themselves into a post-season series with Dormont for the first half title.

But while the club is battling for the title, there are rumors that many changes will be made when the club starts its drive in the second half.

RAY BURKE SIGNED

Ray Burke has been signed, and it seems that he will cover first base, with Dave Wickline being shunted to the outfield.

Wickline is a capable player, but he has not clicked this season.

George Lees, one of the classiest catchers ever to wear a mask in this district, has been signed as first-string catcher.

THOMAS CONTENDER

What the club will do with Bierworth, Schulties and Henderson remains to be seen. It is unlikely four men will be carried.

The J. L. Thomas team, with new strength, is now considered a contender for City League honors by Bloomfield fans. Gruber, peppery catcher from the North Side Bucks, is reported headed toward the Thomas camp, and this also goes for Josh and Bill Briley.

WEST PENN TIE

With Edgewood copping the first-half title in the Greater Pittsburgh League, and Homestead Aces tied for honors in the West Penn, the eastern part of the city seems to be taking its share of baseball honors.

Out Lincoln avenue way the Linwood club is making a big bid for the West Penn second-half title. Manager Hugo Pasquelli has signed a number of well-known players, adding greatly to the strength of the club.

Turtle Creek and Swissvale expect to make a real race out of the West Penn loop. Managers Ed Walsh and Dutch Winters have been signing new material.

CARDS FLASHING

The East End Cardinals put up a wonderful battle for the first half championship of the Steel City League. The Cards, under the leadership of Bill Ryan and Nolan, have been flashing a great brand of baseball.

Hussey, with his fast ball, has been getting many opposing batsmen into trouble, and this boy is going to be heard from in faster company next season.

Gorman has been covering plenty of territory around the short field and the club has been playing together, which is quite an asset for a young club.

The De Pasquale club, of Oakland, has been playing a classy brand of baseball in the Steel City League, and this also goes for Mifflin and the Caruso club, of Hays Borough.

QUIT MOULTRIE PARK

Fans around Soho are beginning to wonder what is going to happen to sandlot games scheduled for Moultrie Park. St. Joachims, of the West Penn loop, use this field for their home games, and since that heavy rainstorm a couple of weeks ago the hillside has been slipping on the playing field. Manager Mike Kudrau has applied for a permit to use either Malone Field or Magee Field.

The Marty Griffin club, of the Hill, a newly-formed team in the East End this season, is making a great reputation as a first-year club. Manager Gerry Americus has lined up a nifty looking ball club, with a good pitching staff. King and Zezelitti will win many games, and the Griffins will be heard from when the last part of the season gets under way.

Lone Lookout to Get Papers by Airplane

GUERNEVILLE, Cal.—Fred Johnson, whose job as fire lookout on Mount Jackson is probably the most lonesome post in Sonoma County, will get his morning papers daily, and in the morning hereafter. F. A. King and Dan Gildersleeve, aviators, have arranged for that. The fliers make frequent trips over the lookout station, carrying passengers on scenic trips over the resort areas. They will drop the papers almost at Johnson's door every morning.

Free Hair Cuts For Children In Homestead

Snip-snip-snip, in a holiday atmosphere, was holding sway at the Homestead Salvation Army headquarters as barbers of the district today were giving their services free to needy children.

A monthly service was inaugurated for youngsters of four to 15 years whose parents are among victims of the depression.

Nearly a score barbers are volunteering their services under a committee headed by Nice Scocchera. Committee members include: William Bottorf, James Schwartz, Spear, Solon, James Syracuse and Alex Nechoff.

Romance Revived After Many Years

MALONE, N. Y.—A childhood romance, broken off many years ago, blossomed again in the Catholic Church at Brushton the other night.

Henry Lauber, 72, of Brushton, and his childhood sweetheart, Mrs. Elizabeth Leclair, 64, were married.

Mr. Lauber has been a widower for five years, while Mrs. Lauber's first husband died eight years ago.

Mr. Lauber and his bride spent their childhood at North Lawrence.

Game Hunting Rivals Newspaper Work

Nothing but big game hunting rivals newspaper work in fascination, in the opinion of John Wilson, 18-year-old Jacksonville (Fla.) youth, who arrived on the Matson liner Malolo yesterday after a tiger hunt in Central India. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. T. M. Wilson.

Young Wilson is undetermined, he said, whether to enter some school of journalism or go with his mother to Africa next year after rare gorilla and such.

13 Spades Excites So He Loses Game

NEW BRITIAN, Conn.—Itzel Rosenblatt had 13 spades dealt to him in a bridge game. One of his opponents bid six hearts, for his high effort, and doubled Itzel's six spades. Itzel was too much interested in his 13 spades to re-double, and the play went on.

4 GIRLS CHOSEN FOR SILVER BAY

East Liberty Y. W. C. A. will be represented by four delegates to the Silver Bay Conference at Lake George, which begins July 21 and continues for 10 days.

The delegates will be Miss Blanche Best, executive secretary of the branch; Miss Phyllis Beale, business girls' secretary; Miss Dorothy Henderson, president of the Business Girls' Club, and Miss Ethel Moser, membership representative.

The conference is held annually and is devoted to discussion of problems confronting the "Y" workers and membership.

The East Liberty branch has inaugurated a riding class that meets each Monday and Wednesday evenings at the Madden Riding Academy, Fox Chapel road, Aspinwall.

Band Serenades Inmates of Prison

REDFIELD, S. D.—(INS)—The city of Redfield doesn't believe in furnishing "canned music" to the inmates of the Spink County jail here. They are provided with genuine band concerts twice a week. The municipal band of 35 pieces gives a concert in the community room of the courthouse adjoining the jail every Tuesday evening. Then, on Thursdays, it plays its regular weekly concerts on the courthouse lawn just outside the jail windows.

Bees Fed on Milk Give More Honey

AGASSIZ, B. C.—The Scriptural association of milk and honey has been demonstrated to be practical as well as poetical by the Bee Division of the Canadian Government Experimental Farm here. Tests have been made in feeding bees on sugar and milk with the result that each milk-fed colony produced an average of 23 pounds more honey than colonies on ordinary diet.

MURPHY LEADS UNION SERVICE

The Rev. Russell L. Murphy, pastor of the Homewood Presbyterian Church, will conduct the combined services of the Homewood-Brushton Council of Churches Sunday night at Westinghouse Park. The union open-air services will continue through August. The Rev. Dr. Albert Edmund Gregg opened the series last Sunday. Ministers to be heard during the summer months are:

July 19, the Rev. L. M. Tucker, rector St. James' Episcopal Church.

July 26, the Rev. H. J. Ockanga, Point Breeze Presbyterian Church.

August 2, the Rev. Fulmer Schultz, Brushton Methodist Episcopal Church.

E. PITTSBURGH CARNIVAL

Firemen of East Pittsburgh will hold a carnival fete all next week on the Westinghouse Park grounds to provide expense money for their delegation to the state firemen's convention in Tarentum in August.

A parade, in which 35 companies will participate, and water battles will feature the six nights of the carnival. It will be a typical carnival, with ferris wheel, merry-go-round and refreshment stands.

The department's drum and bugle corps, under the direction of Bert Simon, drum major, will play every night of the fete.

Charles Stack, fire chief, has been active in arranging the program.
